

T. EATON CO.

Ulster News for Men

For a good cold blistering winter's day there's nothing like a Frieze Ulster. It may not have the finished style of a swell overcoat—but it has a good style of its own and is worth many times its cost in a cold snap. Every man, no matter what his income may be, should own one:

Heavy Ulsters, of all-wool frieze, with heavy checked tweed linings, made double breasted and high storm collars, with a tab for the throat, so that it is an ideal cold checker, 52 inches long, four pockets outside and one inside, sizes 36 to 42 chest measure, regular price $7.50, but on Thursday for ..... 5.95

Men's Heavy Ulsters, of heavy frieze, black and Oxford grey, deep collar and tab for throat, stylish and sensible slash pockets, checked tweed linings, 52 inches long, sizes 36 to 44, rattling good value ..... 4.50

Men's Heavy Ulsters, of heavy frieze, choice of brown or Oxford grey, high collar and tab for throat, checked tweed linings, length 52 inches, sizes 36 to 44, veritable citadel against wind and frost, special ..... 6.00

Presents for the Home

You never make a mistake in giving for Christmas some useful present to adorn the home—and you never make a mistake in supplying your home needs, at any season, from this store. A hanging-lamp, for instance, would be a very sensible present and you'll be surprised at the modest prices we ask. Let six representatives speak for the whole stock:

No. 1.	No. 2.	No. 3.	No. 4.	No. 5.	No. 6.
No. 1—Hall Lamp, gilt lacquered chain and mountings, rose or ruby globe ..... 1.65	No. 2—Hall Lamp, larger size, gilt lacquered chain and mountings, rose or ruby globe ..... 2.50	No. 3—Hanging Lamp, glass fount, large - sized burner, 14-inch plain opal dome-shaped shade, weight balance, brass mountings, with decorated shade ..... 2.50	No. 4—Hanging Lamp, glass fount, brass mountings, weight balance, shade, 30 ..... 4.30	No. 5—Hanging Lamp, glass fount, with fine gilt lacquered frame, decorated and tinted shade, 5.40 ..... 5.40	No. 6—Hanging Lamp, polished bronze metal, with rich gold finish, hand decorated with, shade to match, best centre-draft burner, giving a brilliant light, removable foot ..... 6.80

Lunch-Hour Boot Bargain

Get here at 12.15 o'clock at noon on Thursday and we'll give you a bargain that you don't often have offered you. We want over four hundred men to realize what an Eaton shoe bargain is like. We want them to understand the kind of shoes we carry in stock. If you have never bought a pair of boots at this store, make the start on Thursday at noon:

469 pairs Men's Boots, including buck calfskin, Dongola kid and black oil buff, laced or elastic sides, McKay sewn or standard screw soles, sizes 6 to 11, regular value $2.00 and $2.50, Thursday, at 12.15 noon, your choice for ..... 1.25

Neckwear—New and Natty

A man's necktie is usually the one touch of color about his costume—his one chance to show his individuality in his dress. And so you should choose your neckwear with particular care—and remember that the bigger the assortment from which you choose the greater is the likelihood that you will get just the tie that suits you. Here are four random price hints for men of taste:

Elegant neckwear is this—made from the best imported silks and satins. The newest fashions and the latest effects predominate, and you can have your choice of many neat and fancy patterns. They are made in the latest four-in-hand knot and large field silk ..... .50

At the same price, you may have fine silk or satin neckwear, of the newest English and American patterns, either four-in-hand or made-up knots, fine satin linings ..... .50

He would be a strange man who wouldn't like one of these neck-scarfs as a Christmas present. They're very suitable for gifts, and we'll enclose each tie in a pretty box, suitably inscribed:

Suit Cases at $1.79

These are canvas-covered Suit Cases. They'll wear almost as well and are so much cheaper than the all-leather kind. For example, on Thursday we sell:

Canvas - Covered Suit Cases, strong frame and brass lock and clasps, solid leather handle, neat looking in a d d strome, your choice of two sizes, 22 and 24 inch, bought to sell at $2.75 each, Thursday ..... 1.79

