COMPULSORY SERVICE BILL NOT LIKELY TO BE ENFORCED UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

Latter Will Probably Be Held During Last Ten Days of September—Much Depends on Action of Unionist Liberals and Western Convention

SOME LEGISLATION NECESSARY BEFORE AN APPEAL TO PEOPLE CAN BE MADE

Will Be Necessary to Take in New Cabinet Members and Also to Complete Arrangements for the Soldiers in France and England Voting

Ottawa, July 19.—With parliament performing the last rites over the conscription bill the question is how soon will the act be endorsed. The answer is necessarily linked up with the fate of proposals for union government. One of the principal terms of Sir Robert Borden's offer of coalition to Sir Wilfrid Laurier was that conscription should not be enforced until the proposed union government had appealed to the country. While not speaking with official sanction or authority, it is understood that this condition remains one of the basic terms of the union offer still held out to pro-conscriptionist Liberals.

GERMANS ADVANCING IN WAVES ARE REPULSED BY THE FRENCH

Teutons After Violent Bombardment Fruitlessly Attack Gen. Petain's Army Northeast of Craonne as Far East as Hurtebise.

Paris, July 19.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads: "The artillery was particularly active today between the Somme and the Aisne. South of St. Quentin a fresh enemy attack, delivered about 1.30 o'clock, against the hillcock of Month-Soubre-Neuville failed miserably. "After a bombardment of extreme violence, lasting the entire day, the Germans attacked our positions from northeast of Craonne as far as east of Hurtebise, sending forward the 21st and 22nd divisions, which engaged at several points in thick waves. The attack was a complete failure on both wings; only in the centre were the Germans able to reach some elements of our first line trenches, where counter-attacks arrested them after they had suffered additional heavy losses. "There was a prolonged enemy bombardment on one side south of Craonne and on the other as far as the region of Cerny, where the German infantry, caught under the fire of our artillery, was not able to debouch. The artillery was active on the left bank of the Meuse. During the days of July 18 and 19, 1,150 shells were thrown into Rheims."

THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS TO BE CALLED

Ottawa, July 19.—When routine work was disposed of in the common today G. W. Kyle, liberal, Richmond, N. S., said he had received a telegram saying that on the south shore of Cape Breton Island there was no coal available, although plenty of fish, and the situation was very bad. Sir George Foster replied that since it had been practically impossible to get private charters to bring over salt, arrangements had been made by the government with the admiralty for vessels coming across to bring salt, which would be put on transports and delivered where needed. Instructions had been given with the intention that importing agents were to get in touch with the local consignment at London so that the necessary arrangements could be made.

THE THEORY OF FIGHTING NOT FORCED ON CANADIAN TROOPS

Major General Maurice Refutes Another Crafty German Assertion—English Troops Do Greatest Part of Fighting as They Form Largest Part of Army

London, July 19.—Summarizing the military operations of the past week, Major-General P. H. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office said today to the Associated Press: "The British front has been noteworthy only for the fact that it has seen the heaviest air fighting in the history of the war, with the losses severest on the German side, and the results generally favorable to the British. On land there was only minor fighting without material change. "On the French front, the Germans are carrying on their policy of using picked troops for local operations aimed at exhausting and harassing the French. The result has been all, and the policy is a confession of their inability to push a wedge between Great Britain and the United States. "As a matter of fact, the greatest part of the fighting since the war began has naturally fallen on the English troops, they are the largest part of the army, and have borne the brunt of the fighting. "The casualty lists show that the English formations have fought just as gallantly and bravely and have lost as heavily as any regiment in the Empire."

This probably constitutes the largest increase of pay ever given employees of the C. G. R. system. The employees affected are those in the general shops and engine houses and the increase applies all over the division. The men asked for twelve hundred men in the Moncton shops are affected by the increase.

The Kronstadt sailors, who were in the rioting here, escaped unharmful by leaving the city in a firm band in the morning. There has been no shooting on the streets for thirty-six hours. In the height of the rioting there were several cases where one faction fired on another group of sympathizers simply because they could not distinguish friend or foe.

WAR AMONG BAKERS IN MONTREAL CITY

Special to The Standard. Montreal, July 19.—A bakers' war seems to be on in Montreal, begun through a peculiar coincidence on Wednesday, the day on which the board of grain supervisors of Canada held its sitting here. One baker capitulated the eleven cent per bushel loss, with but little good grace the others had to follow suit. Today the same baker again threw out another cent. But his competitors today refused to follow his lead, claiming they could not do it as it would mean a dead loss, and claim that the ten-cent loss is an impossibility. Meantime they stand pat, but the rate man's trade is thriving mercly.
