Daughter Suffered from | Doctors Failed to Benefit,

FAITHFUL TO GOD. A Timely Sermon by Rev. Dr. Talmage.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 .- This discourse of Dr. Talmage is appropriate for all seasons, but especially in these times of great political agitation. The text is Daniel vi., 16, "Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of the lions." Darius was king of Babylon, and the young man Daniel was so much a fav-orite with him that he made him prime minister, or secretary of state. But no man could gain such a high position without exciting the envy and jealousy of the people. There were demagogues in Babylon who were so appreciative of their own abilities that they were affronted at the elevation of this young man. Old Babylon was afraid of young Babylon. The taller the cedar the more apt it is to be niven of the lightning. These demagogues asked the king to make a decree that anybody that made a petition to any one except the king during a period of 30 days should be put to death. King Darius, not suspecting any foul play, makes that decree. The demagogues have accomplished all they want, because they know that no one can keep Daniel from sending petitions before God for 30 days.

So far from being afraid Daniel goes on with his supplications three times a day and is found on his housetop making prayer He is caught in the act. He is condemned to be devoured by the lions. Rough executioners of the law seize him and hasten him to the cavern. I hear the growl of the wild beasts, and I see them pawing the dust, and as they put their mouths to the ground the solid earth quakes with their bellowing. I see their eyes roll, and I almost hear the flery eyeballs snap in the darkness. These monsters approach Daniel. They have an appetite keen with hunger. With one stroke of their paw or one snatch of their teeth they may leave him dead at the bottom of the cavern. But what a strange welcome Daniel receives from these hungry monsters. They fawn around him; they lick his hand; they bury his feet in their long manes. That night he has calm sleep with his head pillowed on the warm neck of the tamed lions.

But not so well does Darius, the king, sleep. He has an attack of terrific insomnia. He loves Daniel and hates this stratagem by which he has been condemned. All night long the king walks the floor. He cannot sleep. At the least sound he starts, and his flesh creeps with horror. He is impatient for the dawning of the morning. At the first streak of the daylight Darius hastens forth to see the fate of Daniel. The heavy palace doors open and clang long before the reople of the city awaken. Darius goes to the den of the lions. He looks in. All is silent. His heart stops. He feels that the very worst has happened; but, gathering all his strength, he shouts

CATARRHOZ JNE CURED Mrs. R. E. Monsell of Hickey, Michigan, writes: "Our little daughter of 8 years was a great sufferer from brouchtits, and slight changes in the weather brought on severe attacks. Our doctor was consulted and prescribed different bottles of medicine, but none of them semed to afford more than temporary relief. We then tried a host of so-called cures, but they all turned out worthless. After so much useless ex-pense with doctors and fraudulent prepara-tions we were at our wits' end to know what to do. A neighbor who had been cured by "Catarthozone" sent in her inhaler to try, and it was so pleasant to use and gave such immediate relief that a complete outfit was at once ordered. After using it but a short time the bronchist trouble disappeared, and weather-something unthought of before using Catarrhozone. We recommend Gtarthozone as a peerless remedy for bron-chitis and colds." ligion of the Lord he would be hurled to the lions; but, having set his com-pass well, he sailed right on. For the lack of that element of decision of character so eminent in Daniel many en are ruined for this world and runed for the world to come. A great iny at 40 years of age are not settied in any respect, because they have not been able to make up their minds. Perhaps they will go west; perhaps they will go east; perhaps they will not; perhaps they will go north; perhaps they will go south; perhaps they will not; perhaps they may make this investment in real estate or in railroads; perhaps they will not. They are like a steamer that should go out of New York harbor starting for Glas-Catarrhozone, Ozonated Air Cure, is a new, scientific method of treatment that cures these diseases by the action of medi-cated air, which, when inhaled, spreads to all portions of the lungs, bronchial tubes, and meal passages, where it kills the geim life. It is magnificent while standing firm, but loses all its beauty in flight. How much decision of character in order that these young men may be Christians! Their old associates make sarcastic flings at them. They go on excursions. and they do not invite them. They prophesy that he will give out. They wonder if he is not getting wings. As he passes they grimace and wink and chuckle and say, "There goes a saint." O young men, have decision of character! You can afford in this matter of religion to be laughed at. What do you care for the scoffs of these men. who are affronted because you will not go to ruin with them? When the grave cracks open under their feet, and grim messengers push them into it, and eternity comes down hard upon their spirit, and conscience stings, and hopeess ruin lifts them up to hurl them down, will they laugh then? I learn also from my subject that nen may take religion into their worldly business. This is a most appropriate thought at this season of the year. when so many men are starting out in new enterprises. Daniel had enough work to do to occupy six men. All the affairs of state were in his hands; questions of finance, questions of war, questions of peace; all international questions were for his settlement of adjustment. He must have had a con respondence vast beyond all computation. There was not a man in all the earth who had more to do than Daniel the secretary of state, and yet we find him three times a day bowing before God in prayer. There are men in our men as eminent in the service of God as they have been eminent in the service of the state. Such was Benjamin F. Butler, attorney general of New York in the time of your fathers. Such was John McLean of the supreme court of the United States. Such was George Briggs of Massachusetts. Such was Theodore Frelinghuysen of New Jersey-men faithful to the state, at the same time faithful to God. It is absurd to expect that men who have been immersed in political wickedness for 30 or 40 years shall come to reformation, and our hope is in the young men who are coming up, that they have patriotic principle and Christian principle side by side when they come to the ballot box and cast their first vote and that they swear allegiance to the government of heaven as well as to the government of the United States. We would have Bunker Hill mean less to them than Calvary, and Lexington mean less to them than Bethlehem, but because they are bad men around the ballot box is no reason why Christian men should retreat from the arena. The last time you ought to give up your child or forsake your child is when it is surrounded by a company of Choctaws, and the last time to surrender the ballot box is when it is surrounded by impurity and dishonesty and all sorts of wickedness.

