ITALY BADLY SOARED.

The consequence of Bismarck's Retirement Likely to Prove Serious to Her.

New York, March 26.—A Herald despatch from Rome says that Italy is much frightened at the departure of Prince Bismarck as if the key to the whole situation of the world had fallen out of the hands of peace and the whole structure was about to tumble down with a crash. Statesmen are bewildered and stunned, and everybody is waiting for the signal from Premier Crispien. He could easily follow the lead of such a mighty captain as Bismarck and still retain his prestige, but those who know Crispien certainly will not submit to the domination of any other politician. The triple alliance is in danger, that must be clear to any one who knows the present situation in Italy. The Radicals are utterly opposed to the influence which Germany has exerted over Italy through the triple alliance. They are stirring up the people to demand an independent national policy. A tremendous army and navy have drained the country and the nation is not yet prepared to begin the work. If it could give the hand of Italy to Germany, it would be a disaster. Crispien falls from power, the relations of Italy to Germany will undoubtedly be changed. If he remains in control he will not be content to play the second part any longer. It is said Crispien and his ministers are greatly alarmed and that the King is very nervous. A prominent statesman said to the correspondent: "The German Emperor has good intentions, but there is no reason for thinking that he has the strength to hold three nations together. Prince Bismarck is a great man to rule. I know him well enough to feel sure that he will lead his moral support to the maintenance of peace, but, being out of the power, Prince Bismarck can do very little now. One hopeful sign is that Bismarck is not yet prepared to begin the work. If it could give the hand of Italy to Germany, it would be a disaster. Prince Bismarck is a great man to rule. I know him well enough to feel sure that he will lead his moral support to the maintenance of peace, but, being out of the power, Prince Bismarck can do very little now. One hopeful sign is that Bismarck is not yet prepared to begin the work. If it could give the hand of Italy to Germany, it would be a disaster. Crispien falls from power, the relations of Italy to Germany will undoubtedly be changed. If he remains in control he will not be content to play the second part any longer. It is said Crispien and his ministers are greatly alarmed and that the King is very nervous. A prominent statesman said to the correspondent: "The German Emperor has good intentions, but there is no reason for thinking that he has the strength to hold three nations together.
