THERE is always room at the top of an evening costume for more costume.—Puck.

It's a wise child that knows it's own father's hour for a private drink.—Merchant Traveller.

"It is the little things that tell," says an old adage. Yes, especially the little brothers.—New Haven News.

WHAT character of Dickens does the new method of doing the hair resemble? All-of-a-twist.—Lowell Citizen.

"YES, sir," remarked the veteran proudly, "I was in ten engagements—all Southern girls, too."—N. Y. Journal.

A BOOK that has the greatest circulation and is the most unpopular, is the subscription book.—N. O. Picayune.

BOSTON culture at the late author's reading: "Hush, that is Mr. Aldrich, the author of 'Peck's Bad Boy.'"—Chicago Journal.

MRS. BROWN POTTER may have been a failure, at the London Haymarket, but the Prince of Wales acted splendidly.—Spirit of the Times.

It is really a poor railroad man who don't at least on one day have himself advertised as the purchaser of Garrett's road.—Dallas News.

"HAVE your whiskers colored sah?" "No, Othello, no; thinkst thou that I will stand the hazard of the dye?"—N. Y. Morning Journal.

THE farmer who keeps a plow between himself and a mule during this weather can afford to take in the circus next fall.—Houston (Tex.) Post.

HAVE you heard that Rollin M. Squire is going on the stage? It is rumored that he will make his debut as Sir Giles Overeach.—N. Y. Graphic.

BROWN—"Whose umbrella is this? It looks like one I lost." Smith—"I don't see how it can, for I scraped the handle and altered it generally."—Life.

FORCE of habit—Lady (in grocery store)—"Let me have a pound of butter, please." Clerk (who used to tend in a cigar store)—"Mild or strong?"—Harper's Bazar.

A WESTERN man has a cat which can sing "Sweet Violets." It would seem that cats are already sufficiently objectionable to the community.—Philadelphia Call.

MRS. MIFKINS, from a Blue Ribbon point of view, hopes that the three Emperors will never meet again. She is disgusted at the idea of a tripar-"tite" gathering.—Moonshine.

THE Prince of Wales stakes his reputation as a critic on Mrs. Potter's success. That is well as far as it goes, but why doesn't he put up something worth mentioning?—N. Y. Graphic.

A LADY who advertised for a girl "to do light housework," received a letter from an applicant who said her health demanded sea air, and asked to know where the lighthouse was situated.—N. Y. Herald.

YOUNG woman (timidly to clerk)—"I would like to look at some false hair, please." Clerk (experienced)—"Yes, ma'am. What color does your friend want?" Sale effected.—Life.

WIFE—"Got a dollar?" Husband—"Where's the last dollar I gave you?"

"Gone." "I thought I told you to make it go as far as you could."

"I did."

"Doesn't look like it."

"Well, I did; I sent it to the Fiji Island heathen."—The Judge.
