PAINT LARGE FLAGS GERMANY TELLS U.S.

Admiralty's Suggestion is the First Notice Taken of Recent American Note

WASHINGTON PLEASED

Advice Interpreted as Evidence of Desire to Spare United States Ships

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. - Germany's first response to the last American note on submarine warfare has come from the admiralty, which has requested that American ships have American flags painted on their sides Germans Lose Destroyer and recognized at a distance by submarine commanders. Many American ships are painting the national colors on their sides now but it is said they are painted too small.

Ambassador Gerard transmitted the request in a message, a paraphrase of which, given out by the state department, follows:

"The American ambassador at Berlin has been informed by the German admiralty that merchant vessels wishing to indicate their neutral nationality by painting their national colors on the ships' sides, often commit the mistake of painting these signs too small, so that they cannot be recognized at some distance. The foreign office requests American steamship companies be accordingly

The despatch brought out no comment in official quarters, but it was plain that evidence of a desire by Germany to avoid attacks on American ships was gratifying.

Every American reaching London from States pay for their unfiredliness to the fatherland in its hour of supreme trial. Every American reaching London from Berlin tells one this. Other neutral travelers from Germany iterate and reiterate the statement that it seems to oe high time that the United States essayed with all possible energy the task of making itself sufficiently strong in a naval and military sense to discourage not only past war Teutonic presentment against the United States, but against American progress whenever and wherever they may tend to originate.

Cold Neutrality.

"Our could neutrality is what is deemed the historic test of—the nations of the world in the struggle between right and wrong has frozen the world sympathy." The Germans regard us as gatting frich out of them. The hour is one for really imaginative prescient states—manship. "Prepare should be our watch-word.
