The Grounds of Complaint Plainly Stated.

Witnesses and the Advocates Described -Characteristic Discourse by Rev. Dr. Talmage.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18 .- The 11lustrations of this sermon are drawn from the scenes in a court room, with which Dr. Talmage became familiar when he was studying law. The text is I. John, ii, 1: "We have an advocate with the Father. Jesus Christ the righteous.

I have to tell you today of a trial higher than any Oyer and Terminer or Circuit or Supreme or Chancery. It is the trial of every Christian man for the life of his soul. This trial is both civil and criminal. The issues at stake are tremendous, and I shall show you, first, what are the grounds of complaint; then, who are the witnesses, and, lastly, who are the ad-

Stand up, O, Christian man, and hear the indictment of the court of high heaven against thy soul. It is an indictment of ten counts, for thou hast directly or indirectly broken all the Ten Commandments. You know how it thundered on Sinal, and when God came down how the mountain rocked and the smoke ascended as from a smouldering furnace, and the darkness gathered thick, and the loud, deep trumpet uttered the words: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die!" Are you guilty, or not guilty? mot put in a negative plea too quick, for I have to announce that "all have sinned and come short of the glory or and his horse were killed by lightning just across the Indiana State line on Sunday night. We got down on our knees and said: "Oh, Lord, I am thine, now and forever." Did you after all, you may not have to die, keep the promise? Have you stood up The best Advocate in the universe to the contract? Have you not sometimes faltered when you ought to have says: "I admit all that has been been true? Now, you have heard the indictment read. Are you ready to plead

The first witness I call is the World —all critical and observant of Christian character. You know that there are people around you who perpetually banquet on the frail-ties of God's children. You may know, if you have lived in the country, that a crow cares for nothing so much as carrion. There are those at noon today. The earth shudders who imagine that out of the faults and throbs. There an earthquake of Christians they can make a bridge of boats across the stream of death, and they are going to try it; but, alas, for the mistake! When they get midstream away will go the bridge and down will go their souls to perdi-tion. O, World, of the greedy eye and at the point of their guns compelled the two men in charge of the stock to the hard heart, testify in behalf of the prosecution against this Christian soul darkness. Clouds fly like flocks of on trial. What do you know about this Christian man? "Oh," says the by a sheriff's posse and lodged in jail him. He talks about putting his treasures in heaven, but he is the sharpest man in a trade I ever knew. low and Frank Eddison, and ages He seems to want us to believe that he is a child of God but he is just full of imperfections. I do not know but I am a great deal better than he is now. Oftentimes he is very earthly, and he talks so little about Christ and so much about himself, I am very glad to testify that this is a enough to grasp new ideas for increasing their comfort. For years they have used wooden sabots for footbad man."

Stop, O World with the greedy eye and hard heart. I fear you are too much interested in this trial to give impartial evidence. There always has been a variance between the and the Church, and while the World on the witness stand today has told a great deal of truth about this Christian man, you must take it all with ly the non-conducting properties of much allowance, remembering that the wood, and avail themselves of the they still keep the old grudge good. The second witness in this case is Conscience. Says Conscience, "I was born in heaven, I came down to be-friend this man. I have lived with him. I have instructed him. I have warned him. I showed him the right and the wrong, advising him to take the one and eschew the other. I have kindled a great light in his soul. With a whip scorpions I have scourged his wickedness, and I have tried to cheer him when doing right; and yet I am compelled to testify on the stanu today that he has sometimes jected my mission. This Christian man has done wrong. He has been worldly. He has been neglectful. He has done a thousand things he ought not to have done, and left undone a thousand things he ought to have done." The third witness I call is an angel of God. Bright and shining one, what has thou to say against this man on trial? "Oh," says the angel, "I have been a messenger to him. I have guarded him. I have watched him. With this wing I have defended him, and oftentimes, when he knew it not, I led him into green pastures and beside the still waters. I snatched from him the poisoned chalices. When bad spirits came upon him to destroy him, I fought them back with infinite fierceness, and yet I have to testify today that he has rejected my mission. He has not done as ne ought to have done. Though I came from the sky, he drove me back. Though with this wing I defended him, and though with this voice I wooed him, I have to announce his multiplied imperfections." Dr. Gray's Hair Tonic and Dandruff be called on behalf of the prosecugraph it. Studio, corner Dundas and Cure, 35c, at Anderson & Nelles' drug tion, and that is the great, the holy Richmond.

