SOLDIER AND WIFE ON ARMY TRANSPORT

Woman Clad as a "Sammy" Found After Three Days
on Trip to France

Comes Back a Prisoner—Corporal Said to Have Brought His Bride All the Way From Arizona

An Atlantic Port, July 18.—A young woman attired in khaki and with her black hair cut short returned to the United States this week as a military prisoner after an unsuccessful attempt to pass as an American soldier. The woman is said to be the bride of a corporal who, having been married just before the first American army left for France, smuggled his wife aboard the vessel.

The woman left America with a regiment from Douglas, Ariz. The name of the pseudo-soldier was withheld. The corporal is said to have got his bride past the embarkation officers as a member of his squad. With her dark hair clipped short and somewhat masculine features it was difficult to detect her identity.

It was learned that the woman stowed away for three days after the transport sailed, and was discovered by the army surgeon when the corporal's squad, with others belonging to the same company, were paraded on the after deck to have their throats examined. Early the same morning there had been rumors current among the soldiers and members of the crew of the transport that a woman had stowed away on board disguised as a soldier. The surgeons were notified in this and requested the commanding officers of the two regiments on the ship to keep a strict lookout.

As soon as the woman was detected she was placed under guard in one of the after-deck cabins, and no one was allowed to communicate with her. The woman will not be released until the federal authorities have decided what to do with her. It could not be ascertained whether the fictitious soldier would be sent back to Douglas, or whether she would be punished for impersonating a soldier and stowing away on the transport.

Army officers said that they could not understand how the disguised woman traveled with the regiment from Arizona and was billeted for several days in the barracks at the port whence the transport sailed. It was evident, they said, that all members of the corporal's squad must have been in the secret and assisted in screening her from detection.

MINE OWNER, WIFE AND SON MURDERED

E. I. Humphries of Philadelphia and Family Shot While Automobile

Business Partner in Jail—George Tomkins, Jr., Lone Survivor of Party, Tells of Attack by Masked Men

Carrolltown, Penn., July 18.—Edmund I. Humphries, forty years old, of Philadelphia, general manager and part owner of the Newborn Coal Company, his wife, forty-five years old, and their son, Edmund, Jr., ten years old, were shot to death at a lonely spot on the Carrolltown road just after they had left this place in their automobile for a trip to Philadelphia.

George Tomkins, Jr., of Philadelphia, formerly well known as an automobile racer, but lately a partner of Mr. Humphries in the coal mining venture, was a fourth occupant of the motor car. Unharmed by the volley of bullets that killed the Humphries family, he carried the bodies of Mrs. Humphries and her son were found alongside the road where the automobile had turned about. Investigation showed that Mrs. Humphries had been shot behind the ear, the bullet penetrating her brain, and that the bullet bore powder stains.

This caused the authorities to assert that the bullet which killed her could not have been fired from so great a distance as was asserted by Tomkins. The boy had been shot in the face. The marks of powder burns were plainly evident, the coroner said.

Partners in Coal Mines.
Humphries, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Humphries of Philadelphia, was until three months ago employed in an executive capacity by the Thompson Fuller Automobile Company, 2041 Market street, that city. Before that connection he was a mine foreman in this section. He was well known and highly respected. With his wife and son, he has been living at the St. Lawrence Hotel, in Carrolltown.

Tomkins, until three months ago, was an employee of the Thompson Fuller Automobile Company of Philadelphia as foreman of the machine shop.

Tomkins, who had been a racing automobile driver, took his winnings when the big boom in coal came a few months ago, and, with Humphries, who was an experienced coal man, went into partnership in coal mines in this section.

To Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn to the friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effective as the softening effects of sun, wind, dust and dirt. The way is to freckles, withered, discolored, dry, cracked, and generally beautiful skin, clear, soft and glistening. It is the best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulled coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

daughters in these days of their too great freedom.

Can any frivolous, bridge-playing mother among our readers scan these lines without a pang of conscience and a resolve to make a friend and companion of her daughter and to instill in her young heart that love of home which in after life will prove such a safeguard to her, let the bride prices fall where they may?
