

CHURCH WORKERS HONORED IN DEATH

John B. Vick and John A. Ewan Devoted Members of St. Matthew's.

MEMORIAL TABLETS

Unveiling Ceremony Yesterday Performed by Col. Noel Marshall.

To perpetuate the memory of two loyal workers of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, First Avenue, John B. Vick and John A. Ewan, handsome memorial tablets, subscribed for by members of the congregation, were unveiled yesterday at the morning service by Colonel Noel Marshall, who was for some time actively associated with the honored members. The church was crowded, the rector, Rev. J. H. Warren, conducting the service and at the dedication, a short address was made by Rev. Scott Howard, the first incumbent, who followed Mr. Marshall.

In a brief address, the rector referred to the splendid qualities of the late Mr. Vick and the late Mr. Ewan, and their untiring work as officials of the church.

Mr. Marshall, standing on the chancel steps, said that it was twenty-seven years since he dedicated the church to the work of the members. They were honoring, stating that he had been associated with Mr. Vick as warden during the period between 1913 and 1915 and again from 1915 to 1916. He worked with Mr. Ewan in 1915 and 1916.

Following the unveiling, Rev. Scott Howard addressed the congregation, speaking of the great assistance he had received from the late Messrs. Vick and Ewan during his long period as rector of the parish.

The inscription on the memorial to the late Mr. Vick was: "In praise of the memory of John Benjamin Vick, builder and contractor, born in Hereford, England, 1848, died in Toronto, March 1, 1916. For many years a devoted member of the congregation, rendering the church invaluable service in a private capacity as well as in various official positions, such as chairman of the building committee, vestryman, churchwarden and member of the advisory board."

The other tablet reads: "In loving memory of John A. Ewan and in appreciation of his services as a warden in this church at sundry times, and in many other capacities, his wise counsel and helpful assistance to the struggling congregation."

Mr. Ewan was widely known as a brilliant journalist and his contributions as special correspondent to the Toronto Globe from Cuba and South Africa, during the Spanish-American and Boer Wars were eagerly read by the reading public.

"Born, Aberdeen, Scotland, 1854, died in Toronto, July 28, 1910."

STOP FREIGHT CARS FROM ENTERING U.S.

Action Taken by Canadian Pacific in Order to Meet Demands Here.

TO HANDLE WHEAT

Company Cannot Allow Situation in West to Be Menaced by Shortage.

In order to avert a shortage of freight cars, D. Coleman, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific, has issued instructions along the whole line that under no circumstances should any Canadian Pacific freight cars be allowed to cross the border into the United States.

G. T. Coleman, car service agent of the C.P.R., when seen Saturday, said that this order had been deemed necessary in order to prevent the company from completing its orders in this country. The American lines had encountered such an abnormal rush of business in handling war orders that they seized upon any freight cars that came on to their lines and were reluctant to return them.

"American roads," said Mr. Coleman, "have at the present time 24,000 C.P.R. freight cars employed on their lines. We have been trying all summer to have these cars returned but without success, so this order was issued in order to prevent any more cars falling into the hands of American lines. Some lines on the other side of the border have their equipment so diverted that only about 48 per cent. of their stock is in operation on their own lines, so they seize and hang on to any cars they can secure."

This order would have no effect on trade between the two countries, said Mr. Coleman, as enough foreign cars come into Canada to take care of the business going south. Instead of returning these foreign cars empty, as was formerly the frequent custom, there was a shortage of freight cars in the west for the handling of wheat, and rather than run the risk of this shortage seriously menacing the country the order was passed.

SOCIALISTS' DEMANDS CAUSE STIR IN BERLIN

London, Nov. 27.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. quotes The Berlin Vorwaerts as publishing an editorial declaring that the Socialists will oppose the conscription bill in the reichstag unless the government considers the demand that allowances for soldiers' wives be increased in proportion to the increased cost of living. The Vorwaerts says, among other things, if women are compelled to work in war munitions factories while their children are inadequately provided for they will revolt.

The correspondent adds that the editorial had made a deep impression on political circles.

WINDOWS UNVEILED AT N. CONGREGATIONAL

Honor Memory of Three Prominent Members of the Church.

Unveiling of three memorial windows was the unique ceremony that took place at the Northern Congregational Church yesterday morning. The windows are three large ones on the east side of the church, and dealing with Biblical subjects will not only greatly beautify the edifice but will intensify the religious atmosphere of the church.

The central window is a wonderful copy of the famous picture, "Christ at Bethany." This window was donated by Henry O'Hara in memory of his wife, Mrs. Henry O'Hara, Rev. Capt. T. Bradley Hyde, who served as pastor of the church for 14 years, unveiled the window.