Table Medallion

A pretty Table Medallion is one of the nicest presents a person can give. There are subjects to suit all tastes, and prices to suit all purses. The common trouble is the lack of variety and freshness about the subjects—but we have now several of the newest pictures that you're not likely to see outside this store. Notice these prices:

Plain and Colored Table Medallions, size 4 1/2 x 5 1/2 and 5 x 6 ..... .12

Plain and Colored Table Medallions, size 7 x 9, 50c, 60c and 75c ..... .10

Colored Table Medallions, size 10 x 12, $1.00 and $1.25 ..... .25

Plain and Colored Table Medallions, size 11 x 15, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.25 ..... .25

The Toronto Daily Star Will Have a More Complete List.

T. EATON CO. 190 YONGE ST., TORONTO.

THE TORONTO WORLD

No. 88 YONGE-STREET, Toronto.

Daily World, 35c per year. Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year. Telephone 222, 223, 224. Private branch exchange, connecting all departments. Hamilton Office, 19 West King-street. Telephone 1217.

THE WORLD OUTSIDE

London, England, office, P. W. Large, Agent, 145 Fleet-street, London, E.C. The World can be had at the following news stands:

Windsor Hotel ..... Montreal.
St. Lawrence Hall ..... Montreal.
St. James Hotel ..... New York.
P. O. News Co., 211 Dearborn-st., Rochester, N.Y.
McKay Bros., 211 West 12th-st., Montreal.
Hart's Hotel ..... Winnipeg.
Hart's Hotel ..... St. John, N.B.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW LABOR LAW

New South Wales, the wealthiest and most important of the Australian States, has taken the lead in regard to the settlement of labor disputes by the arbitration of a judicial tribunal.

The matter in such a case is placed before a tribunal of three judges, the tests will now be possible. The bill is meant to work both ways, and under its provisions strikes and lockouts will be out of the question. The whole industrial world will watch the operation of this law with eager interest. A judge of the Supreme Court will preside over the arbitration court, and have extensive powers.

An important feature of the bill is that it gives the court power to declare a standard wage. It is very doubtful if such an arbitrary way of settling the differences between employers and their workmen will ever succeed. The law seems good in theory, but we doubt if it will work out satisfactorily when put to a practical test.

It is only by a process of friction and action that the relative rights of capital and labor can be adjusted and determined. There is bound to be strife between two such antagonistic forces. The only place where compulsory arbitration has been put to the test in New Zealand, and even in South Wales has apparently been improved by the working out of the idea in that state. New Zealand has been referred to as a land without strikes, but conditions in that country are considerably different from those that prevail in Canada or the United States. But even in New Zealand there is not wanting evidence that the radical labor laws have not been an unqualified success.

The special effects observed in preventing strikes and lockouts have been accompanied, it is alleged, by a general effect upon initiative in industry, as if there was a felt discouragement among employers because they were in the grip of a power adverse to them. It has been said of the manufacturer that he has been hardly treated, and has taken out of him by the apprehension that he will be interfered with and "put right" by a court which sometimes miscalculates his interests and hampers him by vexatious conditions. Dissatisfaction of some kind under such a system is inevitable, and there is no doubt as to its character permanently as a factor in the development of industry. The working of compulsory arbitration in Australia will be watched with interest the world over.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF TELEPHONES

Ottawa Free Press: There are those who seem to think that public ownership of telephones and other utilities would enable the general public to obtain them for half the price that they would be paid for by the present monopoly. France does not justify the assumption. A recent report shows that since 1890 the telephone has been the property of the state in France, and yet at the beginning of the current year Paris with its two and a half million inhabitants had half the telephones in France—something over thirty thousand instruments. Only four other cities had more than 10,000 "calls." And the tariff has been very low.

