Stories from New Brunswick

(Toronto Globe).

A certain local character in a New Brunswick village whose statements were often more emphatic than truthful was once a witness in a petty trial involving the ownership of an auger, and positively identified it as the property of one of the parties to the suit.

"Do you swear that you know this auger?" asked the attorney for the other side.

"Yes, sir."

"How long have you known it?" continued the cross-examiner.

"I have known that auger," said the witness in an impressive tone, "ever since it was a gimlet."

In New Brunswick and other Canadian provinces when a wife deserts her husband he frequently publishes a notice like this in the local papers:

"Whereas my wife has left my bed and board without just cause, etc., I will be responsible for no bills of her contracting etc."

An old fellow who had been deserted by his spouse once came to a lawyer to have such a notice prepared.

The attorney began writing the notice in the stereotyped form, reading as he wrote: "Whereas my wife Emily has left my bed."

"Hold on," interrupted the client: "It was her bed and she took it with her."

Some years ago a certain candidate, a relative of one of the present New Brunswick senators, was running for the house of assembly of that province. One canvasser against him was that he was an infidel; and in the course of his nomination speech an opponent who possessed a rather shady business reputation, shouted: "You don't believe there is a God."

"Do you, Mr. B.?" asked the candidate.

"Of course I do," replied his opponent.

"Then why have you served the devil all your life?"

W. G. Smith, one of the retail buyers, and R. M. Smith, of the wholesale buying staff of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., left last night for Quebec. They will sail for the European markets.

Daily Hints
For the Cook*RHUBARB WINE.

It must be made when the rhubarb is quite ripe. Into 1 gallon of boiling rain water cut 8 pounds of rhubarb in thin slices, put into a tub and cover closely with a thick cloth or blanket. Stir twice daily for a week, then strain through a cloth and add 4 pounds of preserving loaf sugar, the juice of 2 lemons and rind of 1. To refine it take an ounce of singles and dissolve it in a pint of the liquor in a china lined saucepan. When quite cold add it to the rest of the wine and cork it. When the fermentation is over bung it down.

COTTAGE PUDDING WITH STRAWBERRY SAUCE.

Two eggs, one cup sugar, one cup sweet milk, scant 1/2 cup melted butter, two cups flour sifted with 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract. Serve hot with strawberry or chocolate sauce.

Strawberry sauce—Mash strawberries with powdered sugar and let stand one hour or more till there is considerable juice. Pour over pudding when served.

Hot chocolate sauce—One-half cup grated chocolate, one cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, one cup hot water. Cook till thick as heavy cream. Pour over cake when served.

Thimbleberries or raspberries mashed with sugar make a nice sauce also.

LUNCHEON MENUS FOR A HOT DAY

1—Cream of green corn soup, rolled fried bread, cold sliced boiled meat, rolls, pear toast, iced coffee.

2—Meat roll, olive sandwiches, fruit, floating island in glass cups, iced tea.

3—Escalloped vegetables, potato sliced thin, baking powder biscuits, peach cake.

4—Pressed chicken, bread and butter sandwiches, cottage cheese, baked pears served with plain cream, sponge cake, Russian tea.

5—Creamed boiled eggs on toasted bread, sliced tomatoes, peach whip on lady fingers, iced tea.

6—Left-over lamb reheated and sliced, sweet green peppers and tomatoes, crisped raised rolls (re-heated), iced grape juice.

BLUEBERRY CAKE.

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1/4 cup melted butter, 2 cups flour, sifted, with 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 cup blueberries.

Recital Enjoyed

The organ recital given in the Queen Square Methodist church last night by Miss F. Hilda Hawker, assisted by Miss Lennie Luby, of Amherst, and Miss Reta Brennan, of this city, was very largely attended. These young ladies are members of this year's Mount Allison graduating class, and their excellent work last night was warmly applauded. Miss Hawker played several pleasing selections on the organ, and Miss Luby's violin selections were also well received. Miss Brennan has a singularly flexible voice which is correspondingly sweet and clear, and all of her solos were well rendered. They will assist the choir of the Queen Square Methodist church at the evening service on Sunday.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THERE is one weakness that it seems to me if I were training a child, I should try to help him to grow up without—and that is the weakness of inaccurate statement.

The famous Dr. Johnson is reported to have said: "If the child says he looked out of this window when he looked out of that—whip him." I certainly should not advise any such strenuous measures as that, but I do think it is a good thing to make a decided effort to teach a child the habit of accurate and exact statement.

Teach him not to be specific unless he can be accurate; not to say, "I walked four miles," or "I came home at five o'clock," unless it was exactly four miles or five o'clock.

Teach him if he is only speaking broadly to say "about," or "somewhere near," or any word or expression that denotes approximately.