The south window, which was unveiled by Deacon T. B. Speight, represented "The Crowning of Dorcas." It was presented by E. J. Joseph in memory of his wife. The north window, "Christ Consoling the Afflicted," was presented by the children and grandchildren in memory of Charles Page and his wife and Charles J. Page and his wife. The grandfathers were charter members of the church. The window was unveiled by Acting Deacon James A. Smith.

Rev. Capt. Hyde offered a prayer of thanksgiving for the lives of those whose memories are to be perpetuated in windows, and Rev. Frank J. Day, the pastor, outlined the significance of each window as it related to the lives of those whose services they commemorated and as an incentive and inspiration to those of the present to live lives of service.

DELEGATES AT CHURCH

Those Attending Convention Hear Instructive Addresses at Cooke's Church.

The delegates attending the Christian Endeavor convention in this city met yesterday afternoon in Cooke's Presbyterian Church and were entertained with several instructive addresses. In the main body of the church, Mrs. William Patterson, wife of Rev. William Patterson, the pastor, addressed the young women of the convention on the subject, "Women in the East," and her remarks were heard with much pleasure.

Her address was followed by an instructive talk by Miss Mildred Haggard, national superintendent of junior work of the united society of Christian Endeavor. She outlined the method of organization and the duties of a junior Christian Endeavor Society and presented a plan of work.

D. A. Polling, president of the World's Christian Endeavor Union, spoke to the men on the subject, "The Omnipotence of the Human Will," and his remarks were an inspiration to his hearers. The question of most interest to the men on the subject, was, "What is success?" Some of the aids were strong bodies, education and a clean soul. He quoted instances of men who had made a success in life despite the handicaps of poverty or suffering from physical weakness.

Clean Soul Means Much.

"It means," he said, "a great deal for a man to have a clean soul. In fact he cannot succeed without it. I care not how far a man has wandered, in Christ he has the hope of an everlasting life that begins now. If a man will be he may be. It is not enough to say I will, but the resolution must be continuous. Each man must have in his philosophy no knowledge of defeat."

North America, he said, was face to face with a great crisis in the cigarette evil. Not only the church but every Christian frame of mind, and every young man against the vile institution. "No man has a right to fix on himself a habit that makes him less than what God would have him be."

Mr. Polling delivered the convention sermon in Cooke's Church last night before a large congregation and spoke on the text, "The Kingdom of Heaven is at Hand."

FIGHTING SLACKENS

Cannonading Proceeds With Great Intensity Despite Unfavorable Weather.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

London, Nov. 26.—Owing to the uncertainty of the Greek situation and the intervention of winter storms, the fighting in Macedonia, north of Salonica, has slackened at several points except for the artillery action. The cannonading proceeds incessantly along the front.

On the left wing of the allies, however, the Italians are continuing their advance in a series of winter storms, and their columns made fresh progress towards Trnova, near the Monastir-Presheva Lake road.

Large Audience in Strand Honors Britain's Watchers of the Sea.

THE NAVY SUPREME

Speakers at Annual Festival of Sailors' Society Loud in Its Praise.

Patriotic addresses and prayers for the sailors of the entente allies, who are patrolling the North Sea, featured the fifth annual festival of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, held Sunday afternoon in the Strand Theatre. There was a large attendance, and the various speakers appealed to the audience to send Christmas greeting cards to their friends and relatives overseas, thus the society. A collection was taken up for comforts of the Royal Navy men of Canada.

Rev. Alfred Hall, senior chaplain of the society, presided, and in his opening address, paid a tribute to the fallen in the battles at sea. "We have been the greatest year in all our naval history. One hundred and eleven years ago Nelson won the supremacy of the sea for Britain with a little fleet of 27 wooden ships; this year, after a most daring challenge by Germany, Admiral Jellicoe has maintained that supremacy with 600 fighting ships, aided by 8000 merchant ships as auxiliary cruisers and 3000 trawlers and fishing vessels," he continued. "Our navy is the supreme factor in the world situation of today. The submarine menace is perfectly diabolical, but it does not terrify any class of our seamen. Their spirit is irrepressibly cheerful, and their pluck is indomitable."

Baffles Description.

"The work of the navy and its auxiliaries baffles description; representative Canadians like Premier Borden, Premier Hearst and N. W. Rowell, M.L.A., speak of it in loftiest praise. The speaker declared that two words could summarize their amazing achievements—"Silence" and "Strength."

