FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL

(Furnished by D. C. Clinch, Banker & Broker, Sept. 18th.)

N. Y. FINANCIAL BUREAU.

The general decline should culminate tomorrow. All irregularly not to disappear until tomorrow. Another volume day of trading like that of yesterday would indicate the end of the movement or set-back in the list as a whole.

Technical speaking, the technique is much improved now. That the list is rallying power was shown yesterday noon, but as suggested then, purchases on the heavy side should be made but for time temporarily, owing to the unsettled fluctuations.

In buying selected issues today we would use the stop order and not refuse fair profits on recoveries. Sales for turns should be made more cautiously now in view of the ten point drop in some issues. So long as stock is met on rallies liquidation will be permitted to run and recoveries will not hold their fullness. The attitude of neutrality therefore should be continued until the scale down support is converted into decisive limits following lowering of the buying orders reported in the last day or two. We are not in a bear market, but are experiencing a logical set-back which is intensified by the fact that was too long delayed. Most important this a. m. is a statement on the first page of Journal of Commerce to the effect that Morgan-Hill relations are being subjected to a modification and that closer work between the Harriman and Morgan people is indicative of Hill being "left out in the cold," which is offered as an explanation of the weakness of Hill stocks. We expect to see this story decided during the day. There is no reason for believing that the three men are not working in harmony, but Hill is still strong in the esteem of Morgan though we have understood for some time that the latter had "taken off his hat to Harriman."

We also expect to see Bryan's statement that the U. S. Steel Co. is financing Taft denied during the day. The market is in a Bryan case. It is discounting his speech here to-day to some extent. There is controversy for the moment and it is to be looked for this morning. At same time we would cover short contracts on the breaks now and short values is to be able to scalp a profit on the long side before the close by buying the leading actives when very weak. We expect to see a short covering rally, but proportions this afternoon. We would not wait for too large profits on the long side, however, as the market will be very feverish during the trading today and tomorrow, and we would not be surprised to see tomorrow bring even lower prices than those that we think will be recorded today.

The important inside interests are not disposed as yet to offer aggressive support, and it is possible that there is some defection among their ranks. We do not look for any important outside buying unless the market should react very materially, for the reason that the general business and crop prospects, together with railroad earnings, and the div. out-ers are not calculated to impress outsiders with confidence in the stability of values. We expect to see marked weakness in N. Y. C. Smelters, Copper, Steel Eries and leading rails. There is said to be something overhanging the market from abroad.

New York.—The break in yesterday's market is attributed to political events. The natural course of speculative events the effect of Bryan's speeches today should be discounted before they are delivered. However, the London market is mixed. U. P. and S. P. being lower, while U. S. Steel, L. N. St. Paul and a number of other actives are higher. The market has now had a very considerable reaction, and it would seem to us to be the part of wisdom to at least be conservative about short sales at this level.

E. C. RANDOLPH.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, Sept. 18.—There was a brisk recovery in prices shown in the opening transactions in stocks, gain of 1/2 to 3/4, and general in all of the most active issues. A sprinkling of declines was amongst stocks of secondary importance for most part. Prices were inclined to reach after the opening.
