WARNS OF OIL STOCKS

A warning to Canadians to keep away from wildcat oil schemes is contained in a letter received from Stuart Robinson, formerly of London but now of Houston, Texas. He says he gets a number of letters from Western Ontario friends regarding oil stocks, and his advice is not to invest a cent in them.

"I heard a fake oil salesman say that his friend was cleaning up on those easy marks in Canada," writes Mr. Robinson, "and that got me going right. My advice to Canadians is to keep their money home. Houston is a rich community and they have all the money here that is needed to invest in any real proposition."

Mr. Robinson enclosed several newspaper clippings from the Houston press, which state that the sale of fake oil stocks in Texas has been effectively stopped, thanks to an effective campaign carried on by the Associated Advertising Clubs of Texas.

The stock salesmen have now turned their attention to the selling of oil leases on land that hasn't got a paying well within miles, according to the newspapers, and readers are advised to keep their money in the bank, rather than invest it in leases.

A REMINDER

Correspondents and others are reminded that notices of meetings or entertainments to be held the object of which is to raise funds will not be inserted in these columns unless accompanied by payment at two cents per word, or specific directions as to whom the charges are to be billed.

Notices of meetings of organized societies at which no admission fee is to be charged or collection taken are chargeable at one cent per word.

Life's a funny thing, after all. Bachelors sleep in double beds and married folks in twin beds. When a fellow starts going with a girl he talks and she listens. After they're married she talks and he's got to listen. When they both talk the neighbors listen. Women that can't afford it have a tribe of kids, and those that can have a flock of Airedales. It's all wrong, George, it's all wrong.

FOUR YEARS OF PEACE

We have had an era of peace about equal in length to our era of war.

No man dreamed when the war opened what the war was going to mean.

No man dreamed when the war closed what the four years of peace were going to mean.

There were vague hints of trouble financial, economic and political, but prophecy was largely silent and where it was vocal it was disregarded.

We know now, full well, what war means quite aside from deaths and wounds. It means debts and taxes, unemployment, want and misery, unsettled business, and, in a word, great losses to be paid for.

War does not end when the last cannon is fired. Maimed men are still maimed, sorrowing hearts still sorrow, and added is a chaos that only time can make into order.

WHERE THE MILK GOES

A local man has discovered one of the reasons why the price of milk stays up; at least, he thinks it may have something to do with the matter. Driving along a country road in his automobile last week, the man was attracted by a strange movement under a cow in a field adjoining the road.

He looked more closely and discovered that the strange movement was a quarter-grown pig, better known as a shoat, which was energetically helping itself to a free meal from the milking quarters of the cow. And judging from the contented attitude of the cow, it was not the shoat's first offense.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

EKFRID COUNCIL

The municipal council of the township of Ekfrid met in the town hall, Appin, on Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1922. All members were present. The minutes of last meeting were read, approved and signed by the reeve.

By-law No. 875, providing for road expenditure, was duly passed.

A petition was read requesting the council not to close the Middlemiss bridge, and filed.

The reeve and treasurer were instructed to issue and sell debentures for the cost of construction of the Middlemiss and Park drains.

The reeve and treasurer were instructed and authorized to borrow on the credit of the township the sum of one thousand dollars to meet the current expenditure of the municipality until such time as taxes can be collected.

Council then adjourned until Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 10 a.m.

A. P. McDougall, Clerk.
