THE PREMIER'S FIRST

SESSIONAL SPEECH. All Canadians, irrespective of party or political affiliations, will be delighted to learn that Sir Wilfrid Laurier enters | Tory hives which insist upon returnupon his labors as leader of the House irg members to Parliament who have of Commons in most excellent health. The session promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of Parliamentary government in Canada. The opposition has evidently fully made up its mind, notwithstanding something to the contrary emanating from leading Conservative newspapers, that the session will be the last of the present Parliament. It is justified in its assumption from the policy of governments in the past, both Conservative and Liberal. The administration of the late Hon. Alexander Mackenzie served its full term of five years, and was defeated at the general elections following the dissolution of the House which supported it. During the eighteen years of power of the government which followed only once was the life of a Parliament prolonged for the full five years, and that was because of dread of the verdict of the people. The Mr. Foster should not accompany Mr. of steadily increasing taxation and surmost prominent terrorists were educative of the people. the country under the leadership of Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., was also defeated. So it is apparent there is substantial ground for the belief entertained by Mr. Borden and his following. Realizing that there are excelent reasons for the belief they entertain, the members of the Conservative party will make the most of such opportunities as the present session will present. The opening debates do not indicate that they will make much headway in their almost hopeless task of convincing the electorate that any good purpose would be served by turncountry has made such wonderful progress and substituting therefor a party which has neither a clearly defacts.
