Vestments And Linens

At Holy Mass the Church adorns the priest, the chalice and the altar with vestments and linens replete with spiritual significance.

Having first washed his hands, the priest kisses the amice (a rectangular piece of linen with two stripes attached), rests it a moment on his head, then places it on his shoulders and ties the strings around his body. It represents the "helmet of salvation" spoken of by Isaiah (59:17) and St. Paul, Eph. 6:17. It also recalls the cloth with which the Jews shamefully blindfolded Christ in His Passion. The priest next puts on the alb, a white robe reaching to the ground. It signifies purity of life and also recalls the white garment in which Christ was robed by the mocking Herod. It is bound about the waist by the cincture, or girdle, signifying chastity, and also recalling the cords binding Our Saviour in the Garden of Olives and later to the Pillar of Scourging. The priest next places on his left arm the maniple, originally a handkerchief, but now a narrow band of silken cloth, signifying the fruits of our toil and sweat in Christ's vineyard. He then places around his neck and across his breast the stole (Greek, garment) a long silken strip or band which originally was a robe and still signifies the robe of glorious immortality awaiting us in heaven. Over all is placed the surplice, symbolizing charity and also recalling the cloak thrown about the shoulders of Christ by the mocking soldiers.

The chalice which the priest carries to the altar next engages our attention. Over its cup, and hanging down on either side, is the purificator, a linen cloth with a small embroidered cross. After the chalice is placed on the altar, the priest's fingers and lips and the chalice, and is then placed over the cup as before. Upon the chalice rests the paten, plate or saucer of gold holding the Host which is to be consecrated. The paten is covered by the pall, a square piece of linen, commonly stiffened by enclosed cardboard, and around all is draped the veil, an ornamental silk cloth. Upon the chalice thus draped is placed the burse, a stiff case in which rests the corporal, a piece of square white linen, which at Mass is unfolded and placed in the middle of the altar table so that upon it may rest the chalice and the Host. It is so called because upon it rests after consecration the Corpus or Body of Christ. It recalls the winding-sheet wrapped about the dead body of Christ by Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea.

Upon the table of the altar are spread three long clean linens, the outer one reaching to the base of the altar on both sides. They absorb the Precious Blood in case of accident, and can easily be purified by the priest. Their whiteness signifies the purity of hearts with which the Holy Mysteries should be celebrated, and their number honors the Holy Trinity.

The altar linens corporal, pall, are blessed by a bishop or delegated priest; the purificators by a priest. Unless empowered to do so, the laity may not touch the used chalice linens until they have been washed by a priest or deacon.

The colors of the sacred vestments (maniple, stole, chasuble, veil, burse) vary with the feast or the season of the church year—but "that is another story."

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house.

St. Catherine Of Siena.

Catherine Benincasa (St. Catherine of Siena) was born in Siena March 25th, 1347, the youngest one of a very large family. Her father, Giacomo di Benincasa, was a dyer, and her mother the daughter of a local poet. The family belonged to the lower middle class.

Early in life Catherine made a vow of chastity. She began to see visions and to practice extreme austerities. When she was sixteen years old she took the habit of the Dominican Tertiaries and renewed the life of the anchorites of the desert in a little room in her father's house.

During the summer of 1370 she received a series of special manifestations of Divine mysteries which culminated in a prolonged trance, a kind of mystical death, in which she had a vision of Hell, Purgatory and Heaven and heard a Divine command to leave her cell and enter the public life of the world. From this time forward she became an important factor in the political as well as the religious life of Italy, and, indeed, of all Western Christendom. She was in correspondence with the rulers of the various states of Italy, was consulted by the papal legates about the affairs of the Church, and devoted her energies to healing the wounds of civil war.

When war broke out between the Holy See and Florence, she was sent on a mission from the Pope to secure neutrality of Pisa and Lucca. In June, 1376, she went as an ambassador of the Florentines to make peace with the Pope, but through the bad faith of the republic or because of a misunderstanding caused by frequent changes in its government, she was unsuccessful. Her efforts on the occasion, however, resulted in the return of the Pope to Rome in spite of the opposition of the French King and the majority of the members of the Sacred College.

When the Great Schism broke out, Catherine adhered to the Roman claimant, Urban VI, from the outset. He summoned her to Rome in November, 1378, where she spent the remainder of her life working for the reformation of the Church and serving the destitute and afflicted. During this period she wrote numberless letters on behalf of Urban to rulers and persons of all ranks throughout Italy.

Her writings rank among the classics of the Italian language. Among the best known are: The Dialogue, or Treatise on Divine Providence; a collection of nearly four hundred letters, and a series of Prayers. Among her followers were Fr. Raimondo delle Vigne of Capua, her confessor and biographer, afterwards General of the Dominicans; and Stefano di Corrado Macconi, who had been one of her secretaries and later became Prior General of the Carmelites.

Her labors in Rome in behalf of Pope Urban rapidly consumed her strength, and after prolonged and mysterious agony which she endured with supreme exultation and delight she died April 29, 1380. She was canonized by Pius II in 1461.

BEST FOR LIVER.

Mr. D. Cartwright, 83 Clinton St., Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, in fact, I would not get without them, as I think they are the best possible remedy for the liver."
Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

that country all the bishops and priests have spoken of the wonderful movement towards Christianity. The latest to send a report of this nature is Rev. J. Biaz, Superior of the White Fathers on the Nyanza District, who says:

"I have just finished a visitation of a large part of my territory and had the great consolation of learning from all the Fathers that the pagan population is showing a remarkable desire for our holy religion. The priests have only to develop and affirm the sentiments of the Blacks, which are entirely in accord with the demands of the Church. Therefore catechumens are being enrolled as numerous as we have missionaries and catechists to care for them."

"Since the Triduum in honor of our Blessed Martyrs of Uganda, the movement has been more noticeable than ever, which goes to show how powerful before the Lord are these glorious sons of Africa."

What a reproach to the rich are the offerings of the poor! Scarcely anything could be more touching than an alms of ten dollars recently sent to some lepers of far away Japan by a group of children, themselves probably afflicted with consumption. The letter accompanying the money said: "The little children of the Boston Consumptive Hospital in Mattapan have asked me to forward this mite the result of their sacrifices during the Lenten season. They respectfully request that it be sent to Mother Marie Columbe F.M.M. of the Biwasaki Leper Colony."

A SENSIBLE MERCHANT.

W. H. O. Wilkinson Streetford writes: "It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price 25 cents a box."

BOILS AND PIMPLES ON FACE AND BODY.
Boils and pimples are caused by bad blood, and there is only one way to get rid of them and that is to get at the seat of the trouble by using a good reliable blood cleaning medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters.
This preparation has been on the market for over 40 years, and is the most reliable remedy for all troubles arising from a bad condition of the blood.
It removes all the impurities from the system, and will leave a clear, healthy skin devoid of all eruptions.
Mr. Felix Bechar, 39 Dover St., Charlottetown, writes: "I was troubled with boils and pimples, and could not get rid of them. I had used different kinds of medicine and salves, and finally thought there was no relief. I used two bottles of B.B.B. and was completely relieved of about 21 boils on my neck, face and hips, and the pimples also disappeared."
Price, $1.25 a bottle, put up only by The J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
