A Radium Ring. Professor Laby of the University of Wellington, N. Z., declares that the present high prices of radium are due to the existence of a "ring" which has bound itself to maintain the price at what amounts to about twenty times the proper value of the substance. Prof. Laby suggests that the pitchblende which exists in New Zealand should be worked up with a view to placing a supply of radium on the market at a reasonable rate.

News of the intended trip came first from Toronto, when Earl Grey was in that city, and was given in such positive terms that no doubts were expressed.

There are several matters to he considered, some of which may prevent His Excellency making the journey. One of these is the coming to Canada in early autumn of the Duke of Connaught. It had been intended that a Canadian ves sel would meet the Governor General at the mouth of the Mackenzie, but there is the ever-present danger in these latitudes that ice may delay her return. The most important consideration, however, is the fact that those coasts have never been properly charted, and accordingly the danger to a vessel drawing so much water as the Rainbow would be very
