How the armless and legless are provided for. 1—A French soldier, provided with two artificial arms, has no fear for his future on the farm. 2—His soldiers, thirty days after arrival in hospital with both legs gone, are walking as well as most people. 3—Minus both arms and one foot, this French soldier is an active farmer again.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

NEW YORK SUCCESS FOR HERE MONDAY

Imperial Theatre Importing "Skinner's Dress Suit", The Inspirational Clothing Comedy. One of the notable pictures of the last year is a charming domestic comedy entitled "Skinner's Dress Suit" produced by the Essanay Company of Chicago in arrangement with the author of that up-to-date story. The book has wide circulation in St. John and is still being discussed around from friends to friends. "Skinner's Dress Suit" is the amusing and very probable fiction of a young married couple who skinned along sojournly until "he" got a rancor at least he said he did so as not to appear a book to his progressive wife. Then she made him buy a dress suit so they could mix a little. First the dress suit promised to break the timid clerk, then it caught on, then it made a hit, then he perked up, then he got talking to managers and—well, no use spoiling this knockout hit, come and see it for yourself. A perfectly delightful life-to-life comedy. It is not a clothing advertisement but it teaches the gospel of proper reinvestment. Then there will be the usual History of the World film, Matt & Jeff, Drew comedy and scenic.

EAGLE'S EYE AND BIG FIVE-REELER AT GEM

This afternoon and tonight the Gem will present episode No. 7 of "The Eagle's Eye" serial uncovering German plots in U. S. This is "The Brown Beret" a thrilling chapter. At 2.30, 7.15 and 8.45, only five and ten cents.

FRENCH SOCIALIST LEADER'S OPINION

Paris, July 27.—Albert Thomas, former member of the war council and leader of the French Socialists, speaking at a luncheon tendered a delegation from the Social Democratic League of America, said: "The American Social Democrats speak in the same terms and have the same conceptions as the group of French Socialists in the French parliament, of which I am a member. It is those ideas which must prevail if the war is to be brought to a successful conclusion. The forty members of the chamber referred to by M. Thomas, as well as delegates of the Italian and Belgian Socialists were present at the luncheon.

Made Her Pause. The lady applicant for a Government position hesitated so long over her first question that the gentleman in charge looked over her shoulder to see what her first question on the paper might be. It was: "How old are you?"—Pittsburgh Post.

NEW ST. DAVID'S

Fine Structure to Replace the Church Destroyed by Fire

Rising Phoenix-like, from its ashes, St. David's Presbyterian church will be a finer, more modern and more commodious structure than that which was burned. When the former edifice was destroyed by fire last December its fate was that of its predecessor, for the first St. David's had been wiped out in the great fire of 1877. The same spirit which moved the congregation of those days to abate with the erection of a new and better building still prevailed and the first thought was of plans for rebuilding. But the conditions arising from the world war had to be taken into consideration and this phase of the matter was carefully canvassed. It was decided that as the war had laid greater obligations than ever before on the church, and as it was the opinion of experts for a long time that the present building must be rebuilt. Plans were prepared for a long time, but the war has now intervened and the work now is under the contracts and the new building will occupy the same site as the one which it replaces and parts of the foundations can be used, but everything else will be new. The church will be of modern Gothic design, with pitched roof, the gable ends towards the street. The front will be granite, the lower portion of the main granite ashlar to the top of the steeple and the balance of granite shoddy with olive sandstone trimmings. The steeple is in the plan for the tower and the plan for the south-eastern corner. If that is desirable in the future, but the lack of the lower will not detract from the design. At the front, the building will be of a width of seventy-two feet. A flight of steps twenty-six feet wide will lead to the triple entrance, consisting of a wide double doorway in the middle with lobby or narthex will be 12 ft. x 20 ft. from each side will be glass screen on which the tracery with the hallways towards the street. A red tiled floor and brown oak finish will be used in this portion of the building. Entrance to the body of the church from the narthex and one from each side of the side hallways. The auditorium will be eighty-one feet long and fifty-six feet wide and on each side, at the western end, will be transepts, twenty-seven by eleven feet. The seating will be on the circular plan, with every seat facing towards the pulpit. A gallery at the eastern end, which will seat 150 persons, will bring the total seating capacity to 1,000. Seven exits will make it possible to empty the church in short order in case of fire or panic. The platform extends into the main body of the church, with the pulpit projecting in the middle and surrounded by the choir seats will be based on the organ manual. In front of the organ will be a small raised platform for soloists or other special features of the musical portion of the services. At the northwest corner will be a choir vestry, fitted with wardrobe and made cabinets. In the rear of the church building the Sunday school and other departments will be located. For the present only the lower portion of this extension, the library and a class room, two large rooms, one thirty-one by forty-seven feet, and the other thirty-three by thirty-nine feet, will be used respectively for gymnasium and primary department when the building is completed, but will be used for Sunday school purposes at first. Kitchen, storeroom, toilets and vault are contained in this part of the building. The church will be heated by steam, with the use of two boilers. With it will be combined a ventilating system, by which cold air will be drawn over the heated pipes and led in through registers in the floor of the church and other portions of the building. In addition, the church will be heated by direct radiation from radiators concealed in pockets under the windows screened by grills. The interior of the church will show half open timbered room, with masonry trusses and mock beams dividing the spaces between them into panels. All the interior finish will be in brown ash. The roof will be supported by steel trusses and on the outside the roof will be of slate. The windows, of most attractive design, are planned to have double thickness of glass eventually. As it is probable that memorial windows will be provided at some time, the plans merely call for the outer windows of ribbed glass at present. According to the contract the building will be roofed in by fall and finished by August 1, 1919. J. M. Belyea has the general contract; B. Mooney & Sons are doing the masonry work; James McDade the metal work; H. H. Pullen the painting and J. H. Doody the plumbing. F. Neil Brodie of this city is the architect and the building will be a monument to the skill of the local men who are responsible for its design and erection.