God. We bow down before Hm. Holy Spirit, knowest thou this man?
"Oh, yes," says the Holy One, "I know him. I have striven with him ten thousand times, and though sometimes he did seem to repent, he fell back again as often from his first back again as often from his first estate. Ten thousand times ten thousand has he grieved me, although the Bible warned him, saying: Grieve not the Holy Ghost. Quench not the Spirit.' Yes, he has driven me back. Though I am the Third Person of the Trinity, he has trampled on my mission, and the blood of the Atonement that I brought with which to cleanse his soul, he sometimes despised. I came from the throne of God to conhe is compared with what, unresisted, would have made him." The evidence on the part of the prosecution has closed. Now, let the defense bring on the rebuttal testimony. What have you, O Christian soul, to bring in reply to this evidence of the world, of the conscience, of the angel, and of the Holy Ghost? No evidence Are all these things true. "Yes, unclean, unclean," says every Christian soul. What? Do you not begin to tremble at the thought of condemnation.?

vert, and comfort, and sanctify, and yet look at that man and see what

We have now come to the most interesting part of this great trial. The evidence of all being in, severe and stern Justice rises on behalf of the prosecution to make his plea. He reads the law, stern and inflexible, and the penalty, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." Then he says: "O, thou Judge and Lawgiver, this is thine own statute, and all the evidence in earth and heaven agrees that the man has sinned against these enactments. Now, let the sword leap from its scabbard. Shall a man go through the very flames of Sinai unsinged? Let the law be executed. Let judgment be pronounced. Let him die. I demand that he die!"

O, Christian, does it not look very dark for thee? Who will plead on thy side in so forlorn a cause? Now, in this matter of the soul, as you have nothing to pay for counsel, do you think that anyone will volunteer? Yes, yes; I see One rising. He is a young man, only 33 years of age. I see his countenance suffused with tears and covered with blood, and all the galleries of heaven are thrilled with the spectacle. Thanks be unto God, "we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.' Oh, Christian soul, your case begins to look better. I think, perhaps, has taken your side. He rises and proved against my client. I admit all these sins, ay, more; but look at clearance. Count all the drops of my tears. Count all the drops blood. By the humiliation of Bethlehem, by the sweat of Gethsemane, by the sufferings of the cross, I demand that he go free. On this arm he hath leaned; to this heart he hath flown; in my tears he hath washed; on my righteousness he hath depended. Let him go free. I am the ransom. Let him escape the lash; I took the Let the cup pass from him: I drank it to the dregs. Put on him the crown of life, for I have worn the crown of thorns. against my throne of shame set his throne of triumph!"

Well, the counsel on both sides tling, all the years of her life about have spoken, and there is only one the inconsistencies of others, having more thing now remaining, and that is the awarding of the judgment. self. God save the world from the The Judge rises and gives this degossip, female and male! I think the cision, never to be changed, never to males are the worst! The soul that on Jesus hath leaned for repose, I will not, I will not, desert to his foes; guilty or not guilty? The trial will go That soul, though all hell should endeavor to shake. I'll never, no, never, no, never, forsake.

But my friends, there is coming a day of trial in which not only the saint, but the sinner, must appear. That day of trial will come very suddenly. Lo! the sun hides. Night comes down at mid-noon. The stars appear opens and a city sinks as a crocodil would crunch a child. Mountains rol in their sockets and send down their granite cliffs in avalanches of rock Rivers pause in their chase for the sea, and ocean, uprearing, ories to flying Alps and Himalaya. Beasts bellow and moan and snuff up the swift eagles. Great thunders beat and boom and burst. Stars shoot and World, "I know a great deal about fall. The Almighty, rising on his throne, declares that time shall be no longer, and the archangel's trump repeats it till all the living hear, and the continents of dead spring to their feet, crying: "Time shall be no long-Oh, on that day, will you be ready? I have shown you how well the Christian will get off in his trial. Will you get off as well in your trial? Will Christ plead on your side or against you? Oh, what will you do in the last great assize, if your conscience is against you, and the world is against you, and the angels of heaven are against you, and the Holy Spirit is against you, and the Lord God Almighty is against you? Better this day secure an Advocate.
