CLERGY VERSUS LAITY.

A LITTLE TIME IN THE SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD LAST NIGHT.

The meeting held to be packed - A chairman in a dilemma - The meeting breaks up amid great noise.

An attempt to hold the inaugural meeting of the separate school board for 1883 was made last night in St John's school house. There were present the following members of the board: Rev Father Rooney, Wm Pelley, Wm Thomson, Dr McConnell, Wm Burns, D Kenney, M O'Connor, James Henson, John Heybert.

Before the meeting commenced it was rumored among certain members that there would be a lively time. The majority of the laymen present were of the opinion that the meeting was packed, that only such members as were favorable to having the clergy holding the offices of the board were present, the others being induced to stay away. At 8 o'clock the meeting was called to order. On motion of Dr McConnell, seconded by James Ryan, Rev Father Rooney was appointed chairman of the board.

Mr Ryan then moved that Dr McConnell be appointed secretary-treasurer of the board. Here Mr. Pelley moved an adjournment, saying at the same time that the meeting was packed, that the board was not properly represented. This motion was not carried. The meeting was then adjourned to meet on Friday next.

BURNING BOILERS.

Four Men and a Woman Killed at Bethlehem, Pa. - A Boiler Carried 300 Feet.

Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 9. - By a boiler explosion in a blast furnace of the Bethlehem Iron company this afternoon, four men and a woman were killed and several others seriously injured. Ten boilers were located over the engine house at an elevation of thirty-five feet. Two of the largest exploded with terrific force, wrecking the interior of the engine house and demolishing nearly half the pattern shop adjoining. One of the boilers was carried through the roof of the mill, and fell on the ground. Only three boilers are left in position. The explosion caused great excitement. It was feared the loss of life was much greater. The engine house was filled with debris. After an hour's search the bodies of Geo Grady and Jesse Bright, engineers were discovered. They had been repairing machinery connected with the boiler. Samuel McChandless, with the boiler, was scalded to death. An unrecognized man of the name of Graft, who brought her husband's dinner, was scalded through the engine house and was killed. Wm Burns and R Clewell, pattern makers, and J. E. Clewell, pattern maker, were badly injured. The search continues, as it is reported one or two employees are missing. The boiler, through which the explosion occurred, was scalded to death. Last week the boiler was cleared, inspected and pronounced safe. They have been used ten or fifteen years. The authorities are unable to account for the explosion.

A TORONTO SMUGGLER.

Arrested in Buffalo - Where the Electric Belts Come From.

BUFFALO, Jan. 9 - Jas H Foster, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of smuggling was arraigned this afternoon before United States Commissioner Strong. The prisoner is a member of the firm of Foster, Milburn & Co, Toronto, who deal in electric belts. These articles are made principally of copper, and the duty on them is 50 per cent. It is asserted that while many thousands of belts have been sold in the United States, not one has ever been entered at the custom house. The arrest was made by Thomas H Keith, special inspector of the treasury department who came to Buffalo for the purpose of investigating the truth of the rumors that smuggling to a large extent is being carried on between Buffalo and the cities across the Niagara River. Mr. Keith was placed on the stand and testified in the manner in which the goods were smuggled. He said that in November last $600 worth of these belts were seized at the store of A. Norman in Chicago which were smuggled from Canada. On searching Norman the agent found a bill for belts sold by Foster, Milburn & Co, of this city. He came to Buffalo and found belts of the same make at various drug stores, the proprietors of which claimed that they had bought them from Foster, Milburn & Co. Mr. Foster denies emphatically that goods were smuggled, and claims he will be able to prove his assertion.

Progress of the Northern Pacific Railway.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 - Gen. Thorpe of the Northern Pacific railroad was in the city today. He stated that since Jan. 1, 1882, about 200 miles of track have been finished, and there remains only 450 miles yet to be laid in order to complete through connection between the Mississippi Valley and Lake Superior on the east, and the Valley of Columbia on the Pacific coast. The line from Toronto to Kelowna, connecting the entire Oregon and Washington railways, is to be built at once. It will be 39 miles long, and cost $1,000,000. The road is ready for business about Nov 15th of this year.

Entombed in a Mine.

COULTERVILLE, Ill, Jan. 9 - An explosion occurred yesterday in the coal mine of Jones & Nesbit, cause unknown, burying twelve persons in the workings. One named Mason and a boy escaped. Relief parties are unable to enter the mine, as the foul air is rising in dense columns from the shaft. The scene at the pits' mouth is heartrending. Eight of the ten men now in the mine have faintly, and it is impossible for any of the imprisoned miners to escape.

