AY 2, 1903.

as well. There g in the atmosngs which opens into the mind usiasm for a public meeting oon which lies and may be inhowever dis-uncoubtedly a Volkesverein of it. The lo-ablished, if posting; each local l at least one year; other pub-e held when neortunity is ofid these meetthe Verein oncs alone. . but , who may be duced to come and Catholics in from its pub-n. Able Catho-d, if necessary, nittee, are apgreat religious ns of the day. atholic teaching he laborer, the as well as to the false princiarguments of atholic theories hese local meetas in the yearly es," Catholics nselves, to know repare for unitomes necessary , and acts enerlly, when it is largely due to e "Centre," or ry Party, exists common r of common ndhorst, most t Parliamentary y, built up the support of the the assistance of and the persever e Catholic elect-ned a party of ives, midway be-1 Conservatives, nselves on not a political signito act together ligious interests Parliamentary a more glorious mentary Party successful. It ut-Culturkampf; all the Cathothe Kulturkampi nitiated and care Christian so-he Empire; it deuides the policy it has done all eace, with digspirit, and t irresistible.

what is the vicatholic popular e "Catholic Connearly fifty years e Catholic popumple, priest and and townsman, ass, instinct with Catholic feeling which had alhout the coun bers, under the tral Committee. irected the whole ectors; to the ch fulfilled nobly for, out of 450 rce two or three to the Catholic our own, is with e of the people, in all their in-

The National Language.

BY "CRUX."

SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1903.

ERE we are, at last, after so many long months of peri-grinations in all directions, arrived at the subject which was first proposed for our study; the national language of Ireland. I will at once enter upon this subject and complete my quotations from Davis, by reproducing, as a preface, his essay on the "National Language." Once more, it will serve our present purpose, and at the same help to revive some of those ad mirable gems of Irish literature, of which his were far from being the less significant. Read well what follows:-

Men are ever valued most for peculiar and original qualities. A man who can only talk common-place, and act according to routine, has little weight. To speak, to look, and do what your own soul from its depths orders you, are credentials of great-ness which all men understand and acknowledge. Such a man's dictum has more influence than the reasoning of an imitative or common-place man. He fills his circle with confidence. Hé is self-possessed, firm, ac-curate, and daring. Such men are the pioneers of civilization, and the rulers of the human heart. Why should not nations be judged thus? Is not a full indulgence of its natural tendencies essential to a "people's" greatness? Force the manners, dress, language and constitu-tion of Russia, or Itay, or Norway, or America, and you instantly stunt and distort the whole mind of either people. The language which grows up with a people, is conformed to their organs, descriptive of their climate, constitution, and manners, mingled inseparably with their history and their soil, fitted beyond any other language to express their prevalent thoughts in the most natural and efficient way.

To impose another language or such a people is to send their history adrift among the accidents of translation—it is to tear their identity from all places-it is to substitute arbitrary signs for picturesque and suggestive names-it is to cut off the entail of feeling, and separate the people from their forefathers by a deep gulf-it is to corrupt their very organs, and abridge their power of expression. The language of a nation's youth is the only easy and full speech for its manhood and for its age. And when the language of its cradle goes, itself craves a tomb. What business has a Russian for the rippling language of Italy or India? How could a Greek distort his organs and his soul to speak Dutch upon the sides of Hymetus, or the beach of Salamis, or on the waste where once was Sparta? And is it befitting the fiery, delicate-organed Celt to abandon his beautiful tongue and spirited as an Arab, "sweet as music, strong as the nave"—is it befitting him to abandon this wild liquid speech for the mongrel of a hundred breeds called English, which, powerful though be creaks and bangs about the Celt who tries to use it?

alien, the invader, and to abandon the language of our kings and he-roes. What! give up the tongue of Ollamh Fodhla and Brian Boru, the tongue of McCarthy and the O'Neals. the tongue of Sarsfield's, Curran's, Mathew's, and O'Connell's boyhood, Mathew's, and o community in that of Strafford and Poynings, Sussex, Kirk, and Cromwell! * The balance of this quotation will be found in one of the back numbers of the "True Witness," in this series, some need not continue it; but we must take up the following, as being of utmost importance in our present-day movement. He says The want of scientific words in Irish is undeniable, and doubtiess we should adopt the existing names into our language. The Germans have done the same thing, and no one calls German mongrel on that ac-count. Most of these names are clumsy and extravagant; they are almosť all derived from Greek or Latin, and cut as foreign a figure in French and English as they would in Irish. Once Irish was recognized as a language to be learned as much as French or Italian, our dictionaries would fill up, and our vocabularies ramify, to suit all the wants of life and conversation. These objections are ingenious refinements, however, rarely thought of till after the other and great objection has been an swered.

