Conservative and the Women's Union on the present dangers of the movement. The invited the opinion that the Churchill on the Socialist not only harmonize with the Liverpool Union but there is little, if any regarding the views generally in accepting, stated that the differences between were not comparing separating them from the suggested that the held early in May.

Fascinating Girl Has Remarkable Career of Crime

Adventures of "Una the Untruthful" Exciting and Novel—Twice Divorced—Practised as Doctor Illegally and Signed Death Certificates.

Of all the women criminals who have passed through their hands, the police say that Margaret Williams—"Una the Untruthful," they call her —is one of the most fascinating and dangerous.

She has just been sentenced to four months' imprisonment at Bournemouth for fraud, and her career of crime is astonishing.

She has swindled men out of thousands of pounds; illegally practised as a doctor and signed death certificates; served a term of imprisonment for bigamy with a brigadier-general; been divorced twice on the same day.

Margaret Williams has lived a life of lies. She once told the police, who were inquiring into her history, that she was born at Quetta, that her father was a well-known surgeon in the army, that she came to London at an early age, was educated at Brighton, Clifton and Leeds University, and that she then went to the Continent to study medicine.

Rich Father.

Except for the fact that she did attend a boarding school at Brighton, there was not a word of truth in the whole story. She is, in fact, the child of an unmarried woman named Edna, who died at the time of her birth.

Her father, a wealthy man, placed her in charge of a foster mother at Brighton, and she remained with her until she was 12 years of age. In 1911, when she was 19, she met and married an agricultural chemist, and lived in Leeds. There were two children of the marriage.

In 1919, she left her husband and came to London, working as a housekeeper at a students' club. Her extravagance had ruined her husband, and from influential people and well-known army men she obtained thousands of pounds by fraud.

In 1920 she got into St. Mary's Hospital and attended a class for students. She was found out and expelled, but, nothing daunted, gained admission to Queen Charlotte's Hospital. Here again she was unmasked.

Posed as a Doctor.

Her next step was to call on a medical man in Southampton, Mrs.
Maida Vale, and, describing herself as a doctor, became his assistant.
She gave her name as "Margaret Crawford," and acted as the doctor's locum tenens, attended his patients, and even signed death certificates.

Afterwards she secured a temporary vacancy at Neasden Hospital at 10 guineas a week, still in the name of Dr. Crawford. She was prosecuted at the instance of the Medical Defence Union, and failing to pay the fine inflicted, served six months' imprisonment.

It was at Cardiff that this astonishing woman committed bigamy. At a registry office there she went through a form of marriage with General de Lancey Williams. She gave the name of Margaret Patricia Williams, and described herself as a widow, M.D., B.Sc., London. Her father's name was stated to be Charles William Keough, major-general.

Two Divorces.

For this offence she received six months in the second division. General Williams obtained a decree of nullity, and on the same day the woman's legal husband obtained a divorce.

After serving sentences at Cardiff and Exeter, she came to Bournemouth, where she engaged rooms at a private hotel for "Sir Berkeley Monyihan, the King's physician, and Lady Monynihan."

It was at first believed that she was a doctor, and a local chemist actually supplied her with goods on that assumption. Then inquiries were made, and the falsity of her story was demonstrated. She was arrested and convicted of obtaining food by false pretences. Her total worldly wealth was 9d.

Claim to Title.

Margaret Williams once claimed to be "Lady Hanley," a title she explained, that had been bestowed upon her by the King. She pretended to be the daughter of a Fleet Surgeon in the Navy, who was killed while attending the wounded at Gallipoli and posthumously honored.

It is difficult to describe the secret of the fascination which "Una the Untruthful" was able to exercise over those with whom she came into contact. By no means can she be described as beautiful; she has prominent upper teeth and a drooping mouth, which gives her a sullen and discontented expression.

But in some way she has been able to cast a spell over men—and women —and the prison gates have once more closed upon a woman adven-tress who, although only in her early thirties, has already a long record of crime behind her.

PREMIER GARMENT COMPANY

New Millinery

These Hats were never intended to sell at such low prices. Fashioned from the very latest Parisian modes. Trim and chic in the extreme. Many are of the popular poke shape. Plenty of small and large head sizes. All beautifully trimmed and ornamented. Don't judge by the low price—they would cost you more to duplicate them elsewhere.
