legislation during the January session. Without stating it in so many words the Manitoba Government will throw out a bare hope that something will be done in the near future to relieve the minority in the Prairie Province. Although Mr. McCarthy does not say this, it is stated here that in pursuing this course the Manitoba Premier be-heves he is best advancing the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier's cause in this pro-vince of Quebec. A great many mem-Notice has been issued to postmastrs enjoining them to exercise extreme care in redirection of letters. In a reent case a letter addressed to a compercial traveler, who was about to visit a certain place, was sent awaye from the post-office of that place to a neighboring office for the altogether in-sufficient reason that no person by the Wilfrid Laurier's cause in this pro-vince of Quebec. An Important Piece of Evidence Upset by the Court.

His Lordship Declines to Permit the Crown to Prove the Time of the Starting of Riordan's Car on the Fatal Morning-A Mechanical Expert Who Would Not Admit the Reasonableness of the Defence's Accident Theories-Mr. Carney and Sunday Cars.

The second week of the trial of the diminutive Hyams twins opened somewhat inauspiciously for the Crown. His Lordship Mr. Justice Ferguson ruled out the testimony of the Street Railway Company's employes, which tended to show that the car taken by Harry Hyams on the morning of the death of young Wells did not leave the car house in charge of Driver. Jeremiah Riordan until 10.42 o'clock, or about an hour and a half after Harry was said by Dr. King to have reached his office, having been conveyed there by Riordan and the bobtail car.

This testimony is of material impor-I his testimony is of material impor-tance to the Crown, as it would aid them to prove that the young man had been dead nearly two hours be-fore Harry Hyams undertook his trip from the Colborne-street warehouse in search of medical aid for a man he himself had told the car driver was already dead. The aridence was ad already dead. The evidence was ad-mitted in the former trial, and what mitted in the former trial, and white effect its absence may have with the present jury is, of course, altogether a matter of conjecture. Yesterday Mr. David Carney, the railway com-pany car starter, whom Mr. Lount fa-cetiously referred to as the "star pany car starter, whom Mr. Lount fa-cetiously referred to as the "star carter," was positive that Riordon had taken his car at the regular hour on the morning of the killing-10.42-but admitted that his positiveness on this point was based largely upon the fact that his books showed this to be the case. As the court had previously ruled the books out of evidence, the same action was taken with respect to the testimony of the witnesses from the railway company's offices. Mr. Lount's Little Joke.

the new show case. The display of such costly goods is already giving an air of luxuriance to the lower floor, but just wait until the Christmas sale commences. There will be an entire rearrangement of the lower floor and such a beautifully gotten up display as will wring exclamations of delight from lovers of the artistic. Dineens are going to head the list for selling Christmas presents this year. The wear of soft hats among men has been something phenomenal this fall and almost any style to suit the wearer's fancy is in fashion. Dineens wearer's fancy is in fashion. Dineens have in stock at least 1000 soft hats Mr. Galt admitted that in such a condition, or in the event of the weight being drawn rapidly to the roof of the "Well, some person may have placed it in that careless manner. No one, of course you will understand, would think of doing such a thing wilfully but ac-cidents will happen," explained Mr.

The death dealing car was number 454, in charge of Conductor Parlidge and Motorman A. E. Hopkins. Eye-witnesses of the occurrence say that the speed of the car was immoderate, as it invariably is on the Tannery Hollow hill. Armstrong was known as a man most careful to avoid taking any risks with the treacherous trolley. Those who knew him best could scarcely credit the story of his sudden end, so mark-ed were his aversions to riding in dan-gerous proximity to a moving car. Mr. Armstrong was a widower and resided with his brother at the above address. He has been associated with all who knew him. Cook's Turkish Baths. 232-224 King W.
