ANOTHER CAR FATALITY

YOUNG TAILOR VICTIM

Fred Cook, of Claremont Street, Crushed Beneath Trailer—Tried to Board Moving Car.

Fred Cook, a young married man, living at 116 Claremont-street, was tragically mangled in trying to board a rapidly moving car at York Street and Gerrard-street, at 6.15 last night. He died of his injuries at Grace Hospital at 10.15 o'clock.

Cook, who is employed by W. J. Robertson, a tailor, at 400 York-street, ran to catch southbound College car, 916. He caught the hand-car of the rear platform of the motor, but missed the footboard, and was dragged. He was crushed under the wheels of the trailer.

He was attended on the spot by Drs. Curry and Wagner, and removed to a drug store, from which he was taken to Grace Hospital. He suffered greatly from loss of blood. The accident was witnessed by Charles Turner, 24 Eastern-avenue, a friend, who was standing with him just as the car came along.

An inquest will be opened to-day at Grace Hospital.

Cook was 25 years of age, and was married just six months ago. The motor was in charge of Motor-man John Taylor and Conductor S. McClelland.

The Latest Drink.
The following recipe for a very delicious and economical drink is given by a well-known bar vivand:
With a sharp knife cut the rim of a lemon as thin as possible, being careful to keep it in one piece; place this in a long thin glass with a full glass of ice or Scotch whiskey and then fill up with a pint of cold radnor water.

WORRY CAUSED SUICIDE

Pathetic Confession of New Brunswick Official is Read at Inquest by Premier Hazen.

FREDERICTON, N.B., May 5.—(Special.)—At the inquest into the suicide of Deputy Surveyor-General W. J. Hazen, held in the parliament buildings, last night, Premier Hazen read a letter addressed to him, written by the deceased just before his death, in which he made a full and manful confession of defalcations. The letter was long and pathetic. In it he stated that he was behind in his accounts to the extent of $12,000. The shortage extended over many years, and arose from the fact that the surveyor-general's department was allowed by the legislature to carry an overdraft each year to the amount of $20,000. He had declared his own private account, along with that of the department and as each year came round he had always met the balance by making an overdraft for the amount.

The statements he had made to the government, he stated, were always correct, and that which he made was absolutely correct. But the burden was more than he could bear, and this was the reason of his passing out of this world.

Premier Hazen broke down several times while reading the letter. The jury returned a verdict that death was due to suicide, caused by financial worry.

BROTHER TAKES REVENGE

Assaults Man Who Procured Operation for Sister.

VANCOUVER, May 5.—George A. Walkem, a prominent young business man, is on trial for procuring an abortion on Blanche Bond, a young woman with whom he lived. The girl faints several times on the stand. Several physicians were examined on technical features of the case and were sharply cross-examined by Joe Martin.

Just before the trial Richard Bond, the father of the girl, pounced on Walkem and blackened his eyes and other wise damaged his features. Young Bond is under observation lest he does harm to Walkem.

HEAD, ARMS AND LEGS COVERED WITH ECZEMA

Mrs. L. Elliott, of 41 Henry St. S. Catharines, Ont., says: "My little daughter Gladys, 4 years of age, was badly troubled from infancy with eczema on the back of her head, under her hair, the joints of her arms and on the back of her legs. This terrible disease first broke out on the side of her head in the form of a red rash and pimples which, if rubbed or scratched sent forth a watery substance, and which later spread to the back of her head, joints of her arms and back of her legs. It proved rather obstinate case and the child suffered intensely from itching and pain and was very restless and peevish. We tried all kinds of preparations, soaps, etc., but failed to bring about any cure. At last a friend who had been using Zam-Buk for small sores and wounds gave me a portion of her box to try. This seemed so good and showed such improvement that I bought a supply, and persevered in using, the disease was soon checked and finally cured. I feel very grateful for the cure Zam-Buk has brought about."

NEW ELECTION LAW

His law, requiring that registration must take place annually, thus declaratory of the Manitoba act no longer applicable. The Manitoba lists of 1903 were prepared without any idea that they would be required for a federal election, and the returning officer found a difficulty before him of preparing lists for widely extended constituencies and to avoid overlapping he crossed out the names of voters not belonging to the particular constituency with which he was dealing.

Mr. Aylesworth proceeded to say that the purpose of the present bill was to make a repetition of the mistakes of 1903 and to avoid the overlapping of the lists. He insisted on the house controlling its own voters' lists. He had been told that the bill was a measure to simplify the complicated and confusing provisions of the present act, and that it was a measure to simplify the complicated and confusing provisions of the present act.

PREMIER AT HAMILTON

felt as badly as that about the present government. For the president of The Globe and its editor were both officeholders under the Whitney administration. Surely they would not stay and defile themselves as the hirings and goings as had as had been described.

As to the opposition, during the last session there had been none. (Laughter.) The opposition leader occupied the time defining himself instead of attacking the government.

Tributes to Henry Carscallen and Dr. Willoughby were accompanied by a warm appreciation of Hon. J. S. Hendrie.

All But One.
The premier then enumerated the promises of the Conservative campaign four years ago and with pride and satisfaction affirmed that the long list had been accomplished, all but law reform, the foundation of which had been laid and the settlement of which would be dealt with next session.

The people of the province were not willing, declared Mr. Whitney, to accept as a leader of the Liberal party a gentleman who had been a member of the Ross government in the last months of its existence.