The usual objection to attempting the revival of Irish is, that it could not succeed

> If an attempt were made to introduce Irish, either through the na-tional schools, or the courts of law, into the eastern side of the island, it would certainly fail, and reaction might extinguish it altogether. But no one contemplates this same as a dream of what may happen a nundred years hence. It is quite an other thing, to say, as we do, that the Irish language should be cherished, taught, and esteemed, and that it can be preserved and gradually extended. What we seek is that the people of the upper classes should have their children taught the lang uage which explains our names of persons or places, our older history and our music, and which is spoke in the majority of our counties, rather than Italian, German, French. It would be more useful in life, more serviceable to the taste and genius of young people, and a more flexible accomplishment for an Irish man or woman to speak, sing, or write Irish than French.

At present the middle classes think it a sign of vulgarity to speak Irish-the children are everywhere taught English and English alone in schools-and, what is worse, they are urged by rewards and punishments to speak it at home, for Eng lish is the language of their masters. Now, we think the example and exertions of the upper classes would be sufficient to set the opposite and better fashion of preferring Irish; and, even as a matter of taste we think them bound to do so. And we ask it of the pride, the patriotism, and the hearts of our farmer and shopkeepers, will they try to drive out of their children's minds the native language of almost every great man we had, from Brian Bor to O'Connell-will they meanly sacrifice the language which names their hills, and towns, and music, to the tongue of the stranger) The example of the upper classes would extend and develop a modern Irish literature, and the hearty support they have given to the Archaeological Society makes us hope that they will have sense and spirit to do

It must be remembered that the foregoing was written sixty years ago, before a movement such as we means the assumption of new respon-sibilities, the commencement of a new

Catholic Graduates in Medicine.

We print at the top of this cola likeness of a young Irish Catholic, Dr. W. W. Kelly, who graduated last week with first honors and won the Chancellor's prize, He is also a graduate of Xavier I which we have received, which many College, Bruges, Belgium. Dr. Kelly is a son of Captain Patrick J. Kelly, and is justly proud of his nationality. He is popular with professors and students of the University from which he has graduated with firstclass honors on all subjects. Dr. Kelly delivered the valedictory on the occasion of the convocation for conferring degrees in medicine, and his effort was warmly applauded by

*******************

MR. W. W. KELLY, MD.C.M.

************

the large audience present on the occasion. We give the following extracts from the valedictory, as fol-

For the 32nd time in the history of this Faculty a little band of workers meets you to take as the result of to-day's ceremonies a long farewell before plunging into the inscrutable darkness of the future.

As the mouthpiece of my fellow graduates upon me devolves the task of giving utterance to the feelingshopes and wishes which are uppermost in our hearts to-day-this day which is to mark a new epoch in our lives and which to us is fraught with mingled sentiments of joy, sadness and firm resolve-surely it is meet that we should so regard this part ing of the ways to which four years of our best efforts have brought us, and which we have toiled for, hoped for, and now have won.

But, alas, this consummation our aspirations, this attainment of our highest ambitions is softened and mellowed, nay saddened by the thought that it means to us the severance of old ties, the breaking of pleasant associations, the parting from old friends, which must ever on the otherwise bright horizon of this happy moment.

But this moment means to us a great deal more than the mere attainment of ambitions and the consummation of aspirations, for. it means the assumption of new responband exceeding us not only in point of numbers, but in point of zeal and mental calibre. It has been with undisguised pride that we have seen the gradual, yet steadily onward trend of our school, and can bear witness to the excellence of the recent rearrangements, which place us in our theoretical departments what we have always been in our practical training-second to none point of thoroughness and detail, Further improvements are yet necessary, but this is not the place nor the opportunity in which to discuss such questions.

THE TRUE WITNESS AND CATHOLIC CHRONICLE.

