WHITE SWAN BAKING POWDER

THE SECRET OF SUCCESSFUL BAKING!
"It all depends, madam, on the kind of baking powder you use."
"White Swan Baking powder makes every baking an assured success, because it is chemically pure and its materials are accurately combined by experts to give proper strength."
"You can always rely on 'White Swan' to produce light, sweet, digestible and wholesome biscuits, cakes and pastry."

Scientific Reasons
Baking Powder is primarily a preparer of food, when mixed under proper conditions, a chemical reaction takes place, giving off a leavening gas. The residue left in the food you eat is not the original baking powder, but an entirely new substance.
In cream of tartar baking powder, the residue in the food is 70% of its weight Rochelle Salts, which are medicinal and harmful to the system when taken this way.
White Swan Baking Powder is a phosphate, leaving only a 30% residue, which is a fibrous bone building substance—recommended by authoritative physicians as the best baking powder for kitchen use. Order it from your grocer—in 10c. or 25c. tins.

Mystery New York's Missing

More than 4,500 persons are reported to the New York Police every year as missing. Of these about 3,500 are residents of the city, while the remainder are visitors.
The New Yorkers who vanish from their homes are reported to the police stations in the local precincts, and those cases are handled by the nearest authorities. But the reports of missing visitors, regardless of where made originally, ultimately go to the Bureau of Missing Persons at Police Headquarters.
This bureau is managed in conjunction with the Bureau of Unidentified Dead, established on the suggestion of Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, after the failure of the officials promptly to identify "Big Tim" Sullivan's body. Sergeant Grant Williams is in immediate charge of both bureaus.
Information from official sources shows that minors constitute approximately two-thirds of the New York residents stated to be missing annually. The remaining one third is composed chiefly of men.

It is estimated that more than one-half of the 3,500 are located by the police, dead or alive, or return to their homes soon after disappearance, notification of the return being sent to the officials. Of the remainder it is estimated that at least one-half ultimately arrive back home in safety, but no notification of the fact is sent to the police.
This leaves about 850 persons per year who utterly vanish. What becomes of them is one of the mysteries of the metropolis. They disappear as though they were so many bubbles, some of them doubtless kill themselves or are killed, their bodies never being discovered. Some of them, they are hanged down as certain, run away from their matrimonial mates. But what the fate is of the great mass of those who disappear, no man can say.
Of the large number of minors who figure each year as missing, police officials state that the big majority are at home, either because they have a bit of headache, perhaps, and a determination not to seek relaxation quite so persistently on the next New York visit.
Other strangers to the city get separated from their friends in the Subway or on the elevated or get lost in the streets, and then the police are asked to find the missing ones. Immigrants in transit from European countries to inland points in the United States frequently wander off from the parties to which they are attached and have to be found through the medium of the police.
In the course of a year Sergeant Williams receives scores of letters from foreign countries inquiring about friends or relatives of the writers who were last heard from in New York, from Zanzibar and from India, from Australia, and from Egypt, from Europe, from South America, the letters of inquiry travel.

The proportions of these non-residents of New York never to be heard of again as estimated by the police is about the same as in the case of New York citizens. That is, something more than one-half of the 1000 are located by the police or return to their friends, the police being so notified. About one half of the remainder finally reach their friends all right, it is estimated, the police not being notified. This leaves approximately 250 visitors to New York who never being known of their fate. With the 850 New Yorkers who absolutely disappear there is, thus a total, in round figures of 1,100 persons who every twelve months are lost to sight as utterly as though they had stepped behind a magic curtain.

