Inspiring addresses were given by Miss E. Hall, of Montreal, and Mr. Maine, of London. Good music was rendered by the male quartette of the church church.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, as chairman, London fittingly introduced the service and speakers, and Mr. Thomas D'Oyly spoke cordial words of welcome and appreciation, as president of Christian Church Society.

Miss Hall is Christian Endeavor secretary for Ontario and Quebec, and her work here and her helpful and inspiring address show her well equipped for her important position. Christian Endeavor.

The Christian Endeavor movement, which was organized 31 years ago on the 2nd of February, 1881, in Portland. Me., by Dr. F. E. Clark, said Miss Hall, has grown with rapid strides, until now there are about 80,000 societies, with a membership of 4,000,000, the largest organization of its kind in the is to be found in every country in the ed in some-manner in the back shed There are now 18 employed setting fire to the partition. The purpose of the Christian Endea-yor Society is to train young people AWAIT DECISION for service, to become practical Christians, to train them to do in a systematic way what they used to do in a spasmodic way.

The Christian Endeavor Society stands for entire consecration to Christ and to his church, promising to do whatever he would like to have one do. It stands for the quiet hour. It has taught thousands the habit of Bible reading and prayer. There are now enrolled 60,188 young people as comrades of the quiet hour.

It has not only taught them to pray, but to give. Twenty-seven thousand seven hundred and eight young people are enrolled in the Tenth Legion, promising to give at least a tenth of their income towards the support of God's work. It develops the young people in the social work, making the whereby long distance messages are work of the churches "worth" worth the social work of the churches "worth" whereby long distance messages are whereby social work of the churches "worth transmitted. The pledge, which is the backbone of the Christian Endeavor movement, appeals to the heroic element in the young people of the right stuff. Wholesouled, consecrated workers are at- at the tracted by it. The young people of today are not looking for easy things, It is the hard things which attract them and which appeal to them.

The Pledge. The pledge helps them to be loyar to their church and denomination. It binds them into a spirit of fellowship, which nothing else could do. It teaches them their obligation as stewards, giving to their Saviour not only their time, talents, themselves, but their money. It puts the obligation
