MADAME X DRAWS WELL AT OPERA HOUSE

Strong Drama, Presented by Miss Adelaide French and Good Company, Opens Engagement

Miss Adelaide French and her company of excellent players, presented Madame X, a drama in a prologue and three acts, to a large and enthusiastic audience at the Opera House last night. Miss French sustained her well merited honors as an actress and in her portrayal of Madame X—a character requiring ability and careful and painstaking study, brought forth rounds of applause.

She is supported by a well balanced company. The story is an old one with new settings. A wronged husband and father refusing the plea of his penitent wife, turns her from his door, after which no trace of her can be found. In her wanderings she becomes addicted to the use of drugs and in her semi-conscious condition, tells part of her life story to a friend, an adventurer. The development of the plot leads to a shooting by Jacqueline (Miss French). At the trial her own son, defends her, though he does not know she is his mother, being known as Madame X. The play then works out to a very dramatic conclusion. The company is a large one, the cast very strong and the play was presented well. It will be repeated to-night.

STRIKE IN SPAIN IS NOT PROGRESSING

Madrid, Sept. 22.—The general strike which began yesterday appeared last night to be even a greater failure than the authorities thought it would be. Only a few workmen have gone out in Madrid, and such despatches as have been received here from the provinces show that not only have no new strikes broken out, but that many of those in operation elsewhere have been stopped by the men's leaders. It is announced that the royal family will return to San Sebastian on Monday.

GERMANS RESENT THE CRITICISM OF THEIR FINANCIAL CONDITION

Berlin, Sept. 21.—The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, in calling attention to reports abroad derogatory to German financial conditions, says that the recent break in prices in German stock markets was merely a repetition of what had gone before at Paris, London and New York, and that the prices here already have for the most part recovered. It says also that the withdrawals from savings banks have been exaggerated, only a few millions having been so withdrawn.

The soundness of the financial position of Germany, says the paper, has been adequately demonstrated by the fact that foreign balances held in Germany, which were estimated at nearly $90,000,000 marks at the beginning of the year, have been repaid to a small balance, without causing any flurry whatever. Moreover, this money was repaid not because the foreign lenders recalled it, but because the loans here matured. "It is expected," continued the paper, "that the September settlement in Berlin will be more difficult than usual."

SEPTEMBER ROD AND GUN
The large and ever growing army of game birds hunters will find ample variety in stores dealing with their favorite recreation in the September issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario, From Newfoundland, to British Columbia is a wide range and all is included in this one number, the differences in the sport enjoyed in the various provinces, being pleasantly conveyed in a series of stories dealing with actual occurrences in the field. Further variety is given by a finely illustrated story of the Cruise of the Papoose, a camping story, and some excellent verses. Geese, ducks and prairie chickens afford the very best of sport and their devotees tell of the complete enjoyment experienced in a way to make their confederates resolve to make similar trips with the same object in view. Wing shooting is a sportsmanlike occupation and with only fair conservation there should be ample opportunity for all sportsmen in Canada to enjoy some of this fine recreation for an indefinite time to come. A more interesting number of this fine magazine it is declared has never been issued.

HOW TO LIVE.

"How to die" is not half so religious a question as "How to live. The man who lives with a clear conscience will die happily and without fear. The problem of life is living, not dying. Life is the most natural gift of the Creator, for He gave man life by breathing into him the breath of life. He wants us to live long and live well. I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."—John Timothy Stone.

NO WORK LOST.

You are disappointed. Do you remember if you lose heart about your work, that none of it is lost? The good of every deed remains, and breeds, and works on forever; all that fails and is lost is the outside shell of the thing, which perhaps might have been better done, but better or worse has nothing to do with the real spiritual good which you have done to man's hearts.—Charles Kingsley.

VERY LIKELY

"I saw you hugging Daisy on the beach last night, but it's all right, old man, I've hugged her myself."

"I reckon she considers us members of the associated press."
