Terrible Fate of a Score of Troy Collar Girls. FIRE STARTS IN THE FIFTH STORY. Of a Factory Where 300 Operatives Were at Work.

Five of the Girls in Their Frigid Jump From Windows. Three of Whom Were Instantly Killed—Many Missing—It is Believed That the Deaths Will Number Thirty—How It All Occurred Through the Carelessness of a Little Boy—List and of the Dead, the Missing and the Injured.

It Was an Awful Affair. The factory spread rapidly that the narrow stairway, which was the exit outside of the fire escapes in the rear, was almost immediately cut off, and during the panic that followed five girls jumped from the roof of the building, and many others were injured.

Twenty Girls Burned to Death. It is believed by everybody, even the proprietors and employees in the shop, that about 20 girls were overcome before they reached the street, and many of them were burned to death.

How the Blaze Started. The fire, which was a disastrous one, started in the fifth story in the part occupied by Stethamer & Co.

What a Brave Girl Did. Miss Lillie Kreger, a girl, realized the imminence of peril, and the risk of her own life rushed through the different departments in the last moments of her life to the danger.

A Scene of Excitement. For 20 minutes after the fire started the scene was the most exciting ever witnessed in Troy.

Probably the most heart-rending scenes were those witnessed on the streets. The mothers and other relatives of the girls who were at work in the factory soon learned of the disaster.
