

R. R. CONDUCTOR OUT WITH FACTS

Suffered From Indigestion and Rheumatism—Found
No Relief Until He Took Tanlac.

One of the most noteworthy features in connection with the introduction of Tanlac in Canada has been the large number of railroad men who have been benefited by its use. Prominent departmental officials, conductors, engineers, office clerks, in fact, men representing practically every branch of the service, have reported that they have used Tanlac with the most surprising and gratifying results.

One of the latest to testify is Charles McDonald, residing at 885 Stella avenue, Winnipeg. Mr. McDonald has been a conductor on the Canadian Pacific railroad for a number of years and is popular with all who know him.

"Not in years," said Mr. McDonald, "in a conversational manner, have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac. Before taking it I was suffering, and had been for several years, with stomach trouble, indigestion and rheumatism. I had no appetite at all and my stomach was in such a bad condition that I could not eat as much in a week as a child can eat in one day. I was told I had acute indigestion but no medicine gave me any relief. There was a terrible hurting in my stomach all the time and after what little I did manage to eat my chest and throat would fill up so with sour gas that I could hardly get a good breath, and my heart would palpitate so from the pressure of this gas that it felt like it would jump out of my body. I came home from work one day in such a bad condition that I really thought I was going to die. I suffered almost continuously with an awful pain across my kidneys and in my shoulders and left arm, and the pain in that arm was so bad sometimes I could hardly use it. I felt tired and worn-out all the time and had no life or energy.

"One day a friend put me onto Tanlac and I had not taken more than half of the first bottle until my appetite was so good that I could get up in the night and eat a hearty meal. I can now eat just anything I want at any time, and never suffer a particle with gas, sour stomach, shortness of breath or palpitation. There's not a sign of soreness in my back any more and the rheumatism has left my shoulders and arm entirely. I sleep like a rock at night and get up in the morning feeling fine and brimful of new life and energy. I've picked up several pounds in weight and have never felt better in my life. I don't hesitate to recommend Tanlac now for I believe I am telling the people about a medicine that will help them."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by the Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. (Adv't.)

Prefers Hell to Walvis

London, Sept. 30.—Walvis, on the coast of Southwest Africa, is said to be the sandiest place in the world. A writer to a local paper finishes his description of Walvis thus: "Some one who had only been in Walvis for a few days was asked on his return home, 'What do you think of it?' His reply was: 'If I owned hell and Walvis and had to sell one of them, I would sell Walvis.'"

10 Per Cent. of Mutuels

Paris, Sept. 30.—The followers of the racing game are finding it a little harder than ever to "beat the game" in France this season. The pari-mutuels are paying 2 per cent. less than they did in pre-war days. Instead of taking only 8 per cent. fewer of the total wagered the officials are deducting 10 per cent. on all tracks where the mutual system is used.

PRINCE OF WALES MET FRIENDS OF PETTICOAT DAYS

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 25.—The Prince of Wales met three old Scots Guards in his petticoat infancy, Sgt. J. MacKenzie, Pte. T. Watson and Pte. P. Connolly. All were six footers, imposing in the red coats and kilts of the 50th Gordon Highlanders.

All were veterans of this last war and other wars.

Sgt. MacKenzie in 1894 had the honor of being included in the well-known photograph of four generations of British Royalty, the late Queen Victoria, the late King Edward, the present King and the Prince of Wales.

"Many times I saw him carried on the east terrace of Windsor Castle," declared Sgt. MacKenzie. "A pretty little baby he was too, in his long clothes."

"This is the first time he has saluted me," said Pte. Connolly, "it was the reverse in the old days. I always had to present arms when I saw him coming along, and I remember well how his nurse used to make him pull off his little cap and return the salute."

The Prince was very interested at meeting these three veterans, altogether over 80 men who had seen service in one or other of the Guards Regiments were present to see the Prince.

The beautiful lawns of the Parliament Buildings and Government stairs were crowded with people to witness the civic reception of the Prince. A day of glorious sunshine favored the event, blue-jacketed cadets, red-coated mounted police, nurses in white caps and aprons, Gordon Highlanders, flower girls and Daughters of the Empire grouped round the fountain in the middle all carrying Union Jacks, made the scene from the buildings one full of color. A group of school children waved flags and cheered without ceasing.

Premier John Oliver and Mayor Porter read provincial and civic addresses from the steps of the Parliament buildings, to which the Prince replied.

