Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, April 30. The Cabinet met to-day to discuss the Ulster crisis for the fifth time in as many days. The Premier told his colleagues of the orders issued by the War Office and Admiralty to check gun-running by smugglers carrying arms for Ulster volunteers, and informed them that no further action would be needed at the present time. The effective blockade established by warships off the coast of Ireland will be sufficient, Mr. Asquith believes, to prevent munitions of war from reaching opponents of Home Rule. It is understood that Mr. Redmond is being sounded as to what term of compromise, in regard to Ulster will be acceptable to him.

LONDON, April 30. Chancellor Lloyd George in his forthcoming statement on the Budget, will announce an increase in the maturity benefit from $2.25 to $25.00. This comes from a well-informed source. Presumably the Chancellor hopes that the new grant will help to make the insurance act popular with the working classes.

LONDON, April 20. A suffragette crowd created an up-rear to-day during the wedding of Noel Buxton, M.P., and Miss Polham. They entered the church before the ceremony and hid under the seats. As the bride party entered they emerged from their hiding places and shouted, "Votes for Women." They were promptly seized and ejected.

The Annual Meeting of the Feild-Spencer Association will be held on Saturday, the 2nd day of May, in Bp. Feild College, at 3 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.—apr30,2i

Seven Stowaways Brought Back.

The seven boys who stowed away on the Florizel, which left here for Halifax, a little over a week ago, were brought back yesterday on the s.s. Tallisman. The names of the lads are Walter Lidstone, John Humby, Wesley Watts, Thomas Ryan, William Walsh, Patrick Hayes and Michael Keen. On Saturday last, the Florizel reached Halifax and immediately the stowaways were taken in custody. The Tallisman, coming from New York, reached Halifax a few hours after the Florizel, and Capt. Berg was instructed to take the stowaways to St. John's. Capt. Berg heard from Capt. Smith that the lads smashed two doors and cut up all the rope they laid hands on. One of them hurled a wooden wedge at Captain Smith. On Monday morning last the stowaways were put on board the Tallisman handcuffed. After being about ten minutes at sea, said Capt. Berg, the lads released themselves from the bracelets by the use of a file which one of them had concealed on his person. They then became more riotous than ever and started in to do damage. After breaking a door, Capt. Berg put a couple of his seamen in charge of them. When the ship was reaching the Narrows yesterday the window of a port hole was forced out. When the Tallisman berthed at Harvey & Co.'s pier a posse of police in charge of detective Byrne, took the stowaways into custody and escorted them to the police station, followed by an excited crowd of onlookers. The lads asked the police why they were arrested. They said that for more than half the time since they left here they were in confinement and ill-treated on board the Florizel and Tallisman, and complained that they were each beaten with rubber belts by the Norwegian sailors of the latter ship. Each lad had his wrists scarred as the result of the breaking of the handcuffs. Two of them figured in the scaling disaster. Humby was in the rescue ship Bellefleur, while Watts was on the Newfoundland. Two of them who are called the ringleaders of the gang, were the perpetrators of robberies here. The stories of ill-treatment on board the Red Cross boats is taken with a grain of salt.

FRIDAY, May 1st, 1914. "May Day" Time to think about your seeds if you have not already done so. Well, if you want—and who doesn't—the seeds that will bring largest results in the fall, use Sutton's Seeds this year. We have a fine and well varied stock of Sutton's Seeds this year, selected in the light of our experience for several years back as to what best suits this climate, and all direct from the famous English Seed House. We have also a good line of American Cabbage Seeds, so favorably thought of here. Catalogues with full information, free on application. If you live out of town simply send name and address on a post card, and we will mail you one.

Audiences Delighted at The Nickel Theatre.

Hundreds attended the Nickel Theatre yesterday and were delighted with it. The pictures were of a high class and in keeping with the excellent programmes at the Nickel. The Pathe Weekly, which opened the show portrayed a number of leading events and prominent persons. "The Story of Laynia" is a specially good drama by the Selig Co., perfectly acted and of the greatest interest. "Kitty and the Bandits," is a Western story of army life, with many thrilling situations and a pleasant ending. "Belinda, the Slavey," is a very humorous story which kept the audience in roars of laughter. Miss Gardner's song was again appreciated and she was warmly applauded. This evening the pictures will be repeated but there will be a new song.

Minard's Liniment Co., Gentlemen,—I had my leg badly hurt the pain was very severe and a large swelling came above the knee. I expected it would be serious—I rubbed it with MINARD'S LINIMENT, which stopped the pain and reduced the swelling very quickly. I cannot speak too highly of MINARD'S LINIMENT.

BINNS-SIMMS.

In St. Anne's Church, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the presence of many friends, Mr. Heaton Binns, of Amsterdam, N.Y., and Miss Gertrude Simms, of this city, were married by Rev. Appleton Grannis, the rector of the church. To the wedding music played by the organist, Mr. Charles Brown, the bridal party moved up the broad aisle to the chancel, where they were met by the bridegroom and his best man, Dr. Archibald Gilbert, of Amsterdam, N.Y. The altar of the church was decorated with Easter lilies and the chancel with potted plants. The bride was given away by Dr. Fred E. Varney, of North Chelmsford. She was attended by Mrs. Byram Woodhead, of Palmer, Mass., a sister of the bridegroom, and by Miss Winnifred Shears, of Concord, N.H., her cousin. Little Victoria Munn was flower girl. The ushers were Messrs. Herbert L. Bishop, Arthur T. Munn and Harold Nickerson. After the beautiful Episcopal service, the bridal party moved down the centre aisle and around the side aisle to the parish house, where an informal reception was held. The D. L. Page Co. catered and the following ladies assisted in serving: Miss Bonney Lilley, Miss Edna Parr, Miss Mabel Nickerson, the Misses Woodhead, of Palmer, and Mrs. Arthur T. Munn. After a brief trip, Mr. and Mrs. Binns will reside in Amsterdam, where Mr. Binns is Superintendent of the Shuttleworth Bros. Carpet Mill. Mr. Binns was formerly connected with the Carpet Mill in this city, where his father, the late Henry Binns, long served as superintendent. The bride has for some years been a trained nurse in this city, and has won the esteem and confidence of physicians and patients alike in her profession.