Enroll All Doctors In United States

Nation to Assume Control and Assign Physicians in Both Army and Civil Life

Washington, July 27.—The United States Government is about to assume control of the entire medical profession in the United States to obtain sufficient doctors for the fast-growing army and at the same time to distribute those remaining to the localities or services where they are most needed for civilian work. This mobilization is to be accomplished either by enrolling all doctors in a volunteer service corps under pledge to accept whatever service, military or civilian, that may be assigned to them by the governing body of the corps, or, if the voluntary plan is not successful, by legislation providing for drafting them into Government service. Medical officers of the Government believe compulsory conscription will not be necessary. Organization plans for the Volunteer Medical Service Corps already have been made and enrollment started in a few States under authority of the Council of National Defense. Instead of enrolling in this corps only those physicians not suitable for military service in either case of age, physical infirmity, dependency, or institutional or public need, as planned at present, the Government is expected soon to throw open the membership to all doctors, and to bind them with a pledge "during the present emergency to accept service, military or civilian, wherever, whenever, and for whatever length of time, the Government may require, or to which they may be assigned by the central governing body."

Britain and U. S. Lead Dye Trade

Germany is Ousted From the Trade For All Time, Says Report

"The exports from the United Kingdom of the commodities included under this comprehensive heading (The Chemical Trade, including Drugs and Dyes), amounted in 1912 to £21,400,000, while those of Germany were £41,200,000. The exports from the United States were £7,800,000 in the same year," says a special correspondent of The New York Journal of Commerce. The above is a quotation from the report of a British Departmental Committee concerning the position of certain industries ante-war, and the possibilities of expansion post-war. The figures contrasted the world as a competing market for themselves. They show at least Germany's former predominant position in the world as a supplier of chemical products, drugs and dyes. The lesson which they also convey is already being learned on both sides of the Atlantic, and the longer the war lasts the more it is certain that Germany will be unable to get the free gifts that might be yours.

Not only was the church bell tolled eventually but the priest was compelled to kiss the Stars and Stripes, which had been nailed to the front door of the rectory by a patriotic citizen. He was probably the priest who was rescued and badly hit by a police sergeant in the leg. The dog was clabbed into releasing his grip.

Father Heitlen's church is in the midst of the German population, but he says he is an American citizen and loyal. He is about forty years of age, and has been in charge of the church for several years.

Mayor Brush yesterday afternoon ordered that all the church bells in the city be rung at 10 o'clock to celebrate the American victory. Every church bell in the city obeyed the order, and a crowd soon gathered and demanded to know why the bell had not been rung earlier. The crowd grew larger and more demonstrative, and soon the police were unable to undergo a severe sentence. Two policemen finally went into the church with the priest and the bell was dismantled.

Some one nailed the flag to the door and ordered the priest to kiss it. He was so long in obeying that the crowd stormed past the police and mauled the priest about the porch before the police, who had the aid of the soldiers, who also had been summoned, took the priest in hand.

(New York Times, July 26.) Hartford, Conn., July 19.—Rev. Theodore Bussel, pastor of the German Lutheran Church at Bristol, found guilty of sedition and sentenced to ten days in jail, on each of three counts, in Atlanta penitentiary, by Judge H. B. Howe of the United States Court. Terms ran concurrently.

