For every $1 that you will give for your own pleasure during the holidays, how much will you give for the pleasure, or needs, of others? That's worth thinking about.

St. Mary The Virgin, is the name of a beautiful new Protestant Episcopal Church dedicated last week in New York City. Time was when our non-Catholic friends did not think so favorably of the Mother of Jesus.

Oh mother, please, mother, come home with me now;
The afternoon's slipping by fast.
You said you were coming right home from polls
As soon as your ballot was cast.
Poer father came in for his dinner at noon And not a mouthful could he find;
And the words that he said as he slammed the iront door the front door

Left a strong smell of sulphur behind.

What are you going to give your pastor for a New Year's gift to show your appreciation of his labors for you during the year and during many years, in good weather and in bad weather, at night as well as in day? The REVIEW would like a report from every parish in the province of the handsome purse the congregation gives the pastor. Don't be bashful about sending in the news.

It is too solemn somebody pays a year's subscribtion; and sacred an event to admit of conthat's capital. And once in a while siderations of fashion or of conventional some dead beat takes the paper a year convenience, and to miss the nupital or two and then vanishes without paying for it; that's anarchy. The queerest periodical says an Exchange is a weekly now published by a French priest at Kamloops, British Columbia. It is called the Kamloops Wa-Wa, which means "writing" in the Chinook jargon, a sort of international speech, composed of half a dozen different Indian tongues, mixed with frag-ments of English, French and German. The weekly is written in three columns—the first column in jargon, the second shorthand characters, and the third in English. The matter is courrent news of the mission, sermons, prayers, etc. It is multiplied by the mimeograph and distributed among the priest's widely scattered parisiboners. The paper on wihch the printing is done is blue, green, pink or yellow, according to the taste of the people who give it to the good Father. The periodical is delivered free of charge.

On the 17th March, 1892. Sir John Thompson delivered his last public address in Montreal. It was at St. Patrick's society concert. He spoke of the services of Irishmen to his native provents. nce. He showed that the Nova Scotia Legislature was the first to grant absolute freedom of worship. The British government disallowed the act. This was a stern rebuff to the growing liberalism, which recognized that a man's religion was a matter between himself and his God. They proceeded to lay the foundation of a Catholic church in Halifax; and, let him say, the Protesants aided in this.

THE committee appointed to wait on Very Rev. Dr. Langevin to arrange with him to have a Grand Requiem Mass for the repose of the soul of the late Sir John Thompson on the day of the funeral, report that all the necessary preliminary arrangements have been made, and that a Grand Requiem Mass with deacon and sub-deacon, will be sung in St. Mary's church on the day of the fun-eral. It is hoped that all the Catholic societies in the city will turn out on that day and attend this mass in a body wearing their mourning badges. The rev. pastor will allow nothing to be left undone to make this funeral service as grand and solemn as possible. Further 4,000— CORDS—4.000 particulars will be given in due time in the public press.
