COULDN'T TAKE OFF HER RINGS

Hands Were Swollen From Rheumatism—Tanlac Relieves Trouble.

"I had almost lost the use of my limbs from rheumatism and my hands were so swollen I couldn't take off my rings, but since I took Tanlac I have nearly forgotten I ever had rheumatism at all," said Mrs. Mary O'Neill who resides at 18 Starr Street, Halifax, Canada.

"I could talk all day and not even get started telling how I suffered with rheumatism and indigestion for the past four years," she continued. "I would want to eat and would try to, but it didn't do me any good, for gas would form in my stomach and press up against my heart and put me in misery for hours at a time. Many a time I have had to stop work about the house on account of diziness and shortness of breadth. I would just have to lie down and get quiet until my breathing would get easier. Then heartburn and a blinding headache would set in and when I would get up and start across the room, I would have to catch myself to keep from falling on the floor. I was weak and felt too worn out and tired all the time to be anything my natural self and all the medicine I took didn't make me feel any better. Then rheumatism set in and the pains would seem to start in my shoulders and joints and go through my whole body. My joints would swell so that I could hardly move for the stiffness and pain. At night I would lay awake in misery and often wouldn't get any rest at all. Most of the pain would be in my left side, and I couldn't have slept on my left side nor wouldn't have tried for a thousand dollars.

"I took the advice of a young man who is boarding at my house and tried Tanlac, and I am mighty glad I did. Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, for it has not only relieved my stomach trouble entirely, but the rheumatism is also a thing of the past. I can get around the house and go just anywhere I want to, like I had never had rheumatism at all. My appetite has come back like old times and I can eat and enjoy just the biggest kind of a meal and never have a minute's trouble. The heardtburn disappeared when I got relief from the indigestion and I can sleep all night long and wake in the morning feeling fine. My fingers have gone down to their natural size and neither myself nor anybody else could tell I ever had rheumatism. I'll certainly tell anybody that I see what Tanlac has done for me, and will be glad to recommend it in every way possible for I am thankful for the relief it has brought me." Tanlac is sold by THOMAS WRAN, Druggist, Campbellton, N. B.

NOTICE TO NURSES.

All graduate nurses, married or single, in the Province of New Brunswick, are requested to forward their names to Miss A. A. Burns, 72 St. James Street, St. John, N. B., that they may be communicated with regarding Volunteer Service in their own community or in any part of the Province, in case of epidemic or emergency.

Every nurse should comply with this request, as the New Brunswick Graduate Nurses Association is co-operating with Hon. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Public Health, regarding organizing nursing efforts, should there occur an emergency as the Halifax Disaster, or the outbreak of an epidemic such as the influenza of last year.

Digesting.

The famous humorist had partaken too heartily of the Christmas feast. Acute indigestion had laid him low. As his friends gathered about him, he smiled feebly. "At any rate," he murmured between spasms of pain, "I am able to keep up my reputation as a humorist." His friends were puzzled. "Di-gesting!" he gasped.

He Knew.

There had been a painful scene the night before, when Bertie had asked for the hand of Beatrice, and now the lovers were talking over the future.

"I am shocked," said Beatrice, and the way father treated you. I always worshipped him, but it seems my idol has feet of clay."

"Clay!" exclaimed Bertie. "Concrete, more likely."

BUILDS AND BINDS A NATION.

Truly national in character is the exhibit of the Canadian National Railways in the Railway Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. The ensemble is most striking, aid the electric lighting of the dome, combined with most artistic draperies, lends a spacious character to the whole exhibit; while the arrangement of the display in general permits of freedom of movement to view the various exhibits in detail.

The frieze decorations show typical landscape views of the nine Provinces, with the coat of arms of each the connecting link bearing the highly significant reminder that this is an exhibit of "a line that builds and binds a nation."

Three sides of the octagonal building are occupied by a huge topographical map of the Dominion, on which are shown in brilliant illumination the names of the principal points reached by the Canadian National Railways, "the great steel strand that threads the land" being indicated by a broad band of red.

No better or more comprehensive plan could have been adopted to demonstrate that 14,000 miles of railway are now under Canadian National management, and that the Canadian Northern, the Intercolonial and Transcontinental railways have been amalgamated into one vast system. To further demonstrate the fact that the system traverses every Province of the Dominion and reaches every Provincial capital, the observer by an ingenious arrangement of flashing lights, is taken in fancy right across the continent from Halifax to Vancouver and Victoria, stepping momentarily at the principal points enroute and then brought back again. The may should prove of much educational value in telling just what the Canadian National Railways are and the territory they reach.

Beautiful Transparencies.

A rustic centrepiece and several rustic lanterns contain some really beautiful photographic transparencies which do not fail to call attention to Canada's innumerable scenic gems, while the hunter's log cabin with its sporting trophies is also utilized for the projection of dissolving views and moving pictures of scenic and sporting and industrial life.

Forestry, pulp and paper, minerals, Indian trophies and agricultural features complete an exhibition on which there has evidently been much careful preparation and considerable forethought. Nor has the royal visit been forgotten, for on top of the pyramid devoted to a beauiful display of British Columbian fruit stands the Prince of Wales' crest, the three feathers worked in grain with the motto, "Ich Dien." Although it is an exhibit which every visitors should see if he would learn of Canada's national system of transportation.

THE LATE EDWINA GREY.

Referring to the death at Parrsboro, N. S., on Monday, of Mrs. Edwina Grey, the Amherst News says: "The citizens of Amherst will extend to Mr. Webber the sympathy that comes from a full heart. He is bereft of a helpmate—tried and true through a long period of years. The sunshine has gone from his life. But if sympathy will help alleviate the sorrow, he can rest assured that the minds of the people of Amherst are with him today."

The remains will be taken to Augusta Me., for interment.

A CRIPPLE FOR THREE YEARS

Helpless In Bed With Rheumatism Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives". Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

ALEXANDER MUNRO.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

OBITUARY.

John Lawlor, Sr.

Jacquet River and vicinity was saddened about a fortnight ago on learning that another useful life had ended, another home left desolate, in the death of Mr. John Lawlor, Sr. Though he had been a patient sufferer six and a half years, still death came as a great shock to his relatives and large circle of friends. Paralysis being the cause of his death.

The 'Angel' silently entered and summoned therefrom, the most loving husband, the kindnest of friends, and the most charitable of neighbors. Surrounded by his devoted wife and family, he breathed his last on Friday morning, Aug. 22nd, at the age of 82 years.

That he was universally loved and respected, was testified by the beautiful floral tributes which were received from relatives and friends, and by assembled to pay a last tribute of respect to the deceased. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 24th, from his late residence, and the cortege was one of the largest seen in this district for some time. The remains were brought to St. Gabriel's R. C. Church, where the funeral service was conducted by the present pastor. The pall-bearers were John Callahan, Ambrose Brown, Patrick Salter, John Lawlor(Dalhousie), John McGovern and John McDonnell.

Looking Ahead.

Mrs. Testy—What are you burning, my dear?

Mr. Testy—The letters I wrote you before we were married.

Mrs. Testy—Oh, you heartless wretch! Have you no sentiment, no tender——

My Tersty—Shut up, my dear! I'm doing it for your sake. I'm trying to manage things so that when I die nobody will dispute my will on the grounds of insanity.