Not Dead, But Sleeping.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9 - A case of suspended animation was made public yesterday which is exciting much interest in medical circles. Mrs. Regan was supposed to have died on Sunday morning, and was laid out and all the preparation for her funeral had been made. The funeral was to take place yesterday, but during the forenoon signs of life were discovered and efforts made to resuscitate the woman, which proved successful. She is now alive, but very weak.

How a Texas Lumberman Dies.

WACO, Texas, Jan. 9 - On Thursday O'Berly attempted suicide because the parents of the young lady he loved objected to him. Yesterday as an alleged rival named H Ashburn was entering the lady's house O'Berly fired, wounding him seriously. Ashburn returned the fire and O'Berly rushed into the house and was seized by the lady's father. O'Berly then shot himself, perhaps fatally.

A Confidence Queen.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 - Bertha Heyman, the "Confidence Queen," accused of a long list of swindles and now confined at Blackwell's Island, is charged by Charles Krape with swindling him of nearly $1000 during her imprisonment. Krape alleges that the warden aided Bertha, which she denies.

British Troops Wrecked.

PANAMA, Jan. 9 - The transport steamer Bolivar with troops from England struck on the south-east point of Barbadosa on Dec 12. She will probably become a total wreck. The troops and families were safely landed. One sailor was drowned.

Burned at Sea.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 9 - The ship British Empress, Captain Rickers, from Shields for Bombay, has been burned at sea. Ten persons are known to have been saved, but two boats containing the captain, mate and fourteen hands are missing.

AN UNENDING SPOKE.

Wrangling seems to be chronic in the separate school board of Toronto. The clergy, it would appear from the meeting last night, will go to control it. Now, as a matter of fact, clergymen of whatever denomination are poor business men. They know little about meetings and how to conduct them, about contracts and how to let them. It is, we submit, a bad thing for the schools when the priests control the board. It would be far better if they were in the minority. Let our catholic citizens select from their number the best men for business and make them trustees, and let the priests if they wish take a head, but if it is desired to have good schools, don't allow the reverend gentlemen to ruin them through lack of administrative capacity. The public schools of Toronto would be in fine state if the majority of the school board were controlled then was made up of preachers. Schools should be managed by business men; churches by priests if they will.

THE BUSTED BRUSSELS.

MORE ABOUT THE COLLISION OF SATURDAY NIGHT.

The Damage to the Ships - Putting in their Claims - The Kirby Hall Poorly Managed.

LONDON, Jan. 9 - The gash in the side of the City of Brussels is eight feet wide and three feet deep. None of the passengers saved were even wetted. The Kirby Hall is now lying at Morphett dock. She draws eighteen feet of water. Her damage is above water-line. The cutter was completely carried away from the eighteen to twenty-four feet mark, and the iron plates are carried up. Her port anchor is hanging over ready to let go, which fact poses a danger to the captain's statement that he was feeling his way to an anchorage at the time of the collision.

THE FUGITIVE PARR MURDER.

A long dispatch came in the associated press reports last night containing the confession of a man, O'Donnell, who had given himself up to the authorities at Rochester, N. Y., as one of the murderers of Lord Cavendish and Mr Burke. The so-called confession is a fraud on the face of it, and the dispatch winds up with the statement that O'Donnell denies making one. The World therefore refuses space to the report, but reports that it will be given in the Globe and with a station heading. Half the papers now coming over the wire are only sent, it would appear, to be denied next day.

A RUSSIAN PRINCE GIVES HIS REASONS FOR BELIEVING IN DYNAMITE.

LYONS, Jan. 9 - At the trial of the anarchists to-day all the accused complained of vexatious treatment received in prison. Prince Krapsnik admitted he always believed to consolidate the anarchists' ideas. He denied the right of a French tribunal to canvass his actions outside of France. He avowed co-operation in the creation of an international association. When his party had to choose between extinction or dynamite, he would choose the latter. He admitted he was appointed to represent the Lyonsese federation at the socialist congress, London. That he had been expelled from Switzerland on the demand of Russia, and that he had been expelled from London. The court reproached the prince with having violated French hospitality. The prince replied that his object was to instruct the people. He visited Vienna to see the anarchists there. This concluded the examination.

TORONTO AN ART CENTRE.

OUR CITY PAINTERS AND THEIR WORKS.

The Growth of Art in Toronto - The Ontario Society of Artists - A Visit to a Studio - A National Artillery Recruited - A Union Exhibition Next Spring.

A few days ago the writer found himself in the studio of a prominent city artist. A dust-begrimed skylight admitted a certain amount of subdued sunshine into the room. Against the wall stood three or four gaudy and repulsive easels, on which were stretched as many poorly finished pictures. An old table held a curious assortment of deudated paint boxes, brushes of every size and shape, rolls of artists' paper, wooden figure models, rough sketches in miniature and samples of the other requisites of an artist. Standing before a large sheet of paper our artist was deftly evolving an extensive mountain range from a chaotic mass of color. A touch here left a boulder in the foreground; a dab there brought forth a tree from the hillside, while a few skillful sweeps of the brush gave birth to a placid river resting in the valley.

