"Example is Better Than Precept."

It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. Thousands of testimonials are examples of what Hood's has done for others, and what it will do for you.

Dyspepsia — "I was weak and had fainting spells. Dyspepsia and indigestion in severe form troubled me. Five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made me well and strong." Mrs. William Vanvalkenburge, Whitby, Ont."

A Good Medicine — "We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family as a spring medicine and used Hood's Pills for biliousness and found both medicines very effective. For impure blood we know Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine."

THE CANADIAN POSTAL CORPS

Highly Praised by the Head of the De partment in Cape Town.

Ottawa, May 28.-The following correspondence concerning the Canadian postal corps in South Africa is interesting: Army Base Postoffice, Cape Town,

April 25, 1900. Honorable the Postmaster-General,

Ottawa: Sir,-It is now two months since the Canadian postal corps arrived in this colony, and I desire to acknowledge the timely and valuable assistance which your government has been so good to place at my disposal. Owing to the great and rapid inin the number of troops dispatched here from home and the corresponding increase in the size of the mails, the staff at first provided proved altogether inadequate, and it has been necessary to increase the strength of the army postoffice corps fourfold, and to provide much greater accommoda-

The Canadian staff, under the supervision of Captain Ecclestone, has proved very efficient, and besides relieving me of all work in connection with the Canadian troops, has rendered valuable assistance in the work generally. Sergt. Johnston and Jees. Murray and Bedell are now with the field postoffice at the front. Capt. Ecclestone and Pte. Lallier attend to the distribution of the correspondent at the base postoffice here, and the work is performed in a very satisfactory manner, reflecting every credit on the Canadian postoffice department. With the expression of the fullest ap-preciation of the services of the Canadian postal corps, I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant, (Signed) G. W. Treble, major, commanding army postoffice corps. POSTMASTER-GENERAL'S REPLY.

Ottawa, May 23, 1900.-Sir,-Permit me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 25th ult., in which you express your appreciation of the services rendered by the Canadian postal corps in Africa. Though not surprised, I am nevertheless gratified to from your communication that the of-ficers of this department who were selected to assist in the postal work in connection with the campaign, have discharged their duties in a manner to merit the good opinion so kindly expressed in your letter. Yours faithfully, (Signed) W. Mulock, postmaster-

City Liberal Club the Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, formerly home secretary, after paying tribute to British and Boer valor, referred to the settlement of the war. He deprecated the premature talk about the annexation of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, and said: "We have learned so much during the war which was unknown or even suspected at its outbreak, of the character and extent of the dangers by which possessions in South Africa are encircled, that we would be blind indeed if we did not provide in the future adequate safeguards for permanent peace." He insisted, however, that it was necessary to remember that equal rights to all whites must be provided. The only way to do this was to establish self-government in matters of internal concern, followed by free and willing co-operation in matters of imperial concern. WANTS NO PROTECTORATE.

The Equipment Of the Teacher.

Mr. Barnes, public school inspector students at the Normal School Friday afternoon, on "The Equipment of the sets. There must be sincerity in words,

By the "equipment" or a teacher we mean all qualifications, natural and acquired, which shall shape and moid the characters of his pupils, and fit them for the preparation of life. Every thinking person must have felt that the fate of empires depends on the education of the youth. Consequently the teacher's influence may set in action a power which cannot be measured, just as a pebble, thrown into the stream, sets in motion currents, which bound and rebound, never ceasing; so our influence, as teachers, goes on from generation to generation. great aim, therefore, of the teacher's work, should be "deeds, not words." By precept and example he His external influence should be to cherish and unfold the seeds of immortality, and to develop the faculties wherewith God has endowed each one. The teacher must, in order to accomplish the best results, know his subject thoroughly. His scholarship must be broad and accurate, in order to present his work from its various standpoints. for lack of scholarship usually results in poor and imperfect work.

The teacher should read different authors and keep in touch with the educational questions of the day. must be a student in order to teach successfully, for only by constant, daily study do we become thoroughly qualified in any branch of work. Some attention must be given to the book. He must know the text book. and his knowledge he adapts to the capacity of the pupils. Before presenting his work the teacher should ask: "What to do? How to do this? and what to do next?" The end of the lesson must be seen from the beginning, and when the text book is used it must be preceded, accompanied and followed by oral instruction. There must be daily and particular prepara-tion on the part of the teacher. By this the mind is kept fresh and vigorous, worry is lessened and enthusiasm aroused; hence the teacher is better enabled to see what dimculties are involved, and how to avoid them; also The main requisite of a successful

He must power to arouse interest, and the curiosity of his pupils; to foresee difficulto know what help is required, and how this is to be given. This ability may be aided by the experience of others. It is our duty to gather up and assimilate as much of these experiences as is possible. Another qualification necessary for success is tact. To a teacher possessing this quality, government is easy. Though it is difficult to exactly state what is meant by we all are familiar with the method of exercising it. Sometimes a look, a word, or even the tone of voice, has eternity. All can acquire it by patience, diligence and attention. The greatest work of life is the formation of a high moral character.
