

Racing More Upsets At Hamilton Bowling Granite Rink Wins Canadian Henley Preliminaries Today

PLUNGER RUED OFF THE TURF BY STEWARDS AT HAMILTON

Nicholas Gandolas, Better Known as "Nick the Greek," Gets the Gate — Midsummer Handicap Being Investigated.

HAMILTON, July 31.—A bomb was thrown into the ranks of the big manipulators that have been taking liberties with the sport of racing on the tracks of the Canadian Racing Association this year when one Nicholas Gandolas, better known as "Nick the Greek," a well known plunger and the man behind the Chesapeake club, one of the books doing business in the ring, was told that his presence was not wanted on the big tracks in Canada, and in future the noted plunger will be among those absent when the steeds are galloping. The ruling, which came from the stewards at Hamilton, was the result of an investigation into the running of the Midsummer Handicap on Wednesday. The sheets of the Chesapeake club were taken up and an unusual amount was shown to have been taken in on the Plate class, all three ways, straight, place and show, and from all accounts "Nick the Greek" is not the only one on whom the axe will fall, as the investigation will be continued and all the guilty parties punished.

The action of the stewards is to be commended by all patrons of the turf, who have the welfare of the sport at heart, as there have been too many tricking and too many suspicious looking races recently, and the sooner all the designing parties are banished the better. The Midsummer Handicap was the chief topic of conversation here today. Never before in the history of racing in this country were there so many ugly rumors connected with the race, and it was hoped that the matter will not be dropped by the investigators until every one connected with the job is ruled off.

The program for today was a very ordinary one. With the exception of the Empire Handicap, the fourth race on the card, and the Brantford Selling Handicap, the last event of the day, the racing was of very ordinary class. The Empire Handicap was won by Samuel R. Meyer, but it could hardly be called a true run race, as Deronde on Elwah carried both Flora Pina and Brantford's stablemate, Lochiel, allowing Elwah's stablemate, Lochiel, to go on the inside. (Lochiel, who had the mount on Elwah, was the only one to place; also took advantage of the opening and got thru, an advantage that made it possible for Samuel R. Meyer to win. Lochiel and Elwah, coupled as third respectively, and it was some time before the official announcement was made. In fact, it would not have been surprising had both horses been disqualified.)

Deronde also had two starters in the selling handicap, Paton and Prince Ahmed, and they were the only ones to place. The other two, Elwah and Lochiel, were only getting up in the last stride, as Elwah's stablemate, Lochiel, to go on the inside. (Lochiel, who had the mount on Elwah, was the only one to place; also took advantage of the opening and got thru, an advantage that made it possible for Samuel R. Meyer to win. Lochiel and Elwah, coupled as third respectively, and it was some time before the official announcement was made. In fact, it would not have been surprising had both horses been disqualified.)

Problem Has Arisen In Boys' Union League

Sporting Editor, World: In the Toronto Boys' Union League, the following problem has arisen: At the conclusion of the league's schedule of home and home games, University Settlement and Moss Park were found to be tied. The tie game was won by University Settlement, but it was discovered that one of the University Settlement players was over age. According to the rules and usage of the Boys' Union League, a team playing a man over age loses all games in which he played. The application of this rule in the present case places Central Neighborhood House and Moss Park a tie-four wins and two losses each—if the scheduled games only are considered, and gives Moss Park the championship if their third game with University Settlement is counted. Should that game be considered, as it makes it possible for Moss Park to win three games from University Settlement, to Central Neighborhood House's two games.

C. J. Atkinson.

Answer: To our way of looking at it, Moss Park should play their third game against a properly qualified University Settlement team. The settlement should not lose a game in which the ineligible man did not play.

Lake Manitoba Trip Off. MONTREAL, July 30. (Press.)—The sailing of the Lake Manitoba from Montreal for Liverpool, scheduled for August 2, was officially cancelled today. The liner will go into drydock Friday, where she will be overhauled and repaired. The fact is known at present, her injuries, which they have resulted in the boat making water, do not seem so severe as to be likely to cause much delay. Capt. Evans states that his command came up the river with her pumps keeping the water under control until recently. The passengers who came out on the Lake Manitoba numbered 268 in the cabin and 472 third class.

SAVED ARREST FOR QUARTER CENTURY

Slayer of Sheriff Who Escaped From Prison Taken Into Custody.

WAS WORKING ON FARM

In the Lapse of Time Had Married and Raised Family.

(Special to The Toronto World).

LOUISVILLE, July 30.—One of the prisoners in Jefferson County Jail is a prosperous farmer of Missouri, who for more than a quarter of a century has been living in tattered security, tilling his crops, rearing his children, enjoying the confidence of his neighbors and walking in the paths of peace.

Nearly twenty-five years ago Richard Allen, then twenty-one years old, shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Chas. Tucker at Liberty, in Casey County, Ky., following a quarrel.

Allen was indicted, tried, convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to spend two years in the penitentiary. Under the statutes the convicted man had sixty days in which to appeal. In the meantime he was confined in the county jail under a strong guard, to protect him from the possible vengeance of aroused kinsmen of the man whom he had slain.

One morning the jail attaches found that Allen had disappeared. Relatives of the dead man appeared before the officers to demand search, but all their efforts proved vain. Peering thru the bars of the Louisville jail, Allen, now a gray-haired man, told a reporter of his flight from Casey County and his life since then.

Grew Homesick. After leaving Kentucky, he said, he went to Missouri. There he remained for a year, when the call of his home state became too strong and he returned, settling in a county less than 150 miles from the scene of the killing for which he had been convicted.

For eighteen years he resided in Kentucky, then he went back to Missouri with his family. Since then he has been living on a farm near New Madrid, Mo., the remembrance of his trial and his conviction growing yearly dimmer.

Four sons and three daughters were born after his escape. Several of them have married. His farm comprises 165 acres.

There, after twenty-seven years, Sheriff Thos. H. Black of Ohio County, Ky., found him.

"I was plowing when Sheriff Black, accompanied by several deputies, came to my farm," said Allen. "I left the plow in the furrow and went to meet the visitors, little suspecting who they were or what they wanted of me. We chatted a few minutes and then one of the deputies said: 'Well, Mr. Allen, I've got a writ for you.'"

"For me?" I asked in surprise. "Why, I haven't done anything. It must be a mistake. I've been living here about fifteen years and haven't done anything contrary to the law."

"Yes, but this writ is older still than that," the deputy gravely explained.

Truth Dawned on Him. "I couldn't imagine what it was," said Allen, "until Sheriff Black, whom I hadn't noticed particularly, stepped up and said: 'Hello, Dick.'"

"Then I recognized him and guessed what it must be."

Allen, according to his story, immediately consented to return to Kentucky without waiting for them to obtain requisition papers.

"I went to the house and changed my clothes," he said, "and then came on with Mr. Black."

Allen said he would try to obtain a pardon. He believes many relatives of the man he killed endorse his plea for pardon. Some of them, however, still hold a grudge against him, he thinks. If he has to do it he will serve his term with fortitude, he said. He would not discuss the killing.
