LEIPSIC, JULY 19 .- DESTRUCTIVE HALLSTORM .-On the 18th, at four in the afternoon, the sky was suddenly covered in the N. W. by dense thunder clouds. Thunder and lightning were succeeded by heavy torrents of rain, mingled with hail, which caused considerable damage. The hail fell in large masses, either angular or perfectly round, and it fell with such violence that many birds and domestic fowls were killed. The ripe corn suffered considerable injury, and the cars were completely thrashed out by the buil, so that the people gathered them up with their hands. Several of our farmers have not only lost their crops, but their p operty, inasmuch as they had neglected to insure their crops against hail.
