

To the Principal

Lady Currie says they have a man coming to the door with them at very much less than Macdonald eggs.

Price of fresh extras today in the stores is 39 cents to 45 cents.

Macdonald cost 65 cents plus freight charges, she says

January 11, 1933

Mr. T. Fred Ward,
Bursar,
Macdonald College.

Dear Mr. Ward,

Yes

Lady Currie has just phoned me and asks me to tell you that she wishes the order for eggs discontinued. She spoke to me about this a week ago and I am very sorry to say I forgot to tell the Principal and she phoned this morning to say that the week's order had arrived. She will keep these but does not want any more.

Yours faithfully,

Secretary to the Principal