BOYS SWEPT UNDER THAMES BY RAIN-SWOLLEN CURRENT OF 100 RECRUITS

Have Narrow Escape Near Clark's Bridge.

GREATER CAUTION URGED

Supervised Swimming Holes Proper Places for Lads to Bathe.

Swept off their feet as the swollen current of the Thames rushed along after the heavy recent rains, four boys residing near Clark's bridge had close calls from drowning Monday afternoon. The boys were swimming at the bend tomed to bathe at this point, they did not count on the strength of the river's flow. When they got over a mudbar, on which they play, all of them were in danger, and one of them, Gordon Dann, went under twice and was rescued with some difficulty by older boys who were nearby. When he was finally pulled out and pumped out and the pire pladed in the united states helped to increase the list by sending twenty volunteers over. Thirteen came from Detroit, five from Battle Creek, and two from Cleveland. St. Thomas sent two recruits up, one signed up from Parkbill and another from Woodstock. Eight along Front street, and while accus-

who were nearby. When he was finally pulled out and pumped out and the air filled his lungs he drew a deep breath and said: "Golly, that's better than ice cream!"

Charles Smith was being carried along in the deep water, when his feet struck a stone, and he was able to gain a footing. Another boy named Smith and Tom Hines were in the party, and they all were brought to the bonks after a struggle. All of the boys yelled hard and attracted help, otherwise one or two of them would have been drowned.

The river is crowded with boys since the warm weather started, and it is timely that a warning about he care.

COUNCIL IS NOT INTERFERING IN RAILWAY CASE

Conciliation Board Takes the Question Up at Special Meeting.

ASKS FOR SUGGESTIONS

Aldermen Declare Effort Made to Make City Responsible.

The city council decided yesterday afternoon not to interfere in the dispute between the Street Railway Computer Decided to the computer of the city o pute between the Street Railway Company and its employees. The question was introduced at a special meeting of the council with the three members of the board of conciliation. Judge Livingston said at the conclusion of the discussion that they had the opinions of the principals to the controversy and wanted the opinion of the people as reflected by the members of the council. They got it. The members of the council, reiterated their stand to take no action at present in regard to the question of increased fares. Not one suggested that they should change their stand. Ald. Keene expressed the opinion that Ald. Reene expressed the opinion that the move was one to draw the council into the controversy. If trouble resulted, the whole blame would be laid at the door of the council. Controller Merryfield took a more charitable view sulted, the whole blame would be laid at the door of the council. Controller Merryfield took a more charitable view of the matter. He said that the members of the board were evidently seeking information as to what had led the council to reject the company's application for increased fares. He believed that the council had concluded that the company could afford to pay the men a substantial increase out of its surplus earnings, and he thought the council should explain how it arrived at such a conclusion for the benefit of the board.

No Adjustment Yet.

When the meeting opened and after expressing his regret that the press was present. Judge Livingstone said that so far his board had failed to bring about an adjustment of the dispute. The company said that its financial condition was such that it was not in a position to make an increase. It was bound by an agreement with the city, and so could not increase its revenue. He did not presume to tell the council that it should take any action at all. However, he thought the council might have something to suggest that would bring about the desired result.

F. H. McGuigan, the company's representative, said that the men were entitled to a wage increase, but the company could not afford it. Last year it passed its dividend and paid its stockholders out of stock held in the treasury. If an increase in wages was given, and there was no increased revenue there would be nothing left but a receivership or else the stockholders go down in their pockets to make up the loss.

Chas. Ferguson, the men's representative, said he had nothing to add to what had been said.

What Men Want.

what had been said. What Men Want.

Ald. Holmes wanted to know what the men are asking. He was told a minimum of 44 cents an hour. Their present wage is 23 to 28 cents an hour. Ald. Ashplant said that the company's statements and figures did not pany's statements and figures cla not agree. He pointed out that in presenting its case for increased fares it had picked out the worst financial year. He said it was beating about the bush, without a fair presentation of its case. The company's own figures showed that it could afford to pay the men an increase.
