MUST HAVE PERMIT TO OWN FIREARMS

(Special to The Times)

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 15.—Recent prosecutions are driving home to Canadians that permits are necessary for having possession as well as for carrying explosive weapons, revolvers, air rifles and silencers.

There is one exception, however, to the prohibitory legislation with regard to owning a shot gun, possession of which was obtained before July 1, 1920 by any British subject. If it were obtained later than that date a permit may be secured by almost any judicial officer, including police, justices of the peace, and issuers of hunting licenses.

$8,000 be voted for fire hydrants in the district.

Mr. O'Brien's motion to authorize a bond issue of $8,891 for Lancaster sewerage was passed. The meeting adjourned until 2.30 p. m.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "they are preparing a reception for you in Fairville." "Hot or cold?" queried Hiram. "Warm and friendly," said the reporter. "You did them a service. The post office clock is going again. It started the day after you told me of the disappearance and prolonged absence of the clock-smith and the people are now waiting to tell exactly when to take their medicine. As it is under two per cent they must take it frequently and according to prescription."