We cannot fail to take this oppor tunity of bearing ungrudging mony to the zeal and attention of won the Chancellor's prize, in the Faculty, as a whole, and of the University of Bishop's College, many individual acts of kindness , acts have been rendered possible by that intimate relationship between professor and student which is only possible in a smaller institution.

We are happy to feel that our relations with few exceptions have been of the most pleasurable and profitable acharacter to all.

And now, a word to those leave behind us; of the friendships we have formed in the past four years, friendships not confined to any particular year, but embracing, we hope, Freshman and Sophomore and third year man, all of united as we have been. * * *

To the ladies, who by their presence, have graced this occasion would say that we would like to regard their large attendance as a good augury for the future, for we are not oblivious of the most portant part which they must play in our future lives. We trust and pray that we may ever be worthy of that trust and confidence which it will be our privilege to receive, and that we may be always true to the principles which true womanhood ever demands, true womanhood, the spirit of whose example, the evidences of whose love and fostering care, have made the music of the world.

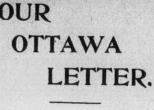

And now a last good-bye, one last pressure of the hand that has guided our footsteps along this perilous road of knowledge.

To our Alma Mater need we say how fully we appreciate the fact that to-day the bond of union between us far from being severed is but made complete, and that we leave her doors fully resolved to live up to the highest precepts which she has laid down. Her honor is now our care, and we pray that the re-collection of the motto of the old chivalry of France: "Noblesse Oblige" will ever be ours to keep us from bringing the blush of shame to her cheek. We leave her with no extravagant hopes, for we are fully aware that many disappointments, many rude awakenings await us. Fully are we cognizant of our own short-comings. The "True Witness" wishes Dr. Kelly every success in his new career, as it does many others who have doubtless completed their university careers in Montreal during the clos ing days of the past month.

We would gladly publish a full list of all the Catholic graduates, but have no means of obtaining them. Our English-speaking Catholic ents in the universities of McGill, Bishop's and Laval, and we may add make life sad and cast a cloud up- in our colleges and schools, who are willing to use their pen in furnishing us with reports concerning examinations and closing exercises, will be welcomed by the "True Witness."

ST. BRIDGET'S NIGHT REFUGE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Ottawa, April 28.

The Budget debate drags its weary length along, and it is likely to crawl into next week. Now that the leaders and a principal financial critics on either side have spoken, it is merely a huge accommodation for the back-seat members to hold forth on whatever topics may suit their respective constituencies. We may therefore, turn away, without fear o losing anything from the Parliament Hill-as far, at least, the present week is concerned, And Ontario still keeps up the monotony of the Gamey trial, a hodgepodge of the worst kind that ever serious judges wer called upon to stir up and the analvze. In connection with the visit of King Edward VII. to the Pope, the Ottawa "Citizen" has an editorial in its issue of last Tuesday, which is well deserving of attention. In open ing the writer says: "To-day His Majesty will pay a visit to the ven erable Head of the Catholic Church Pope Leo XIII. It will be the first time such an event has occurred since the reformation, and it has been looked forward to with much interest, more especially by the mil-lions of British Catholics throughout the Empire." Then comes the following:-"According to the despatches reently the Protestant Alliance of Great Britain has telegraphed a protest against the visit, but the action will receive but little sympathy or endorsement except among extreme adherents of the Protestant faith The spirit of courtesy and respect for the head of a great church which animates His Majesty in visiting the Pope cannot be distorted into any thing more than it really is-one of those tactful and gracious acts for which the present Sovereign, no less than his illustrious and kindly ther, is distinguished. It will be an preciated both by the venerable pre late of the V atican and by the millions of Roman Catholic subjects of the King. The occasion further marks the broadening view of Christian people of all creeds which is gradually but surely supplanting the narrow sectarianism of a less en lightened age. Religious intolerance is giving place to the samer which recognizes what is good in other creeds while it clings with perbaps a firmer and more intelligent attachment to that which is deeme the best. Every force which is working for the spiritual and moral uplifting of mankind deserves the respect and sympathy of everyone whose heart is in the right place.

