A CITIZENS' TEMPERANCE REBEL
 The protest of the Toronto Citizens' Committee against the proposed reduction of the license on beer is being met by a spirited and determined business and professional man, "not in any way connected with or interested in the liquor trade, and having no personal concern in the proposed measure, except as we are in common with the rest of the people interested financially and otherwise in the welfare of our city."

COME EARLY T. EATON CO. LIMITED COME OFTEN

A Christmas Outpour of Matchless Values

MEN'S CHRISTMAS APPAREL—holiday remembrances—reduced to an almost startling degree. Not an article in the list but what is an admirable gift.

High Grade Overcoats—greatly reduced

Not because they need reducing—for the styles are the best; the makes and the materials of the highest standard. The late season, the constant arrival of winter garments has caused an over-abundance of overcoats to accumulate. We've reduced in price ninety real beauties. Excel them? Impossible! Equal them? Try. It's a great money's worth.

Finest all wool imported Scotch tweeds, grey and brown checks with colored mixtures—single and double breasted—long back—self and velvet collars—broad, well shaped shoulders—best quality lining—sizes 35 to 46—formerly $15.00 to $22.00. Reduced..... 11.95

Fur-lined and fur coats on the list

Same trouble with these as with the overcoats—mild weather, extra large stock and special purchase besides. But price-concession—along with uncommonly good quality—will prove an irresistible inducement.

Fur-lined Coats—muskrat lining—black beaver cloth shells—dark Canadian otter collar—50 inches long. Very dressy and durable. This was a special purchase at a very special price. Clearing ten out at each..... 63.50

The Fur Coats—Rock Wallaby, long, thick and dark fur—skins are well tanned and pliable and are securely sewn together—quilted and padded linings. Warm and serviceable. Regular $27.50, for..... 22.75

AUSTRALIA FOLLOWS CANADA
 Australia is taking a lead out of Canada's book. Blessed are the uses of propaganda. The Australians believed in letting immigration take care of itself. When there ought to have been immigration there was emigration. The Australian has a good country, even the bit he got as excellent as our own. But he was beginning to lose faith in it and began to get the habit, when in England of stopping into the Canadian emigration offices at Christmas and enquiring about the fertile west. Australia was becoming prematurely old. The federal government has at last realized that the exclusive policy will not do; that the commonwealth must become richer, and go into the advertising business.

The Australian premier announces that the Canadian model will be copied. There is emigration as well as immigration. The Australian has a good country, even the bit he got as excellent as our own. But he was beginning to lose faith in it and began to get the habit, when in England of stopping into the Canadian emigration offices at Christmas and enquiring about the fertile west. Australia was becoming prematurely old. The federal government has at last realized that the exclusive policy will not do; that the commonwealth must become richer, and go into the advertising business.

AFRAID OF COMPETITION?
 "I will put my foot down on that notion. I don't want to see more businesses like mine in Toronto. Let people go somewhere else, we don't want them here."

It is imagined that three magazine boosters descended on an unsuspecting board of trade and proposed that Toronto citizens should raise many thousands of dollars for the purpose of encouraging "Yankee" publications—in short, that the whole thing was a "hoax." The American magazine men have some sense enough to know that Toronto business leaders are not so foolish as to spend time, brains and money in works of benevolence for New York advertisement men. The proposition has got to be a good thing right here.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNI
 We now have the formulated opinions of two important bodies of graduates on the subject of university organization—the Toronto Alumni Association and the General Alumni Association. The recommendations of the latter are notable for their brevity, those of the former are more exhaustive, but none the less important.

WE ARE ALL RICHER
 The manufacturer who wishes to put his foot upon expansion is himself flourishing because of a national public policy that has never before been seen. The Dominion government is the biggest advertiser in business. By the simple device of advertising the west has, since the latter end of last century, been receiving a growing stream of immigrants, who have increased the capital wealth and the yearly produce of Canada to an extent which few well-informed people have adequate conception of.

PROVINCE MUST GROW
 Toronto has a name beyond the seas. Wherever in the United Kingdom you meet a traveler who has toured in Canada you meet a man who has acquired a great liking for Toronto, and who is anxious to migrate westward, would choose this city for his habitation. In Great Britain there are thousands of families in comfortable circumstances the heads of which realize that the old lands must decrease in prosperity, and that the children in a country where conditions are less hard than those which have produced a submerged tenth, an unemployed problem which appeals to all who come closely into contact with it and a system of taxation which is the despair of those who realize that the average child is receiving instruction markedly inferior to that which the youth of Ontario towns and cities have enjoyed these many years.

NOT AN OLD MAN'S GAME
 At 44 years Robert Fitzsimmons, the lanky one who has put scores of bigger men to sleep in the prize ring, has reached the Outer Stage of his fighting career, and will have to turn to some other profession or perhaps a change of life. It is hard to have to come to 10, but Fitz is done—in the language of the ring he is "all in." On a 25-foot stage at San Francisco a young chap named O'Brien, not so powerful a fighter, perhaps, nor yet so clever a ring brawler, but who has a fine chin and a good chin, was comparatively easy to reach, and once reached he was easy to follow up the advantage.

Ten years ago Fitz could have taken twice the punishment, and come back as strong as ever. His recuperative powers were the marvel of ring followers. But at a price the mark was old as many a business man of 70. That he has stayed so long in the ring is due to his regular habits and his wonderful physique. His career has been a glorious one, from the viewpoint of the man who regards athletics as an honorable profession. He had to go out of his class—he was a middlesight champion—to get on more battles and the avoidance of his antagonist never feazed the doughy Bob.

FACTS AND FICTION
 Ingersoll, Dec. 20.—C. L. Wilson, manager of the Ingersoll Packing Company, stated today that the order-in-council, which will go into force on Jan. 1, prohibiting the importation of hogs from the United States would be a disaster to the packing industry in the past the company has been unable to get enough Canadian hogs to keep their factory running to full capacity, and American hogs were imported, killed and cured here. Mr. Wilson stated that the company will now be unable to keep the factory running full time unless they can purchase more Canadian hogs than in the past.

president an ex-officio member. The recommendations of the faculty to exclude graduates altogether from representation on the board of governors failed, and the committee of five was a compromise intended to strengthen the interest, the legislative would have in according adequate financial support to the university. It will be a sorry day for the university if ever provincial support is made to cover the exclusion of graduates from a vote in the administrative or academic control of their alma mater.

ARMORIES FOR SHOW
 BRITISH CARS DON'T SUIT

J. C. Eaton, Leading Toronto Automobilist, Talks of Various Motoring Subjects.

The show should be in the armories, but at present there is some doubt about the location. I don't see why this should be. They let the armories for the horse show, and their isn't very much difference between occupation by animals which haul vehicles and occupation by vehicles which haul themselves. A week's automobile exhibition, the first in Canada on a big scale, will be worth a good deal to Toronto.
