Good Class of Buying.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, Jan. 14.—After a steady opening, today's wheat market showed a firm upward tendency, aided by a good class of buying, which was credited to further export business over the week-end. While the market maintained a fairly steady tone throughout, values did not hold after May touched a high of 103, the buying power not being very broad. Closing prices showed both futures \( \frac{1}{2} \) count from Saturday's finish.

Most of the early buying came from local traders, while millers, shippers and exporters reported a slight drop in the export demand from last week. There was some spreading in evidence. The future coarse grains were steady and a little firmer, especially oats. There is apparently an enlarged demand, and good buying is in evidence on all reactions, with the undertone firm and prospects of a broader demand of higher prices The cash wheat in the market, offering at 98c basis No. 1 northern. Large supplies of "limit" wheat came out at this figure, and went into the hands of shippers and elevator interests. Other grades were unchanged to 2c better. Outside of a few transactions in odd cars, the coarse grains were very quiet.

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, Jan. 15.—With only 98 carloads of corn received in Chicago today, when the big winter movement of the corn crop should be in progress, all grain prices showed firmness during the early dealings. After opening at 4c lower to 4c advance, corn scored a moderate general upturn.
Buying orders from the Northwest helped to make the wheat market tend upward a little. The opening, which varied from 1sc off to 1sc up, was followed by a slight setback and then something of a rally.
Oats paralleled the action of wheat opening at 1sc lower to a shade advance, and later hardening a trifle all around.