The Roman Catholic Church, of which Pope Leo is the head, is one of the greatest of these forces in the world to-day, and it would indeed be an ungracious act if the Sovereign of the greatest and most enlightened nation in the world should visit the ancient city of Rome and neglect through any spirit of sectarian narrowness, to call upon the venerable and venerated head of that Church. liberal-minded subject o Every King Edward, no matter what his religion may be, will applaud the unconventional disregard he has shown of red tape restrictions and the subdued murmur of sectarian cri-

At the first meeting of the Province of Ontario Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hibernian Society on Tuesday at Toronto the well known and talented Ottawa ladies received deserving honors for which they are now, the recipients of many congratulations. Miss A. O'Meara secured the provincial presidency, while Miss M., O'Brien was elected as secretary, This organization has been formed only about a month, but already great interest has been manifested in the proceedings and the election of two local ladies will in all probability tend to stimulate great interest in Ottawa. The former is engaged as teacher upon the staff Bridget's School. She is well fitted for the honorable office and can be relied upon to promote the interests of the auxiliary in the best possible manner.

3

The popularity of socials at which euchre is the feature, was evidenced a few days ago. The treasurer's statement handed in at a meeting held last week showed that $246.53 clear of expenses, was made at the euchre party held on Thursday evening, last week, in St. Patrick's hall in aid of St. Jean Baptiste Church. The treasurer was Mr. T. A. Marier. The funds converted into gold were presented by Mrs. (Ald.) Plouffe, president of the Ladies' Committee, o the parish priest, Rev. Jacques. As a pretty acknowledg-ment of her worthy work in connection with the euchre party, Mrs. Plouffe was presented with a basket of cut flowers by her fellow-workers on the committee.

The first Friday of the month, being the first of May, the Catholic churches of Ottawa have made special preparations for the occasion; and have made announcements accordingly. In St. Joseph's parish it was announced that :-- Confessions will be heard Thursday in preparation for the first Friday of the month. Friday the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed all day, and the usual devotions will be held in the evening. The third Sunday after Easter St. Joseph's Church celebrates its patronal feast. Special music will be rendered by the choir. The Archbishop will make his pastoral visit to the parish on the 10th. On last Sunday Archbishop Duhamel paid his pastoral visit to St. Bridget's Church. In the morning at 8 o'clock His Grace held u confirmation service at which 45 children received the Holy Sacrament Rev. Canon McCarthy assisted His Grace, and Rev. Father Seguin was master of ceremonies. Principal Burke and Miss Slattery, of St. Bridget's School, acted for the individual sponsors of the children. At solemn High Mass His Grace assisted at the throne and preached an eloquent and forciful sermon from the text "Be swift to hear, slow to speak," from the Epistle of St. James.

The sermon was replete with words of good advice. The choir rendered an excellent programme of music, re-peating Berger's Mass, which was given at Easter.

On Sunday the pastor of the Sacred Heart Church announced that the Archbishop would make his pastoral visit to the parish next Sunday. The choir will render Mozart's 12th Mass, under the direction of Mr. C. Cramer.

The sacred concert last Sunday evening in aid of the Church was one of the greatest musical treats of the season. It was marked by excellent singing and a large attend-ance. Four choirs, the Sacred Heart, St. Anne's, St. Joseph's and the Basilica took part, and portions trusted by them.		serves to show how like that of to-	life in a new role, it is the clarion	이 같은 것은 것은 것이 있는 것이 같은 것이 같이 같이 있는 것이 같이 같이 많이 없다. 같이 많이	ticism in carrying out mis purposed	of four Masses were rendered. The nizations, then,	As already extracts of this essay	Ann must the enjoit of that time	note of the better struggle for exist-		It was what was to be expected of	solos were all of a high order, and nd constitute the	have been quoted, away back in mid-		ence, for to-day we take our places	26th April, 1903:-Males 144, fe-	His Majesty."	the choral parts well sustained.	533 much of the spir-	winter, I will skip some passages		in the ranks of a great profession, to	males 0. Irish 106, French 33, Eng-	This editorial, coming from a Proholicity to-day.	that do not directly bear upon the		fill the gaps which the ravages of	lish 16. Total 155.	testant organ in Ontario, will go a to the circle of	points we are soon to study, and I	A THEATRE FOR THE KNIGHTS	death have left in the ranks of phy-	lish 10. 10tal 155.	long way, and has already done	A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A to the circle of	will repeat others that are of great		sicians whose lives have stood for		something, in removing the bitter-	The dinner and presentation in without distinc-	moment, and which may have been	OF COLUMBUS.	loyalty and integrity to the cause.		ness of anti-Catholic bigotry am-	honor of Hon. Mr. Costigan that class, the most	forgotten by the reader, but which		And may I express the hope that		ongst some classes here.	had been fixed for the 25th May, has