The Bureau of Unidentified Dead has been in operation since Oct. 1 of this year. Police officials declare that in this short time it has amply proved its value. Out of fifty-eight cases of unidentified dead reported to the bureau in October, the identity in all but seven was established by the bureau's work, while out of 24 cases reported up to the middle of November, identity was established in all instances but three.
A feature of the bureau's system which is proving of great aid is the work done through laundry marks. At the suggestion of Second Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, the bureau has made a collection of the marks put on clothing by all laundries in New York. When a body is found which has no means of identification except through laundry marks, those marks are compared with those on file in the bureau. If the victim's clothes prove to have been laundered in New York, the laundry is visited, and from examination of its books it is usually possible to trace the identity of the dead person.
Men are largely in the majority among the cases coming before the bureau. A majority of the unidentified bodies are found in the water. Most of them are undoubtedly suicides. Others of the unidentified cases are due to street car accidents, suicide by gas, and sudden death in the street from natural causes. Photographs are taken of all bodies, and prove of much aid in making identification possible, even after burial in Potter's Field.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try This! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate—Yes! Certainly!—it's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant, and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggly, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every article of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

ALFRED MACE AT BETHEL HALL

He Gave An Interesting Ad- dress to a Goodly Number.

Mr. Alfred Mace gave a discourse to a goodly number at Bethel Hall last night. Mr. Mace took up the difference between the reception and standing in the Father's house and the Kingdom of every Christian in the present church dispensation.
The believer's place in the Father's house was dependent solely upon the acceptance of the finished work of Christ. His atoning blood and then presentation by faith of Christ as his sacrifice, entitled them to a place in the family—all were equal. When we came to the Kingdom to be set up by Christ, the believers place and standing depended upon the believer's faithfulness to Christ while walking in this scene. There would be a great review, and as the march past took place at the judgment of Christ it would be "that soldier received a scar in the battle for Christ here," another truth. Truth had been maintained no matter what the cost or persecution, and the reward would be in accordance with the heroism and faithful testimony. Mr. Mace closes with to-night's address.

RAILWAY FEELS FORCE OF LARKIN'S CAMPAIGN

Great Western's Traffic in South Wales Dislocated —Driver Dismissed.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The Great Western Railway announced yesterday that it would accept freight for South Wales only subject to the sender's risk. This action has been taken because of the dislocation of traffic due to a strike which has developed with amazing suddenness. It originated through the dismissal of an engine-driver, who refused to handle "tainted" goods from Dublin. The company declined to accede to the demands of the men that he be reinstated. In spite of a manifesto issued by the railway union's Executive, declaring that the strike was not authorized, and that no strike pay would be allowed, the movement is spreading and threats are made of a general tie-up of the Great Western.

At meetings at Swansea and other railway centres in South Wales yesterday, the men decided to lay down their tools immediately. Two big Cambrian colliers are idle because the miners have refused to travel or work in trains driven by "blacklegs."

WARM CAMPAIGN FOR LOCAL OPTION

Measure Will be Voted on Next Month in 45 Ont. Municipalities.

Local option campaigns are now in full swing in 45 Ontario municipalities and the fight between the Ontario Alliance forces and the liquor interests is growing steadily warmer with the approach of the January elections.
In addition to the Alliance speakers temperance organizations are actively engaged in the fray and a material advance in the number of municipalities which may be labelled "dry" on the temperance map is expected to result.
In all but about half a dozen places the temperance men are attacking the liquor interests for the second or third time. Their initial efforts have been defeated owing to the three-fifths requirement, but it is felt that there has been a sufficient change in public opinion since the last contest to poll the necessary majority in most places this year.
There are only six repeat contests out of a possible 250. "The liquor men are withdrawing and honor has been secured," remarked Rev. Ben H. Spence, secretary of the Alliance yesterday, "and thereby confessing to the success of local option. They are attacking us in only 15 places, while we are attacking them in 45 places. We are well organized and in good fighting trim and honor. I am not going to make any boastful prognostications, rather I will spend my time planning and fighting. The man who tries to forecast the result of an election only makes a fool of himself. It is our business to fight and to count votes afterwards. On the face of it, however, we seem to have a little advantage. We are the attacking party in three times as many places as are the liquor men."
Among the more important municipalities in which tie-by-law will be voted upon are Sault Ste. Marie, Paris, Barrie, Cobourg, Aylmer, Tilsonburg, Meaford, Warton, Napanee and Appleton.
