WINNIPEG EXCHANGE PRICES.

Winnipeg, Man., May 18.—Today's markets were very erratic, opening around the close at yesterday. There appeared to be considerable selling for outside accounts on the crop prospects of the northwest and in the southwest. Everything tended towards lower prices as the foreign advices were bearish, and values quickly declined from 1 cent to 1 1/4 cent below yesterday.

Cables closed firm, but there was no cash business reported, although cables were not very far out of line.

The moisture of Western Canada has relieved the feeling of any crop disaster, and the local market acted weak, July selling down to 97 cents, practically 12 cents from its high point.

Winnipeg cash wheat closed weak, one cent below yesterday, with July 1 1/8 and October 1 1/4 under. Oats held firm around yesterday's prices. But little business was reported. The Winnipeg Grain Exchange will be closed all day Friday, May 20, on account of the late King's funeral.

Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce Chicago Board of Trade and New York Produce Exchange will close on Thursday night, and will not open until 11 a. m. Friday (Chicago time) out of respect to the memory of the late King.

New York Cotton Exchange will be open all day, however, on account of Friday being delivery day.

Liverpool, May 18.—Broomhall. The market opened with offers light and shorts rather more nervous, stimulated by the persistent show of strength in American markets, and values were 1/4 higher. Following the opening, speculative buying developed, and values further advanced 1/8 to 7/8, with principal support in October, and there was also general covering by shorts. Support at this time was due to a bullish Indian report, as the outlook for Punjab is much below expectations. Russian advices are less satisfactory, with stock small, and Russian offers small with no pressure to sell. There is an improved demand reported from the continent. At midday the market was firm, and 5/8 to 1 1/8 higher than yesterday.

Marquis of Queensberry Rules

(By Tip Wright)

Whenever two fighters of any prominence sign articles of agreement for a battle, it is always announced that they will fight under the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Immediately every sport looks wise, but as a matter of fact, there isn't one man in fifty who really knows what the Marquis of Queensberry rules are.

John Sholto Douglas, who succeeded to the title of Marquis of Queensberry in 1833, was noted principally for his devotion to sport, particularly boxing, but he did not write the rules under which all boxing contests are now held. They were written by J. G. Chambers, a member of the Amateur Athletic Club, and as it was customary at the time to have the patronage of some member of the nobility, Chambers got the Marquis of Queensberry to permit his name to be used as the author of the rules. The Marquis of Queensberry died in 1894.

Prior to the adoption of these rules, all fights were governed by what were known as the London prize ring rules, which permitted wrestling and other forms of roughing not tolerated nowadays. Under them a round only ended when one of the fighters was either thrown or knocked down. The new rules changed all this and practically remade the prize fighting game, giving the scientific boxer a chance.

The rules as they were originally written by Chambers are as follows:

- To be a fair stand up boxing match in a 14-foot ring, or as near that size as practicable.
- No wrestling or hugging allowed.
- The rounds to be of three minutes duration, and one minute time between the rounds.
- If either man fall through weakness or otherwise, he must get up unassisted, 10 seconds to be allowed him to do so, the other man meanwhile to return to his corner, and when the fallen man is on his legs the round is to be resumed and continued until the three minutes have expired. If one man fails to come to the scratch in the 10 seconds allowed, it shall be the power of the referee to give his award in favor of the other man.
- A man hanging on the ropes in a helpless state, with his toes off the ground, shall be considered down.
- No seconds or any other person to be allowed in the ring during the rounds.
- Should the contest be stopped by any unavoidable interference, the referee shall be the judge.

CALGARY LOST ONE MORE GAME TO DEACON

Had More Hits and Fewer Errors But Everything Went Wrong With the Score

Edmonton, Alta., May 18.—Edmonton took the third of the series tonight by a score of 5 to 1, by timely hitting and assisted by some poor playing on the part of Calgary.

Paddock was in the line-up. Flanagan caught and Manning pitched. Grady worked out for the locals and although touched for eight hits he pulled the team out of some bad holes. Calgary got their only run in the eighth when Standridge got first on a bad throw. Connors singled, Flanagan got first by fielder's choice, Standridge scored when Manning drove a live one to Lussel who threw wild to first. Claves made a three-bagger in the eighth and got four hits out of four times up.

Carney delayed the game for some time because he had no money to pay his fine. He had to borrow it.
