With this in mind, we believe, as regards participation in the executive council, for example, that it will have to be wide enough and to adequately reflect regional, political and industrial realities, with no provision for unjustified differentiated membership.

(Mr. Dolgu, Romania)

The participants are ready to continue to seek, together with all interested countries, agreements leading to the progressive reduction and subsequently to the complete elimination of nuclear weapons, the prohibition and destruction of chemical weapons, the radical reduction of conventional armed forces, the prevention of an extension of the arms race into outer space, the gradual curtailment of military production and the substantial reduction of military spending. In that connection, they proceed from the assumption that disarmament measures must ensure equal security for all States with strict respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of every State within its existing borders, and must exclude the possibility of the use of force or the threat of force in inter-State relations.

... The States parties to the Warsaw Treaty support the idea of the possible extension to underground tests of the applicability of the Moscow Treaty of 1963 banning nuclear tests in three environments as one of the ways of speedily achieving the prohibition of all nuclear tests. The participants in the Meeting expressed their concern at the danger to peace and international security represented by the use of chemical weapons, as long as they exist and spread. The participants call for the speedy preparation of an international convention on the general and complete prohibition of chemical weapons and the destruction of existing stockpiles.