RELIGION IN POLITICS.

Daniel stood on a most unpopular day who have not a hundredth part of through the rifts of the rock, "O Dan- Daniel's engagements who say they platform. He stood firmly, though the demagogues of the day hissed at him are too busy to be religious. They have an idea somehow that religion and tried to overthrow him. We must will spoil their worldly occupation, carry our religion into our politics. But there are a great many men who that it will trip the accountant's pen or dull the carpenter's saw, or confuse are in favor of taking religion into nathe lawyer's brief, or disarrange the tional politics who do not see the immerchant's store shelf. They think reportance of taking it into city politics, as though a man were intelligent about ligion is impertinent. No man ever got into worse comder the didactic discourse, or they would like to leave it in the pew on pany than Daniel got into when he was thrown into the den. What a rare Sabbath evening as they go out, closing the door, saying, "Good night, remorsel that fair young man would ligion, I'll be back next Sunday!" But have been for the hungry monsters! If they had plunged at him, he could to have religion go right along by them not have climbed into a niche beyond all through life, to have religion lookthe reach of their paw or the snatch ing over their shoulder when they are of their teeth. They came, pleased, making a bargain, to have religion all around him, as hunters' hounds at take up a bag of dishonest gold and the well known whistle come bounding shake it and say, "Where did you get to his feet. You need not go to Nuthat?" They think that is an impertmidia to get many lions. You all have inent religion. They would like to have a religion to help them when they are them after you-the lion of financial distress, the lion of sickness, the lion sick, and when the shadow of death of persecution. iel, is thy God whom thou servest continually able to deliver thee?" There comes rolling up the deep darkness a voice which says: "O king, live forever. My God has sent his angel to shut the lions' mouths that they have not hurt me." Then Daniel is brought out from the den. The demagogues are hurled into it, and no sooner have they struck the bottom of the den than their flesh was rent, and their bones cracked, and their blood spurted through the rifts of the rock, and as the lions made the rocks tremble with their roar they announced to all ages that while God will defend his people the way of the ungodly shall berish. DANIEL'S GREATEST OFFENSE.

Learn first from this subject that the greatest crime that you commit in the eyes of many is the crime of success. What had Daniel done that he should be flung to the lions? He had become prime minister. They could not forgive him for that, and behold in that a touch of unsanctified human nature as seen in all ages of the world. So long as you are pinched in poverty, so long as you are running the gauntlet between landlord and tax gatherer, so long as you find it hard work to educate your children, there are people who will say: "Poor man. I am sorry for him. He ought to succeed, poor man." But after awhile the tide turns in his favor. That was a profitable investment you made. You bought just at the right time. Fortune becomes good humored ' and smiles upon you. Now you are in some department successful, and your success chills some one. Those men who used to sympathize with you stand along the street, and they scowl at you from under the rim of their hats. You have more money or more influence than they have, and you ought to be scowled at from under the rim of their hats. You catch a word or two as you pass by them. "Stuck up," says one. "Got it dishonesty," says another. "Will burst soon," says a third. Every stone in your new house is laid on their hearts. Your horses' hoofs went over their nerves. Every item of your success has been to them an item of discomfiture and despair. Just as soon as in any respect you rise above your fellows, if you are more virtuous, if you are more wise, if you are more influential you cast a shadow on the prospects of others. The road to honor and succes is within reach of the enemy's guns. Jealousy says. "Stay down or. I'll knock you down." "I do not like you,' says the snowflake to the snowbird. "Why don't you like me?" said the snowbird. "Oh," said the snowflake, "you are going up and I am coming down." Young merchants, young lawyers, young doctors, young mechanics, young artists, young farmers, at certain times there are those to sympathize with you, but now that you are becoming a master of your particular occupation or profession, how is it now, young lawyers, young doctors, young artists, young farmers-how is it now? The greatest crime that you can commit is the crime
