CAPT. STEWART has opened a new enterprise which is well worthy of notice. He has about 150 head of stock on Livingston's farm, which is being dressed and shipped to eastern markets via the Canadian Pacific Railway. There is a field for the enterprise we do not doubt, and we congratulate Capt. Stewart on being the first to enter into it.

WE took a short drive yesterday with Capt. Stewart. Went as far as the slaughter house west of the town where we found Angus Sparrow and a gang of dissectors preparing beef for the Winnipeg market. The cattle belong to Capt. Stewart, who is entitled to credit for opening a new enterprise, which we hope will soon develop into a profitable trade. The quality of the beef was something which would excite the admiration of the most fastidious Englishman. Next week we will give a more extended

That Meeting.

The exhibition in the shape of the " mass meeting," at the Calgary Theatre Hall, on Saturday afternoon was anything but a credit to the promoters and those speakers who made it a point to bore the audience with the usual bosh and rant, of mass meetings. LETTER FROM MR. MURDOCH.

To the Editor of THE NOR'-WESTER :-SIR,-Some of the candidates for civic honors seem very desirous of cooking up a canvass against me. The latest that I have heard is that o canvassing for one of the gentlemen in the field for the aldermanship. Their reason for such charge is that I was seen walking along the street with him, and having accidentally met at a drug store taken part in a friendly chit-chat with him and the proprietor of the place as to the probable charces of the different candidates. This I consider the most childish piece business that I's occurred all through the second thought. I stated on the day of nomination that vas steering in a strictly non-partizan course, and if I alter my bearings it will be because I am compelled to do so by the efforts of these gentlemen to injure me in the pinion of the electors.

GEO. MURDOCH

MR. REDPATH AND NIAGARA.

To the Editor of THE NOR'-WESTER SIR,-I am not a speaker, and therefore on the day of nomination did not speak. All those who did said that they had not seen Niagara. I have seen Niagara. In the impetuous days of youth I took a ticket from Foronto, per boat, and saw it and lived, The town at that time certainly possessed a name, but as certainly possessed nothing clse. Everything was going to ruin, and things had arrived at such a pitch that the county seat was about to be transferred to St. Catharines. It certainly may have improved somewhat since then, but except from its historical reminiscences is not likely to be much of a place even now. Assuredly it has always been looked upon in Canada 13 as anything but an enterprising place. To 14 take our municipal precedents from such a town whose course has not been distinguish. 15 ed by the principle of "onward and upward," as advised by Mr. Redpath, would argue an amount of folly on our part even greater than that of the advice on his. What could he have meant by taking up the valuable time of the meeting by so minute and elaborate and address? It was borne in on us that he fancied himself some kind of municipal school | 23 master, instructing a lot of pupils innocent of municipal affairs. Well, I suppose we must excuse him in this, for he has been 27 such a short time among us that it is im- 28 ssible he should know who and what we 29 are. However, for his future direction, should be ever take the platform again, we Range. may inform him that lots of us have seen those things before and watched their work. 3 ing for many years of their lives, and from having done full honor to the patron Seint. Those who speak so strongly in favor of the the conclusion he has arrived at, we are ink that we have improved our better than himself. What oes he really mean to tell us in sober earnest of our growing town on an income of $1600 a year? This might indeed do for Niagara, where we should judge that our good man ould d scharge the duties of that entire municipality and then not be overburdened. Such an idea only goe, to show that gentles man's inability to grasp the difference be tween a dead town and a live one.

Mr. Redpath seems to think that eighteen year's of municipal experience in Niagara is his greatest recommendation to the favor of the electors. Some of us, on the contrary think that that very fact renders him totally unfit to have anything to do with our municipal affairs. Mr. Murdoch, if he is elected, ought to go down on his knees and be de vontly thankful that he never in his life hal any municipal experience in Niagara, for makes him just the very man we want. ever there was a justific tion for a man Mr. Murdoch's extreme youth running for the chief seat in our municipal synagogue it is just that speech of his opponent, Mr. Redpath. When increasing years bring no more wisdom than was displayed in this gentlemen's utterances we pray that time may stay in his flight and keep Mr. Murdoch for ever young. The policy for Calgary to pursue with regard to expenditure is the one contained, partly in the manly speech of Mr. Hogg, who looked our wants boldly in the face, and said, "These things we must have," and partly in the cautious principles laid down by Dr. Linsay, namelys-"Let us calculate first what these things will cost and keep within our means." In other words let us supply as many of our wants as we can with the money that we have, and in as good fashion as we can ; but don't let vs try to do too much or run rashly into debt. It is not in the power of an eighteen year's experience or of any other number of limit to the amount we ought to expend and any man going into our Council with the fixed idea that because fourteen or sixteen hundred dollars was enough for Niagara that therefore it must be enough for Calgar would be a black in the wheels of our municipal chariot from which it is to be hoped the electors will give us a joytul deliver-Yours, etc.,