[This notice is taken from the Lowell Courier, of the 16th April, and the bride, Miss Simms, is a daughter of the late Dr. Simms. She left St. John's about 18 years ago, and has been a resident of Lowell ever since.—Ed.]

We know who he will buy it for? But who will he buy it from? Hundreds of Engagements and Weddings are sealed yearly in Newfoundland with Trappell's Solid Gold Rings. Hundreds of friendships and tokens of affection to sweetheart, wife, mother, sister and friend are embodied in lasting emblems with Trappell's Rings, the popularity of which is based upon their quality, finish and variety and beauty of design. Rings for men, women, baby and miss for every occasion. Gem Rings, Chased Rings, Signet Rings, Birthday Rings. Should you desire to get a ring of such design as you may create yourself, or that you had seen somebody else wear, just take your design to Trappell; there is nothing impossible along these lines for his talented workmen. A splendid assortment of unset stones can be seen if your design calls for a Gem Ring. Ask to be shown the new White Sapphires. They are hard and brilliant like diamonds, so much so that they puzzle experts.—apr30,1f

Operetta.

The "Old Boys" of St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross Schools will be glad to hear that the present day pupils have in preparation a splendid variety entertainment and operetta which will be presented at the Casino Theatre on Wednesday, May 6th, at 8.30 p.m. This performance will recall happy memories to many of the ex-pupils of days gone by when they themselves appeared before the footlights, and undoubtedly they will be just as anxious now as they were then to see a full house. The object of this entertainment is to lessen the liability incurred by the extension to Holy Cross Schools. The good Brothers deserve the highest praise for their efforts in providing accommodation for many boys who might be deprived of the advantages of a good education, and no doubt, the past pupils will loyally help along the good cause by their presence at the Casino on Wednesday next. The programme is most attractive, and the musical numbers and operetta are receiving especial attention from the general Professor Hutton. His excellency the Administrator, Lady Horwood and Rt. Rev. Mons. Roche, V.G., will be present. The tickets are selling fast at the Atlantic Bookstore, and an early selection of seats is advisable.

WALT MASON'S DAILY STORY.

CONCERNING HATS

"The hat I bought just before Easter doesn't suit me at all," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "So I'm going to take it to the milliner and have her remodel it."

"I told you when you first got it that it looked more like a boiled dinner than a hat," said Jamesworthy. "And I urged you to send it back and let me pick out a lid for you, but you laughed me to scorn and said that a man's judgment in such matters isn't worth three wooden cents. Now you realize that the blamed thing is a total loss, and you are going to have it upholstered at a fabulous expense, and when you get it back it will look like an owl's nest."

"I don't see why women can't make their own hats and thus cut down expenses. Of course they could if they would, but they won't. The average woman wouldn't be found dead in a hat that cost less than $25, even when she knows just her own husband is bursting his harness to make ends meet. If you had the proper spirit, Mrs. Jamesworthy, you would take some barbed wire and a flower pot and a feather duster and make a hat for yourself, and it would compare favourably with anything you see on the streets."

"My sainted mother never went to the milliner when she wanted a hat. She made her own bonnets, and made them so well that one of them lasted several years. She didn't care three whoops about the fashions. She made her bonnets as her conscience dictated and if fashionable people didn't like them, fashionable people could lump them. And I want to tell you right now that my mother was one of the finest looking women in the country, and when she went to church on Sunday, wearing a bonnet made from a cast off pair of father's overalls, she had the right of way, and nobody dreamed of criticising her."

"I never saw anything more ridiculous than the way women truckle to the milliners. The idea of showing a little independence never occurs to them. A woman thinks she is eternally disgraced if she appears in public wearing a hat that is somewhat different from the ordinary run of hats. If you would just make up your mind to show some initiative, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and wear hats that set the fashions at defiance, you'd attract a great deal of attention. If you persisted in such a course you'd soon have a large following, and in a few years would be recognized as a public benefactor. I noticed as I came up the street an old wheel from a baby carriage, and I thought at the time that the right sort of woman could make a splendid hat out of it, by decorating the spokes and tire with a few yards of bunting and fastening a dead pelican on it."

"Of course you spring a ghastly smile at such a suggestion, but if your milliner told you that all the ladies in Paris are wearing hats made of baby carriage wheels, with stuffed pelicans on them, you'd rob the children's savings bank to get one of them."

"Women are insisting that they are as capable and intellectual as the men and are demanding the ballot and all kinds of privileges upon the strength of that assumption, but one only needs to consider their hats in order to realize that their claims are hot air."

There's nothing in this world quite as silly as a woman's hat, and no creature who is entirely sane would wear one of them. The intrinsic worth of such a hat is about fifty cents, yet a woman buying it must pay the price of a cow, or make her husband do it for her. When she owns it she can't wear it naturally, as a man wears his lid. It must be bal-lasted and anchored, and fastened to her back hair by means of long pins which jab innocent bystanders in the face. A man wears his hat until it's all bagged at the knees and then has it reblocked and wears it three years more. A woman gets a new hat that empties the family treasury, and by the time she has worn it around a block it is out of date, and she gives it to the washwoman and begins going through her husband's pockets while he is asleep to dig up the price of a new one. The hat question gives me a mottled pain, Mrs. Jamesworthy."

C.C.C. Boat Club.
