Because He Was an Alien.

Ottawa, Dec. 15. - In reference to the dispatch saying President Creelman, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, had complained to the Dominion authorities about Thomas a college student, being taxed $2 while traveling to the St. Louis fair, Mr. W. D. Scott, superinendent of immigration, says that no official notice or intimation has reached his office. He says that as Gardiner is an Englishman the tax was legal, as the American immigration laws provides for the collection of the tax on all persons entering the country except Canadians. The only question that would be raised in the matter would be as to whether Gardiner had been long enough in Canada to claim Canadian citizenship.