Neither France nor any other of the old countries is a good criterion in progressiveness. The people of France, outside of Paris, Cannes and other favorite resorts, are not by any means in the vanguard of progress in modern methods, and are not alet in adopting anything they may deem a luxury, or which can be done without. People who have traveled in Europe will tell you that the smaller cities and towns are dull and slow-going compared with similar places in the United States. The government's ownership of telegraph lines in England has been a success, and it is safe to assume that the telephone system could be managed as successfully.

Old Country Frenchmen are not conspicuous for good management in any line of public utilities. They failed to improve the Panama Canal, and sold it out to the United States for a mere trifle. Sweden has made a success of it, but it is not a government monopoly, and the rates are lower at Stockholm, we believe, than in any other city in the world.

State-owned telephones are a coming development, and there is no good reason why they should not be adopted in this country and made to produce a revenue, at the same time giving the people a cheaper service than we have now.

CONTEMPT OF COURT

A Chicago judge the other day delivered an important judgment, the subject matter of which was the right of judges to punish individuals for contempt of court. The case came up before Judge Dunne under habeas corpus proceedings, instituted on behalf of the Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality. The case was brought before the court by the Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

THE TORONTO WORLD

No. 88 YONGE-STREET, Toronto.

Daily World, 35c per year. Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year. Telephone 222, 223, 224. Private branch exchange, connecting all departments. Hamilton Office, 19 West King-street. Telephone 1217.

THE WORLD OUTSIDE

London, England, office, P. W. Large, Agent, 145 Fleet-street, London, E.C. The World can be had at the following news stands:

Windsor Hotel ..... Montreal.
St. Lawrence Hall ..... Montreal.
St. James Hotel ..... New York.
P. O. News Co., 211 Dearborn-st., Rochester, N.Y.
McKay Bros., 211 West 12th-st., Montreal.
Hart's Hotel ..... Winnipeg.
Hart's Hotel ..... St. John, N.B.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW LABOR LAW

New South Wales, the wealthiest and most important of the Australian States, has taken the lead in regard to the settlement of labor disputes by the arbitration of a judicial tribunal.

The matter in such a case is placed before a tribunal of three judges, the tests will now be possible. The bill is meant to work both ways, and under its provisions strikes and lockouts will be out of the question. The whole industrial world will watch the operation of this law with eager interest. A judge of the Supreme Court will preside over the arbitration court, and have extensive powers.

An important feature of the bill is that it gives the court power to declare a standard wage. It is very doubtful if such an arbitrary way of settling the differences between employers and their workmen will ever succeed. The law seems good in theory, but we doubt if it will work out satisfactorily when put to a practical test.

It is only by a process of friction and action that the relative rights of capital and labor can be adjusted and determined. There is bound to be strife between two such antagonistic forces. The only place where compulsory arbitration has been put to the test in New Zealand, and even in South Wales has apparently been improved by the working out of the idea in that state. New Zealand has been referred to as a land without strikes, but conditions in that country are considerably different from those that prevail in Canada or the United States. But even in New Zealand there is not wanting evidence that the radical labor laws have not been an unqualified success.

The special effects observed in preventing strikes and lockouts have been accompanied, it is alleged, by a general effect upon initiative in industry, as if there was a felt discouragement among employers because they were in the grip of a power adverse to them. It has been said of the manufacturer that he has been hardly treated, and has taken out of him by the apprehension that he will be interfered with and "put right" by a court which sometimes miscalculates his interests and hampers him by vexatious conditions. Dissatisfaction of some kind under such a system is inevitable, and there is no doubt as to its character permanently as a factor in the development of industry. The working of compulsory arbitration in Australia will be watched with interest the world over.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF TELEPHONES

Ottawa Free Press: There are those who seem to think that public ownership of telephones and other utilities would enable the general public to obtain them for half the price that they would be paid for by the present monopoly. France does not justify the assumption. A recent report shows that since 1890 the telephone has been the property of the state in France, and yet at the beginning of the current year Paris with its two and a half million inhabitants had half the telephones in France—something over thirty thousand instruments. Only four other cities had more than 10,000 "calls." And the tariff has been very low.