The defendant before sentence was inquired, was asked if he cared to say anything in reply. He said he had been under terrible strain, and had felt as if he would go insane. He also felt that he would be unable to undergo a severe sentence. He had tried to do his duty as a loyal American citizen, he said.

"I only ask you to give me another chance," he added. "Send me to France, anywhere. I will lay down my life for my country. Take this stain of prison from me."

In reply to the defendant's plea Judge Howe said that the trouble was with the evidence, which was convincing, while the defendant's testimony was not true. Bussel, in making statement had been interrupted by the court several times. Once the clergyman had asked to be sent to a asylum.

"No," replied the court, "you are not crazy; you are disloyal and dishonest." In passing sentence, the court said that severe punishment was the only suitable sentence to impose upon a counterfeiter.

The American Temper: Two Instances

(New York Times, July 26.) The Rev. Edward W. Heitlen, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Victory in Mount Vernon, through his failure to toll the church bell last night in celebration of the victory of the Americans in France created a small riot and had it not been for the timely arrival of a squad of soldiers from the armory he might have been more harshly dealt with than he was at the hands of a crowd of 5,000 angry men and women.

Not only was the church bell tolled eventually but the priest was compelled to kiss the Stars and Stripes, which had been nailed to the front door of the rectory by a patriotic citizen. He was probably the priest who was rescued and badly hit by a police sergeant in the leg. The dog was clabbed into releasing his grip.

KAISER GIVES VON LUXBURG GOLD SHOULDER

London, July 27.—Emperor William has refused to receive Count Luxburg, minister of the German Legation in Argentina, because of his participation in the Argentine telegraph strike.

The defendant before sentence was inquired, was asked if he cared to say anything in reply. He said he had been under terrible strain, and had felt as if he would go insane. He also felt that he would be unable to undergo a severe sentence. He had tried to do his duty as a loyal American citizen, he said.

PREPARING WELCOME FOR SANFORD ON HIS RETURN FROM PRISON

Return of Rev. Frank Sanford to Shiloh when his term expires at Atlanta federal prison this summer will probably mean several things to the little community on the hill-top, but a greater pleasure than their joy at welcoming their long lost abler leader is in store for some of the younger members at least—the prospect of a good square meal, says a special from Lisbon Falls to the Lewiston Journal.

Preparations for that feast are already under way, say people in this town who are in position to know. They do not include a Hooverized banquet. The plans include instead two oxen, said to be already fattening on one of the farms owned by the community, and fifty sheep. A large number of guests will be invited for the occasion, and the celebration will be conducted after the manner of an old-fashioned barbecue, according to the celebrations of Biblical days. This will not be all, for the "fixings" appropriate to such a meal will not be wanting on this occasion.

The community is at present subsisting on corn meal bannock—nothing else—not even butter, say those who claim to be in close touch with Shiloh. Nor is this war ration. It would be the same if it were peace times. But bannock corn meal bannock is not served the year round. Sometimes the diet consists for a period exclusively of vegetables. It is whatever there happens to be the most of.

A large number of farms in Durham are owned by the community at Shiloh and they are well cultivated. The food is owned in common, and the same rations are dished out to all alike. At present very few people are on the hill-top.

Children's playgrounds are not to be restricted in Winnipeg, but the expenses will be cut.

USING SUBSTITUTES TO A SURPRISING EXTENT

Maritime Provinces Reported as Observing the Food Laws (Ottawa Journal-Press.) After a comprehensive tour which took in every place of appreciable size in the maritime provinces, J. S. Byron, a representative of the Canada Food Board, has returned to Ottawa with a good account of the spirit of the east in regard to observance of the food laws.

Mr. Byron found that substitutes were being used to a surprising extent, especially cornmeal, buckwheat and rolled oats. Everywhere the people were keen to follow the regulations and he had a good deal of explaining and interpreting in his capacity of "instructor" for the Food Board.

Mr. Byron visited various camps and the caetera of large mercantile plants, as well as hotels and restaurants. He found that as many as 10,000 meals were being served per day in the reconstruction camps at Halifax and the consumption of wheat flour had been cut by 50 per cent as a result of observance of the laws.

Vaudeville Varied and Catchy and Audiences Are Well Pleased

The regular change of the vaudeville programme took place in the Opera House last evening and consisted of good bright and catchy and consist of good musical numbers, comedy gags, singing and an exceptionally clever skating novelty. In addition to these another sensational episode of "The Lion's Claw" was presented and contains many hair-raising and novel features.

The first act was that of the Delaney Sisters, two young women, who gave well chosen vocal solos in addition several piano selections. Both received hearty applause from the large and appreciative audience.

George Yeoman then entertained the patrons with some new monologues, which kept all convulsed with laughter. Many of
