

THE ADVERTISER

KENTVILLE, AUG. 11, 1916.

H. G. HARRIS

Editor and Publisher

The weather during the last week has been excellent with moderate temperature. The haying season is now well advanced and other crops are growing rapidly. The prospect for fruit is fair, probably considerable below the million barrel mark as set earlier in the season. But the belief in good prices for fruit this fall is growing more apparent.

Camp Aldershot with its five battalions and School of Instruction is now assuming some of its former numbers. The permits to help in the haying almost reduced the size of the Camp one half but the permits are now expiring and the soldiers are returning in large numbers. The review on Wednesday before Sir Robert gave our Premier, and the public as well an idea of the excellent body of troops now at Aldershot and the high state of efficiency they have reached in their drill. Officers and men are to be highly commended on their fine appearance and precision in drill. Rumors are frequent that the Highland Brigade is now considered fit for use in Britain or elsewhere and will be called away before many weeks.

SIR ROBT. BORDEN AT BERWICK AND ALDERSHOT

On Wednesday morning the Camp Meeting Association at Berwick observed "Patriotic Day" and it was an immense concourse of people who gathered in the beautiful cool spot. One of the attractions was the presence of Right Hon. Sir Robert L. Borden, who gave an address appropriate to the occasion and expressive of the statesmanlike qualities of the man.

Rev. Dr. Farquhar presided at the morning service and stirring music was given by the band of the 193rd Battalion from Aldershot.

Premier Borden was most enthusiastically applauded as he proceeded with his address. For about an hour he spoke on the subject of duty and our interest in the Empire. He made a strong appeal for a continuation of our support of the allied cause and steadfastness of purpose and devotion to duty which had so far been strikingly exemplified in the people of all parts of Canada. One closing paragraph we reproduce:

"Canada is fighting for her existence today just as surely as France and Belgium are fighting to drive the invaders from their lands. I am as absolutely possessed of that idea as I am sure of my own existence. But Canada is fighting for her existence, and one of the finest spectacles of this war is found in the wonderful unanimity, devotion, patriotism, unity of the people of the overseas dominions. And our cause is a righteous cause, because no war would have appealed to the hearts of the people of our far-flung Empire, unless it was a righteous war."

Rev. Mr. Ryan, former President of the Methodist Camp Meeting Association moved a vote of thanks for Premier Borden and Mr. F. S. Fisher, of Somerset, Kings County, seconded the motion.

Thirty-nine years ago Premier Sir Alexander MacKenzie was the special speaker for the occasion, and in 1902 Sir Charles Tupper.

At Aldershot.

Premier Borden arrived here from Berwick in his private car attached to the Bluenose. He was met at the station by General Benson and others and taken in a motor car to Aldershot. There he reviewed about 6000 troops now in Camp composing the Highland Brigade and the 97th Battalion. It was a magnificent sight and was witnessed by thousands of spectators. Premier Borden addressed the men and led them in three ringing cheers for the King.

A fuller report of the afternoon's proceedings will be given in next issue.

WAR VETERAN RETURNED.

Yesterday the people of Kentville were most pleasantly surprised to welcome in our midst Sergeant Herbert Lockhart of the 16th Canadian Scottish Battalion. His coming was a surprise, his relatives giving no intimation of his appearance otherwise a reception would have been arranged.

Sergt. Lockhart was a Boer War veteran serving in Africa two years. He went to the present war with the 30th Battalion and joined the 16th at the first battle of Ypres. He has seen about fourteen months of hard duty in the front trenches and passed through several of the terrible battles in which so many Canadians fell. He was wounded June 14th and after being in the hospital for a while has about a month more of leave of absence. He is looking well and feeling fine after his trying experience on duty and relatives and friends are rejoicing greatly at seeing him again.

TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

The following letter has been received by Mrs. H. S. Dickie, Lower Canard, in reference to the death of her son, Harry B. Dickie, Killed June 15, 1916:

The Trenches, 8th July, 1916.

Dear Mrs. Dickie:

On behalf of the non commission officers and men of D Coy., 25th Battalion I beg to tender you our heart felt sympathy in your hour of trial. You mourn the loss of a dearly beloved son, we the loss of a comrade tried and true, a man loved and respected by all. He was promoted Lance Corporal and I recommended him for further promotions and had he lived until our tour of trench duty was over he would have been promoted Corporal. He left the stretcher bearer section to take promotion and fell in action and died a soldier's death on the field and lies by the side of his comrades who fell at the same time and place. I regret that I am not allowed to tell you where he lies. But I can assure you a cross marks his resting place with his name, number and regiment thereon.

Others may and will offer you their sympathy but none will be more sincere and heartfelt than those offered by his comrades in D Coy., 25th Battalion. If I am spared I will inform you where he lies at the earliest possible moment. Trusting God will in His infinite mercy help you to bear your grief.

Sincerely yours,
Frank W. Hinchcliffe,
Sergt.-Major,
25th Battalion.