Neither France nor any other of the old countries is a good criterion in progressiveness. The people of France, outside of Paris, Cannes and other favorite resorts, are not by any means in the vanguard of progress in modern methods, and are not alet in adopting anything they may deem a luxury, or which can be done without. People who have traveled in Europe will tell you that the smaller cities and towns are dull and slow-going compared with similar places in the United States. The government's ownership of telegraph lines in England has been a success, and it is safe to assume that the telephone system could be managed as successfully.

Old Country Frenchmen are not conspicuous for good management in any line of public utilities. They failed to improve the Panama Canal, and sold it out to the United States for a mere trifle. Sweden has made a success of it, but it is not a government monopoly, and the rates are lower at Stockholm, we believe, than in any other city in the world.

State-owned telephones are a coming development, and there is no good reason why they should not be adopted in this country and made to produce a revenue, at the same time giving the people a cheaper service than we have now.

CONTEMPT OF COURT

A Chicago judge the other day delivered an important judgment, the subject matter of which was the right of judges to punish individuals for contempt of court. The case came up before Judge Dunne under habeas corpus proceedings, instituted on behalf of the Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

THE TORONTO WORLD

No. 88 YONGE-STREET, Toronto.

Daily World, 35c per year. Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year. Telephone 222, 223, 224. Private branch exchange, connecting all departments. Hamilton Office, 19 West King-street. Telephone 1217.

THE WORLD OUTSIDE

London, England, office, P. W. Large, Agent, 145 Fleet-street, London, E.C. The World can be had at the following news stands:

Windsor Hotel ..... Montreal.
St. Lawrence Hall ..... Montreal.
St. James Hotel ..... New York.
P. O. News Co., 211 Dearborn-st., Rochester, N.Y.
McKay Bros., 211 West 12th-st., Montreal.
Hart's Hotel ..... Winnipeg.
Hart's Hotel ..... St. John, N.B.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW LABOR LAW

New South Wales, the wealthiest and most important of the Australian States, has taken the lead in regard to the settlement of labor disputes by the arbitration of a judicial tribunal.

The matter in such a case is placed before a tribunal of three judges, the tests will now be possible. The bill is meant to work both ways, and under its provisions strikes and lockouts will be out of the question. The whole industrial world will watch the operation of this law with eager interest. A judge of the Supreme Court will preside over the arbitration court, and have extensive powers.

An important feature of the bill is that it gives the court power to declare a standard wage. It is very doubtful if such an arbitrary way of settling the differences between employers and their workmen will ever succeed. The law seems good in theory, but we doubt if it will work out satisfactorily when put to a practical test.

It is only by a process of friction and action that the relative rights of capital and labor can be adjusted and determined. There is bound to be strife between two such antagonistic forces. The only place where compulsory arbitration has been put to the test in New Zealand, and even in South Wales has apparently been improved by the working out of the idea in that state. New Zealand has been referred to as a land without strikes, but conditions in that country are considerably different from those that prevail in Canada or the United States. But even in New Zealand there is not wanting evidence that the radical labor laws have not been an unqualified success.

The special effects observed in preventing strikes and lockouts have been accompanied, it is alleged, by a general effect upon initiative in industry, as if there was a felt discouragement among employers because they were in the grip of a power adverse to them. It has been said of the manufacturer that he has been hardly treated, and has taken out of him by the apprehension that he will be interfered with and "put right" by a court which sometimes miscalculates his interests and hampers him by vexatious conditions. Dissatisfaction of some kind under such a system is inevitable, and there is no doubt as to its character permanently as a factor in the development of industry. The working of compulsory arbitration in Australia will be watched with interest the world over.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF TELEPHONES

Ottawa Free Press: There are those who seem to think that public ownership of telephones and other utilities would enable the general public to obtain them for half the price that they would be paid for by the present monopoly. France does not justify the assumption. A recent report shows that since 1890 the telephone has been the property of the state in France, and yet at the beginning of the current year Paris with its two and a half million inhabitants had half the telephones in France—something over thirty thousand instruments. Only four other cities had more than 10,000 "calls." And the tariff has been very low.

