

Correspondence

The interest in our Correspondence Column is on the increase, judging from the number of letters we received last month. The approach of fall and winter possibly is responsible for so many young men and young women writers wanting to get acquainted so that they may have something to occupy their spare time during the long evenings spent indoors. Do not ask us for the names of writers in these columns as we are not at liberty to make known the names unless we are given permission by the writers. When sending us a letter to re-mail to any address please affix a postage stamp on the blank envelope enclosed. All writers are requested to give us their full name and address, not necessarily for publication but as an evidence of good faith.

"Sally" Writes "Hardy Gent."

Manitoba, July 20, 1907.
Editor.—I have been greatly interested month after month by reading the correspondence columns of the W. H. M., and considering the different views. I was greatly taken with the letter in your January number signed "Woman's Friend," also "Irish Lassie's" letter that appeared in your February number. I think "Irish Lassie" is the kind of girl they should have in the Northwest. I am enclosing a letter, which please forward to the young man who signed himself "Hardy Gent" in your May number, and oblige, yours truly, "Sally."

"Twin Sisters" vs. "Two of a Kind."

Sask., May 13, 1907.
Editor.—We have read with interest and amusement the correspondence on matrimony carried on in your widely circulated paper, and hope it may be the means of brightening the homes of many western bachelors, ourselves included.

In your April number we saw a letter from "Twin Sisters," Ebor, Man. Please forward enclosed letters to them, and oblige. We are 24 years old, have dark brown hair, blue eyes, height, 5 ft. 10 in. and 5 ft. 6 in. respectively. For further particulars regarding our dispositions and morals, personal correspondence would be the only means of finding out.

"Two of a Kind."

Means Business, Not Fun.

Alberta, July 17, 1907.
Editor.—In reading the April number of the W. H. M., I would like to say a few words in defence of the widows. Some correspondents say, "Widows, save your stamps and stationery," and some say, "No widows need write." This is rather short on the widows. Could not other words be uttered that would not cut the ones who have loved and lost through death? I would remind my fellowbrethren that most widows have done much towards the replacing of youth in this world. They are more experienced and capable of homemaking than many of the young maids, but some of the young maids are not to be despised by any means.

I may say that I am a lonely bachelor, English, life abstainer and non-smoker, in moderate circumstances, Protestant and not over good-looking. I am not averse to marriage, providing I could get a good Christian woman, who would help me to make a home and success of farming. I am a farmer by choice, not by profession. I am 30 years of age.

Any respectable woman about that age who has lived on a farm and understands hens and would help to milk would be suitable. I will endeavor to make it worth any woman's while to consider this. No objection to widows. I mean business, not fun.
"Nil Desperandum."

Arthurvale Alta., June 8, 1907.
Editor.—Forward my letter to "Lulu."

"Bachelor Bill" Writes Letter.

Millon, Man., July 23, 1907.
Editor.—I have been an interested reader of your magazine, and would like to correspond with some of the young ladies. I am good-looking, 5 ft. 8 ins. tall, weigh 175 lbs., and have brown hair and blue eyes. I have a quarter-section of land and suitable building.
"Bachelor Bill."

"Sour Sal" Philosophizes.

Glen Ewen, Sask., July 23, 1907.
Editor.—Will you please again let "Sour Sal" enter your circle and give a few shy pointers.

Well, "Lonely Hopeful," your letter is very sensible and shows you have admirable good taste. "Rosebud" was quite right in suggesting that "Devil" must have forgotten all respect for his mother and sisters, and as for criticizing him I should not bother.

Let me tell the "Masher" that if he practises what he preaches he will certainly find a good wife, which he deserves. Have any of we boys and girls

A Windmill that Will Withstand Windstorms

After fourteen years practical experience in perfecting a windmill to meet fully the requirements of Western Farmers, we have in the "Manitoba," a rigid, powerful mill that will stand in the heaviest wind and do good work under the most adverse conditions.

Hundreds, aye thousands of satisfied customers are our best recommendations for the "Manitoba".

Weak
Men

To the man who wants to regain his youth, who wants to feel like he did when he was budding into manhood, I offer a book which will show him the road to happiness—a book of 84 pages, which is brimful of the things he likes to read, which will give him courage and enlighten him as to the cause and cure of his troubles. It will point out the pitfalls and guide him safely to a future of strength and vitality. It is beautifully illustrated. It tells what other men have suffered and how they have cured themselves. It is free. I will send it, closely sealed, without marks, if you will mail me this coupon. If you are not the man you ought to be, SEND FOR IT TO-DAY.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt is no longer an experiment. It is hailed by thousands with loud praise because it cured them. "It cured me. I am well and strong as ever. What more could one ask?" writes a man with a heart full of gratitude.

Dear Sir,—I have worn your Belt for thirty days. I am pleased to tell you that it has done me a lot of good. Losses at night have stopped now, and my back is as strong as one could wish. To prove what I say about my back, I have fenced my quarter-section—drove the posts myself with a heavy sledge—and I have not had the least pain in my back. I have also dug a well 2 1/2 feet deep, so I think that has given my back a good test. I had losses but twice—the first and second week—but I am doing all right now.
