It was not until after 6 o'clock last evening that Charles McGill was re-leased from Toronto Jail. During the afternoon Magistrate Denison was prevalled on to agree to bail in the sum of $100,000, covering two charges on which he was held, viz.. making frau-

The bonds were furnished by P. C.

J. McIntyre, $19,000; John McGill, $19,-000, and the prisoner himself, $50,000. In granting bail, his worship explain-ed the position in which he had been placed. There has been no conflict be-tween himself and the attorney gener-al, for until a prisoner has been committed for trial, the prerogative of allowing ball is solely within the disposition of the magistrate.