Neither France nor any other of the old countries is a good criterion in progressiveness. The people of France, outside of Paris, Cannes and other favorite resorts, are not by any means in the vanguard of progress in modern methods, and are not alet in adopting anything they may deem a luxury, or which can be done without. People who have traveled in Europe will tell you that the smaller cities and towns are dull and slow-going compared with similar places in the United States. The government's ownership of telegraph lines in England has been a success, and it is safe to assume that the telephone system could be managed as successfully.

Old Country Frenchmen are not conspicuous for good management in any line of public utilities. They failed to improve the Panama Canal, and sold it out to the United States for a mere trifle. Sweden has made a success of it, but it is not a government monopoly, and the rates are lower at Stockholm, we believe, than in any other city in the world.

State-owned telephones are a coming development, and there is no good reason why they should not be adopted in this country and made to produce a revenue, at the same time giving the people a cheaper service than we have now.

CONTEMPT OF COURT

A Chicago judge the other day delivered an important judgment, the subject matter of which was the right of judges to punish individuals for contempt of court. The case came up before Judge Dunne under habeas corpus proceedings, instituted on behalf of the Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

The Chicago American, who were serving sentences of 30 and 60 days respectively, imposed by Judge Haney for contempt of court in writing and publishing criticisms and cartoons which reflected severely on Judge Haney's independence and impartiality.

THE TORONTO WORLD

No. 88 YONGE-STREET, Toronto.

Daily World, 35c per year. Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year. Telephone 222, 223, 224. Private branch exchange, connecting all departments. Hamilton Office, 19 West King-street. Telephone 1217.

THE WORLD OUTSIDE

London, England, office, P. W. Large, Agent, 145 Fleet-street, London, E.C. The World can be had at the following news stands:

Windsor Hotel ..... Montreal.
St. Lawrence Hall ..... Montreal.
St. James Hotel ..... New York.
P. O. News Co., 211 Dearborn-st., Rochester, N.Y.
McKay Bros., 211 West 12th-st., Montreal.
Hart's Hotel ..... Winnipeg.
Hart's Hotel ..... St. John, N.B.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW LABOR LAW

New South Wales, the wealthiest and most important of the Australian States, has taken the lead in regard to the settlement of labor disputes by the arbitration of a judicial tribunal.

The matter in such a case is placed before a tribunal of three judges, the tests will now be possible. The bill is meant to work both ways, and under its provisions strikes and lockouts will be out of the question. The whole industrial world will watch the operation of this law with eager interest. A judge of the Supreme Court will preside over the arbitration court, and have extensive powers.

An important feature of the bill is that it gives the court power to declare a standard wage. It is very doubtful if such an arbitrary way of settling the differences between employers and their workmen will ever succeed. The law seems good in theory, but we doubt if it will work out satisfactorily when put to a practical test.

It is only by a process of friction and action that the relative rights of capital and labor can be adjusted and determined. There is bound to be strife between two such antagonistic forces. The only place where compulsory arbitration has been put to the test in New Zealand, and even in South Wales has apparently been improved by the working out of the idea in that state. New Zealand has been referred to as a land without strikes, but conditions in that country are considerably different from those that prevail in Canada or the United States. But even in New Zealand there is not wanting evidence that the radical labor laws have not been an unqualified success.

The special effects observed in preventing strikes and lockouts have been accompanied, it is alleged, by a general effect upon initiative in industry, as if there was a felt discouragement among employers because they were in the grip of a power adverse to them. It has been said of the manufacturer that he has been hardly treated, and has taken out of him by the apprehension that he will be interfered with and "put right" by a court which sometimes miscalculates his interests and hampers him by vexatious conditions. Dissatisfaction of some kind under such a system is inevitable, and there is no doubt as to its character permanently as a factor in the development of industry. The working of compulsory arbitration in Australia will be watched with interest the world over.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF TELEPHONES