The Question of Water for Your Country Home

In planning your country home nothing is quite so important as the question of water. Formerly it was considered sufficient for the farm or country home to have a hand pump or windmill. But now the hand pump and windmill are as obsolete as the old unsanitary outhouse or chemical toilet.

Empire Duro Water Systems

made in many sizes and styles, enable any home anywhere, to have running water under pressure, all over the house, just like city water service.

Duro systems can be used with deep wells, shallow wells, cisterns or springs. They may be driven from high line current, farm light plant or gasoline engine.

A Duro system is a sound investment—it lessens labor and promotes health and cleanliness. It replaces drudgery and despair with comfort and happiness. And it is also a permanent improvement that adds to the value of your property.

Have your architect or builder ask for an estimate. Specify Duro.

HYMENAL

Blackadar-Banks

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Banks, Torbrook, N. S., on Wednesday evening, July 25th, at 7:30 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Edith Irene, became the bride of Mr. Harry Blackadar, of Melburn, Mass. Rev. J. F. Meisner of Nictaux Church conducted the ceremony.

The bride and groom entered the drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Lucy Brown, and took their place beneath a handsome arch of columbine and flowers. They were supported by Mr. Alden and Miss Alice Banks, brother and sister of the bride, with little Virginia Thompson, cousin of the bride—also flower girl, who looked sweet in a gown of white crepe, with the conventional yellow and orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of maiden hair and sweet fern, white carnations and sweet peas. The bridesmaid wore a dainty dress of pink crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Immediately after the ceremony a dainty lunch was served, and the following day the happy couple left for their future-home in Methuen, Mass. The bride wore a suit and hat and a suit of blue garbarine.

They received many useful and varied gifts.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Blackadar, of Bear River. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, of Kentville; Mrs. Cook, of Marblehead, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Wintrop and Margaret, Paradise; Mrs. Stoddart, Portland; Mr. Mrs. Blackadar, Bear River and Mrs. Landers, Middleton.

Plans are underway to have an airship land a party of eight men in the autumn at the South Pole where they would remain for the winter making scientific observations and broadcasting their findings by radio through out the long Polar night.

Footprints in the sand of time are not made by sitting down.

The advantage of having your name printed on your envelope is one that should not be overlooked. When it is printed, you know your letter will be delivered within a certain time, or returned to you without the terrible delay caused by it going to the Dead Letter Office, if it should not be delivered. Did you ever think of that? Then, let The Outlook print you some up with your name and address. The cost is trivial, & what the satisfaction is of wondering at your letter had reached its destination.