Referring to the sinking of the British hospital ship, the Britannic, the reverend speaker stated that the majority of those drowned were either stokers or engineers.

The audience stood for two minutes in prayer for the seafaring men of the sea, the organist rendered the "Dead March in D" in honor of those who had fallen in battle.

At the conclusion of the service, slides of life in the navy were shown. Other speakers during the afternoon were Rev. Bishop Breving, Rev. J. R. MacLean, Rev. (Capt.) E. R. MacLean, Rev. W. H. Hincks, Rev. F. J. Day, Rev. J. M. Scott, Commodore Aemilios Jervis, and Lieut. R. N. Ellis of the Toronto recruiting branch of the navy.

ALLIES MUST AID RUSSIA STRONGLY

Turkey and Bulgaria Should First Be Knocked Out, Garvin Contends.

FOE'S RESERVES HUGE

Available Man Power From First to Last Estimated at Twenty Millions.

London, Nov. 26.—J. L. Garvin, editor of The Observer, declares in that paper this morning that it is impossible for the Anglo-French to break thru the western front unless the allies totally change their policy regarding southeastern Europe, with a view to eliminating Turkey and Bulgaria. He says the fundamental question of the war now is to remodel the transport so as to strengthen Russia.

"The naval blockade," continues Mr. Garvin, "can never by itself reduce Germany, which is exploiting the resources of Turkish and other dominions, containing some of the most fertile tracts in the world, and developing their manpower, as in all the history of nations, never before. Before the outbreak of the war the central league will have had from the beginning to the end nearly 20,000,000 men under arms. Our estimate is that the central league altogether has four million men in reserve."

Mistake in Gallipoli.

"We now see the stupendous folly of the withdrawal from Gallipoli. Russia can never act with the maximum power until the Dardanelles and Black Sea are reopened, enabling the allies to maintain her reserves fully. Under present conditions Russia cannot come to the maximum of her possible fighting strength even within a year from now, perhaps can never come to it. The allies made one of their worst mistakes in their incredible mishandling of the opportunities presented by the Roumanian intervention. The Germans grasped that situation and struck first in a way that does equal credit to their intelligence and energy."

A Message
From Sir Robert Borden

In his urgent appeal for National Service, on October 23rd, Sir Robert Borden said:

"Let us never forget the solemn truth that the nation is not constituted of the living alone. There are those as well who have passed away and those yet to be born. So this great responsibility comes to us as heirs of the past and trustees of the future. But with that responsibility there has come something greater still, the opportunity of proving ourselves worthy of it; and I pray that this may not be lost."

BRITISH AVIATORS REACH BUCHAREST

Many Pilots Arrive at Roumanian Capital After Long Flights.

London, Nov. 26.—A large number of British aeroplanes and pilots have reached Bucharest after long flights, says a Reuters despatch from the Roumanian capital. The latest arrivals, it is added, are to reinforce the British and French airmen already operating with the Roumanian army.

The wireless despatch received last evening from Petrograd that the Roumanians have succeeded in extricating themselves from the enveloping movement in the extreme west, is the most encouraging news from the theatre of war, on which the eyes of the world are focused, to reach London in several days. If this, as well as the additional information that the Roumanians in their retirement were able to destroy large quantities of cereals, proves to be true, it means that they have placed a wedge between Orsova and Craiova, and perhaps rejoined forces on the Alt.

Optimists here expect a strong counter-offensive at the right moment by the strong Russo-Roumanian force known to be in the Alt.

EXPECT ROUMANIA TO TURN TABLES

Ablest London Military Writers Look to Speedy Recovery.

London, Nov. 27.—Although the commentators in the morning newspapers today do not attempt to disguise the fact that the position of the Roumanians has become very much worse and that they are sorely in need of succor, the weightiest writers in their opinions refuse to be pessimistic. These writers maintain that the Roumanian position may be better than the man shows, and the fact that the central forces are still being held and that the Roumanian soldiers are fighting everywhere with desperate courage is taken to show that the morale of the army is unimpaired.

It is contended that as long as this is the case the Roumanians may yet turn the tables, as did the allies on the Marne in 1914, the situation then having many of the general features of the present position of Roumania. Co-operation is also expressed that reinforcements from the Roumanian northern army and the Russians soon must arrive for the aid of the threatened armies in the south. The sudden rise in the Danube in consequence of the thaw also is regarded as a factor which may prove very awkward for the Germans.

Some of the comment even approaches optimism, it being contended that the Germans, in their haste to conquer Roumania, have actually weakened themselves thru the necessity of drawing men from other fronts for the Roumanian campaign.