After inspecting the veterans he walked across the lawn, laid the foundation stone of the Victoria Memorial Statue, during the process he was simply plastered with flowers, which made a carpet for him on his return trip.

Just as he was descending the steps a little girl stepped up with a white Pomeranian dog in her arms which she presented him, telling him she had collected $200 for the G. W. V. A. The Prince seemed so interested that she gave him a big photograph of the dog, which he accepted, gravely shaking her hand.

Later the Prince held a reception in the Legislative Chambers, a sober, dignified room where it seemed somewhat incongruous to hear the orchestra playing "Johnnies in Town" and other dance ditties.

The Victoria people certainly did themselves proud with their bows and curtsies. There was a dignity and a qualified correctness about their observance. The Prince did not shake hands, but merely saluted.

ARRANGEMENTS FINALLY MADE FOR UNVEILING

The quarterly meeting of the Municipal Chapter of the I. O. D. E. held yesterday afternoon in the government rooms with the regent, Mrs. Hugh MacKay, presiding, was a most auspicious one. The order in making final arrangements for the unveiling of its memorial to fallen soldiers which will take place in Fernhill cemetery this afternoon expressed much gratification that this should be the first result of the co-operation of the various chapters in the city. A communication was received from the Duke of Rothesay Chapter in which that chapter asked to be allowed to contribute its share towards the memorial and the offer was accepted with thanks.

As a second most estimable work in which the order will act as a unit, it was decided to appoint a convener and committee to canvass the district in which it is located. In all it is expected that about forty or fifty women will canvass the women of the city under the direction of the chapters.

The meeting declared in favor of helping the Navy League campaign in any way in which the general committee of the campaign should think most desirable. Different chapters were willing to undertake different kinds of work.

Communications regarding the educational campaign of the order were received from Ottawa and Fredericton. In compliance with the wishes expressed it was decided to take no action on the educational programme until the quarterly meeting of the provincial chapter to be held in Montreal in October.

OUTRIVALS THOSE FROM THE COLD STORAGE PLANTS.

Amherst, Sept. 30.—Prof. F. B. Loomis of Amherst College has returned from his geological trip to Nebraska and Colorado with a valuable collection of fossils for the museum. His most valuable find is a complete skeleton of the mison horse, the second that has ever been found.

His collection includes also forty skulls, two other complete skeletons and 179 lots of bone.

In a sand pocket three feet wide and six feet deep filled with fossils, he found an egg 1,000,000 years old, the complete skeleton of an early camel four feet high and a giraffe cuneid with long legs and neck standing sixteen feet high. Specimens of deer fossils were secured.

The professor was accompanied by J. W. Harlow and left June 30, making the tour in an automobile and camping out each night.

$2.50 in Liquor Fines

Cardiff, Sept. 30.—Fines amounting to $2,500 were imposed for selling liquor at more than the controlled price at the Royal Agricultural Show. The defense was that after the first day of the fair, when nearly 10,000 glasses were broken, the prices had to be increased, or the firm would have suffered loss.

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

Frederick S. Kelle, M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who" says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 3-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply—it costs only fifty cents a box.

Eat less; chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

It is sold by the Ross Drug Co., in St. John and all good druggists.

WOODEN HOUSES NOW.

London, Sept. 30.—The hopelessness of the quest for living accommodations has driven the authorities to sanction wooden houses and the health minister is now busy making regulations for their erection.

It is contended they are much easier and cheaper to build than the other types. This view is supported by the Daily News, with an illustration of a six-room mill-cut home, which has withstood every test in British Columbia. At least General Wade has on behalf of a Canadian timber firm offered the health ministry a sample wooden house suitable for British needs and the offer has been accepted.

Dublin, Sept. 30.—Ivagh House, which accommodated 300 men at 18 cents a night each, is closed on account of labor troubles.

Overdoing

How Women Break Down

Owing to the modern manner of living and the nervous haste of every woman to accomplish just so much each day, they overdo, and as a consequence develop ailments peculiar to their sex, as is indicated by backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, displacements and weakness.

Women who find themselves in this condition should slow down, and depend upon that good old fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to restore them to health and strength, for there is no other remedy known that so quickly restores a healthy, normal condition.

Here is the Story of a Most Remarkable Recovery

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night, and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old, and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so imitable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from me, so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."