And, above all things, try to keep him from acquiring that painfully prevalent, sloped habit of exaggeration.

The famous boy who told his father he had seen "about a hundred cats scurrying down in our cellar," and then admitted, after a few searching questions, that after all, he was only sure of "our cat and another one," has altogether too many prototypes not only in boy life, but also among grown-ups.

How many people's statements you take with a grain of salt!

"She told me she cleaned every closet and every drawer and cupboard in the house, and changed the paper on all the shelves, and washed all the china yesterday, but I don't believe her."

"He says he is getting just twice as much money as he was last year at this time, but I guess if you take ten dollars off of that you will get nearer the truth."

I hate exaggeration.

It is so foolish as if you have the habit of exaggeration people will soon find you out, and then in self-defense will acquire a compensatory habit of deducting from your statements. Often they will deduct more than they ought. So everyone knows.

"It is vinegar to the eyes," says Emerson, "to deal with men of loose and imperfect perceptions."

That means exaggeration and inaccuracy, among other things.

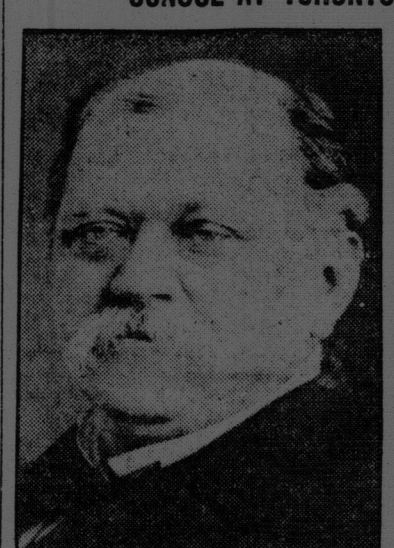

Train your children to accuracy of thought and observation and statement, and you will have given them an equipment that will prove most valuable in all the relations of life.

TRADE WITH OUR NEW SISTER

(Hardware and Metal, Toronto).

Now that the British colonies in South Africa have formed a confederation similar to that consummated by the British Colonies in North America forty-three years ago, it is not too much to hope that between these two "Dominions beyond the Seas," a trade and commerce of important and lasting proportions may develop.

There is no sound reason why such should not be. They are buyers of that which we are sellers of and vice versa. Lack of enterprise is the only thing that can prevent it.

The nucleus of a great trade has already been laid and particularly that appertaining to our exports to South Africa, we selling last year $1,679,733 worth of merchandise and in return buying from them $801,190 worth.

Our chief article of export to South Africa is wheat flour, of which we send approximately a million dollars' worth. Agricultural implements, iron, steel and metals came in for $135,787; paper $125,646; wood and manufactures of $115,836; automobiles and other vehicles, $82,652; fruits $22,683; cotton and manufactures of $2,810; leather and manufactures of $4,567; condensed milk, $12,715; provision, $34,224.

Sugar makes up the largest part of our imports from South Africa, the quantity received last year being 3,817,292 lbs. valued at $829,239, which, by the way, was the first sugar we imported from that part of the British Empire since 1868. Without sugar our imports are small indeed. In 1907 and 1908, during which we imported no sugar from South Africa, the total amount of our imports was $28,222 and $32,193 respectively.

Next to sugar our chief article of import from South Africa is wool, of which we bring in a little over $20,000 worth. Hides and skins and breadstuffs come next at $8,680 and $7,409 respectively.

Three years ago Canada subsidized to the amount of $160,000 annually a line of steamers between Canada and South Africa. The service is monthly and sails from St. John and Halifax the winter and from Montreal in the summer. So far the subsidy cannot be said to have any appreciable effect on the total volume of trade between the two countries.

But subsidies alone will not develop trade. They only provide the transportation. The development of trade depends upon the ability and enterprise of the business men engaged in it. There are indications that these factors are at work.

A man pleases himself when he can and a woman when she must.

The members of the St. John High School team attended an informal dinner at White's restaurant, King street, last night. William Walsh, captain of the team, presided, and after dinner an interesting musical and literary programme was carried out. The affair broke up soon before midnight.

A "Cravenette" costume is such a comfort, especially to the woman who must be out every day, rain or shine!

If it turns out fine, is just as handsome and dressy as any other dress goods—and just as comfortable, too.

If the rain does catch you, you needn't worry about yourself or your costume. "Cravenette" will keep you perfectly dry, and the rain will neither wet nor spot it.

You can get "Cravenette" in the latest shades and mixtures. But be sure you get the genuine "Cravenette", with the Registered Trade-mark stamped on the back of every yard.

Further particulars can be obtained from The Cravenette Co. Limited, 89 Wall Street, Bradford, England.
