TRADE NOTES.

MACHINERY of various kinds is listed in the advertisement of Burridge & Cooper to be found elsewhere in this issue. We solicit for them due consideration and a fair share of custom from farmers. Look up their announcement.

SEEDS—Every farmer must have them of first quality, if he would reap a rich harvest. In this connection attention is directed to the advertisement of the Fargo Seed House to be found in another column. Magill & Co. are proprietors, and they have some goods that will interest you if you are a sower on the plains of Canada.

"Talk about Yankee shrewdness," said the travelling man. "I was in a little tavern up in Connecticut not long ago, and a farmer came in with eggs to sell. The transaction took place in the bar-room of the establishment. The proprietor agreed to take two dozen, and when the farmer came to count over the contents of his basket he found that he had twenty-five eggs. The proprietor wanted the extra egg thrown in for good measure. The farmer didn't see it that way, and they argued the matter. At last the proprietor said he'd take the twenty-five eggs, give the man a drink and call it square. The farmer agreed, and pocketed his money.

"Now, what'll you have?" asked the proprietor.

"The Yankee farmer was ready with his reply.

"Sherry and egg," said he."

Senator Spooner, who particularly likes to tell stories showing the humorous side of legal proceedings, relates the following with reference to an Irishman in Chicago who was being examined as to his knowledge of a certain shooting affair in that city.

"Did you," asked the presiding magistrate of the witness, "did you see the shot fired?"

"Oi did not, sir," responded the Celt, "but Oi heard it foired."

"That evidence is not satisfactory," replied the magistrate sternly; "you may step down."

The witness left the box. No sooner had he turned his back to the judge than he gave vent to a somewhat derisive laugh. Enraged at this contempt of court, the magistrate called the Irishman back to the witness-box. "How dare you laugh in that manner in court!" demanded the judge angrily.

"Did you see me laugh, your honor?" asked the Irishman.

"No, but I distinctly heard you laugh," came from the irate judge.

"Such evidence is not satisfactory," rejoined the Celt quietly, a twinkle coming into his eye.

Whereupon, says Mr. Spooner, everyone in court laughed, including the magistrate.

In the Canadian House of Commons one of the most interesting personalities for many years was the Honorable D. C. Fraser, of Nova Scotia, lately appointed to a judgeship. As a stump speaker, he was eloquent, persuasive and ready-witted. But once at least he found his resources to fail him. It was on the eve of a by-election in Ontario, and "D. C." had been sent for to assist the Government candidate. It was an "agony" call, for the candidate was a poor platform speaker; and so Fraser went well prepared. His man spoke first. The substance of his speech was this: "Fellow-citizens, you know me—I'm a self-made man—you know me."

The rival candidate was a non-resident and a stranger to most of the audience. For some reason he was not able to appear in person that evening; but he was fortunate in his substitute, a little French-Canadian lawyer. "I'm verro sorry," he began, "ma friend could not come—I'd lak moorh you that seen heem. He verro deffident from dis man dat has toot sit down. He say he made heemself. I believe dat. But ma man—God made heem! And, ma freends, dere is toot as moorh deffidence between de men as dere is between de makers!"

That was all his speech; but that was enough for the audience, and too much for "D. C." and his friend.