He concluded an exhaustive analysis of the finances of the province, estimating aggregate surpluses of $1,656,000, by stating that the government gave back $908,000 more to the people every year than had the Ross government.

Real Money.
He described the success of the provincial treasurer's loan flotations and complimented Col. Matheson on his clever arrangement. The province had a tangible surplus and they had $357,000 cash lying at call in the T. and N. O. Railway.

With regard to prison labor, they had brought about a state of things which, when considered, would bring to an end for ever prison labor in the province.

When they had something to repair in their houses they did not blow them up or chop them down. The government had gone into the subject carefully and he had no doubt the plan they had adopted would turn out successfully, as all their schemes had.

(Applause.)
Reference to the railway board, brief as it was, was well received. It had been endowed with most exhaustive and important powers, the last of which was the authority to pass on the validity of municipal bylaws for borrowing money and issuing bonds.

The Power Question.
It would be a long story to go over the Niagara power question, but he wished to say that they did all in their power to give the Electrical Development Co., which was a Canadian company, a chance and because it was a Canadian company they did that.

He did not wish to hurt them or the Niagara Power Co., but a few gentlemen should not interfere with the welfare of the city in their dealings with the hydro-electric commission, of which he had been a member and the success of which so much engineering ability and talent had certified.

Crossing Accident at Montreal—One Loses Her Arm.
MONTREAL, May 5.—(Special.)—Two girls, Eva Page and Flora Miron, employed by the American Tobacco Company, narrowly escaped death to-night.

The girls were crossing the tracks of the Grand Trunk at Rose de L'Immaculee street where the crossing is quite unattended and when in the midst of the track a light engine came along at a lively pace and struck both, knocking them to either side of the tracks.

Miss Page was picked up unconscious, but outside of a bad shaking up escaped serious injury, but Miss Miron was badly injured and had to have her left arm amputated at the shoulder.

"You're always satisfied to pay a little more than the lowest price for a good article. Why not apply the same rule to your work at a fair price and you'll get permanent, lasting satisfaction. The Fred Armstrong Co., Ltd."

The Liquor Issue.
The premier paid considerable attention to the liquor question. In 1904 the government got $228,000 from licenses, and in 1905 $388,000. They had enforced the law without fear of retaliation and had been found fault with for things done and undone. In Toronto the hotels under the former government had been described by one of the license commissioners as unfit to live in and without inspection. No respectable Chinaman would dwell in such a place. They were simply horrible. If any one would say so to-day and say it out loud he would prove to him that such a state of things no longer existed.

The late G. F. Marter, Joseph Gibson, Dr. C. V. Emory, The Pioneer, declared the license law was enforced.

With regard to local option he pointed out that Hon. Mr. Ross had positively and specifically declined to put himself on record. He never said a word to show that he opposed or favored it.

The three-fifths clause, which had aroused so much comment, he argued, was in line with British precedents. "When the time comes, when we see it necessary for any steps to be taken for the diminution or minimising of that traffic, the government will make its existence on its ability to deal with that question to bring about a place."

In New Ontario.
Applause greeted the announcement taken with respect to the mining lands in the agricultural districts. Settlers there and were entitled to the minerals as well.

He went into the LaRoe case in detail and seemed to satisfy the audience that the business policy pursued was a proper one.

Turning to local matters he urged the electors to return Hon. Mr. Hendrie, the wisdom of which course he supported for Mr. Scott.

He reminded them of the Ross method of bribing not individuals but whole ridings. The ordinary briber was a type in sin compared with the man who bribed a constituency.

"You have heard some talk of a technical institute for Hamilton in the future. (Applause.) I am not here to promise anything to the City of Hamilton. (Loud applause.)" government may lose votes by it, but we will stand fast on that. We will do what is fair by the City of Hamilton and will do it no matter whom you elect—(applause)—even if you return two Grits.

At the Beginning.
John Milne, president of the Conservative Club, opened the proceedings with some references to local questions, specially touching on the hydro-electric power question. He understood that Premier Whitney took the view that the rivers, streams and falls in which Ontario was so rich, belonged to the people (applause)—and the people should have the advantage. Hamilton was the home of the Cataract Power Co., but a few gentlemen should not interfere with the welfare of the city in their dealings with the hydro-electric commission, of which he had been a member and the success of which so much engineering ability and talent had certified.

Pumps Vim Into Worn-Out Men

Take This Belt for What It is Worth. Wear It Until You Are Cured. Then Pay Me.

If you feel tired and stupid, with no ambition, to get out and hustle; if you have spells of despondency and a desire to give up the fight, you need new energy. The race is to the strong. Show me a weakling, lacking in courage, strength and ambition, three essentials to the making up of a successful man.

I can take a man like that and pump new energy into his body while he sleeps, and in a few weeks' time transform him into a giant in strength and courage. It is proven that men and electricity are one and the same thing. If you lack this energy you will not succeed in life in your nerves, its vitalizing spark in your blood. It is proven in the morning full of new life, new energy, and courage enough to tackle anything.

Mr. Bell sends a steady current of electricity into the nerves and vitalizing the body. It is proven that men and electricity are one and the same thing. If you lack this energy you will not succeed in life in your nerves, its vitalizing spark in your blood. It is proven in the morning full of new life, new energy, and courage enough to tackle anything.