MARKETS AND HEALTH MATTERS.

Synopsis of an Important Report From Inspector Aude Would Suggest That Immediate Action Be Taken to Amend the Law Relating to the Sale of Milk.

The markets and health committee held its last meeting of the year yesterday afternoon. All the members were present [which can probably be accounted for by the fact that Chairman Taylor had promised them a feed on his retiring from the council]. The engineer at the jail, Wm Harding, was voted a bonus of $25 for extra plumbing work performed at that institution. Several accounts were passed. There will be a probable surplus of $1000 in the commissioner's appropriation. This is independent of the street watering service.

Inspector Aude submitted his annual report. He drew attention to the unsatisfactory state of the law relating to hawkers and pedlars of farm and garden produce since the abolition of the market tolls. Farmers and gardeners have now such advantages that the city dealers are unable to compete with them. When the legislature conceded the producers the privilege of selling their produce in any part of the city it did not contemplate anything less than wholesale transactions to stockpilers and others who buy to sell again. These so-called farmers and gardeners used our streets, from door to door but did not contribute one cent to the city revenue. Manufacturers have also the same advantages. [Ald. Ryan here stated that he could be looked on as a person who peddled the whole of the town of Niagara, and he would suggest that immediate action be taken to amend the law, or failing that, to exempt pedlars of farm and garden produce, foreign fruit and coal oil. (The inspector explained to the committee the great importance of convicting certain alleged coal oil pedlars who would not take out a license. The report referred to the great importance of meat and milk inspection. Prof. Ramsay Wintart had attached much importance to his (Aude's) discovery last year of the "Demodex" in wine, which the professor pronounced to be the "Demodex Philoides" and so far as he knows there was no other record of its discovery than one by Dr. Gorkor, an Austrian physician. On the whole the quality of meat now sold in our markets was improving. Condensations for year: Beef 16,000 pounds, pork 1400 pounds, mutton 1400 pounds, poultry 1100 pounds. The milk inspection was also highly important and much good was done. Formerly milk 18, 20 and 25 per cent was now being sold. As soon as the sanctions and appointments sought are obtained the present legal disability removed the benefits contemplated by the proposed milk by-law will be fully assured.]

King For a Day.

The second opera by Abbott's company was given at the Grand opera house last night, with an improved side in audience, but nothing at all like what was to be expected. Adam's sparkling and beautiful performance, the attraction and the audience was immensely delighted with it. This opera is not a stranger to Toronto folk, and it has never been presented before so nicely as it was last night. The argument is so manly enough, and the acting is good enough of an Indian fisherman, who rescues the Princess Nemes from drowning while she is bathing. This little incident is the means of transforming Zephoris (the fisherman's daughter) into a king for a day and subsequently into a ruler of the world. The plot is well laid out, and the acting is very good. The costumes were quite gorgeous.

The Chairman of the Markets and Health Committee.

When the markets and health committee finished its regular business yesterday afternoon Ald Rowe was moved into the chair, when the following was unanimously carried:

Moved by Ald Ryan and Turner, That the committee on markets and health desire to express its pleasure in testifying to the ability with which the chairman, Mr Ald Taylor, has discharged his duty in presiding over its deliberations during the past year, and it further desires to give public expression to its appreciation of the services rendered by the committee in the discharge of its duties. The committee feels that Mr Ald Taylor has found it impossible to attend all the meetings, and it is regretted that his absence from the council of 1882, and the committee is placing this resolution on the minutes, further expressing its appreciation of the services rendered by Ald Taylor, who has been so universally respected by every member of the council, and who has been so successful in his services to the city of Toronto, which he has represented with so much honor and credit.

A Case From the County of Grey.

The case of Dr Pinkerton of the village of Ayrton, in the county of Grey, against Chas Reikin, a hotel-keeper of Winton, for $3000 damages for alleged malicious arrest, was concluded yesterday in the assize court before Judge Cameron and the jury. On March 14 last, Reikin's hotel was burned down, and for certain reasons Dr Pinkerton was suspected, arrested, examined before county magistrates and dismissed. The present action was then brought for false arrest, the venue being taken in the county of York. Judge Cameron told the jury that the whole thing turned on the point: was there reasonable ground to suspect Dr Pinkerton of the crime. The evidence showed that there was reasonable ground, from certain statements the doctor had made while intoxicated. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff in a few minutes, and the case was dismissed after leaving the box. Dalton McCarter, J. Q. O. and Wm Croelman for plaintiff; J. M. Douglass and William Barrett (Warrington) for defendant. The case caused much excitement in the county of Grey.