st influential of	I desire to bind closely to our com-		we are not entirely unmindful of	FOR GOD'S HOUSE.		been postponed until the 30th May,
They are looked	ing arguments.	ed in New Rochelle by the Knights		and the second		in order to give an opportunity to by the whole		of Columbus contains the lodge		Thirty thousand dollars has been	A CONTRACT OF A	in order to give an opportunity to dvice and direc-		rooms of the local council, and is	the noble example of the great mas-	collected by the Catholics of Ox-	It has long been a circulating rum-	several organizations, that could ve grown to their		said to be finest building which the		nard, Cal., for the erection of a new		not be properly represented on the and exercise their		Knights have put up anywhere in the	ters of our craft, and that the life	church.	members of Parliament are being	former date, to be there. Great in-because they are			and work of such men as Hunter			terest is being taken in the event.
nd through with			Jeune Verchow, and thousands of		urged to ask the Government to de	It is a tribute of the Irishmen of the rinciples: because		is about 2,000, and the stage is ex-	others have given us the stimulus to	A RECENT CONVERT.	clare the 24th June a public holiday	Capital to one who has lived so ch year, by the		ceeded in size by only three New	love lives worthy of a great trust,	and the second	for the Dominion. It is not to my	many years amongst them.
c Church: because	Ireland, and English was unknown,		and whose example has stood for	The conversion is announced of M.	knowledge that any step has, as yet		6335
st co-operation of	save to a few citizens and nobles of		kindness and charity. * * *	Lepz, a leading rabbi of Genoa. It	been taken, in that direction. But	Xnaag
s and clergy; and	the Pale. 'Tis only within a very	Carlo Car	As the valedictorian of my class	is said that he desires to study for	Mr. Hackett, M.P., has taken the ins and their mem-	late period that the majority of the	AND A CONTRACT OF A CONTRACT.	may I be permitted for a moment to	the priesthood and to enter a mis-	itiative in this matter, having given	NOTES FOR WORLDLINGS.
ted, single-minded	people learned English. * * *	ARRIVED FROM FRANCE.	take a hasty glance at the four		notice of an inquiry of the ministry	The second s y in New Ireland	But, it will be asked, how can the		years which I have spent so peace-	sionary order.	if it is the intention of the Govern-	and the second se
y in New Helder	language be restored now? We shall	Among the passangers on the	fully under the sheltering roof of a		ment to recommend to the Governor-	The majority of men recognize no-answer this partly by saving that	French liner Champagne, which ar-	kind mother The class of to-day is		General the advisability of proclaim-	thing in human affairs as good un-	1925 through the labors of the Archaes	rived at New York, April 19, was a	kind mother. The class of to day the	SYMINGTON'S N	ing the 17th March, St. Patrick's
UNIFICENCE.	logical and many lesson societies it	number of monks and nuns, who	but a small one, for death and other	SIMINAION S	Day, a public holiday.	love those friends most-as they do
UNIFICENCE.	is revived repidly We shall same	number of monks and nuns, who	unfortunate circumstances have for			their cattle-from whom they hope this question of the second consider	have been forced to leave France.	duced our numbers to almost one-	ANTABURUA.		to obtain the most profit. Thus they a gift of $250,-	Viving it	The monks are on their way to	third of our original strength. we	GOFFEE ESSENCE	penning these lines. He stated that negie for the ex-	day.	Montreal. Three Sisters of the Sacred	are, however, consoled by the knowgement of the	ady.	Heart will go to the convent of that	ledge that the years that follow	makes delisious coffee in a moment. Ne troubie.	there were already too many public esmen's Institute,	Nothing can make us believe that	order, New York city, and three	gradually increase in numbers until	na mosta in small and lange batalas from all	holidays in this country, and his th street, near	is natural or honorable for the	others of the Order of St. Joseph	that of the Freshman's year is near-	STOOMS.	Government. in consequence, did not
Vork was made	Irish to speak the speech of the	will also remain in New York.	ly eight times as large as our little	GUARAVTEED PUEF.	wish to add to the number.	and how lofty such friendship is.
exercises of the					and the second second second second second April 17.
					the second s
and the second second		and the second					