POISON WAS IN THE BOTTLE WHERE CURE FOR HEADACHE HAD BEEN

Coroner Orders Inquiry Into Newark Woman's Death by Cyanide
—The Husband's Explanation

Newark, Oct. 23.—County Physician McKenna of Newark, N. J., has ordered a police investigation into the death of Mrs. Allison McFarland, wife of the advertising agent of the Crocker-Wheel Electrical Company of Amherst, N. J. Mrs. McFarland was found dead in bed at Newark. An autopsy showed that she had been killed by cyanide of potassium.

Dr. McKenna learned that McFarland recently emptied the contents of a bottle which had contained a headache cure much used by his wife and replaced it by the cyanide of potassium. It was this substitution of the contents of the family medicine bottle, he said, he got the poison to use in cleaning some jewelry and took care to caution his wife about the change. He said he was sure his wife had thoroughly appreciated the deadly nature of the cyanide and could not have been perplexed over what the bottle contained. He said he believed that she had forgotten his warning and had taken up the bottle believing it to hold her usual headache cure.

RICHARD ROGERS, FORMERLY OF ST. JOHN, DEAD IN BOSTON

Richard Rogers, a former well-known resident of this city, but who had been living in Boston for the last eight years, died there on Sunday, aged sixty-one years. Mr. Rogers was financially man with T. R. Jones & Co., a wholesale dry goods firm of some years ago in St. John, and was also connected with the wholesale house that succeeded it, W. C. Jones & Co. For some years previous to his leaving St. John, he was in the life insurance business. In Boston he also followed the same. He is survived by one son and six daughters.

His son, William J. Rogers, is manager of a photograph establishment in Boston. The daughters are: Misses Mary, Nellie, Florence, Edith, Gladys and Frances. His death occurred at his home in Huntington avenue, where he had been ill for a year. The body will be brought here for interment, and the funeral will be held from the Union Station or from the Mission church. Mr. Rogers was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He was a native of Fredericton. He is also survived by one brother, residing in Boston.

JUDGE CARLETON'S LECTURE

"An Evening with John Boyle O'Reilly," was the title of the lecture delivered last night in the C. M. B. A. Union street, by the Hon. Judge Carleton, before one of the largest audiences which has ever filled into the rooms. The evening was one of pleasure and interest to all and the speaker made his usual fine impression. C. P. O'Neill, president of Branch 134, presided, and made a brief speech, introducing the speaker.

Judge Carleton was closely followed throughout the address as he told of his life of the famous poet, the "Poet of Humanity" as he had been styled; his writings, and death. He went very far into his writings, giving with good effect recitations from some of his works. His rendering of quotations from "In Bohemia," "Innisfael," "A City Street," evoked much applause. All through the lecture proved decidedly entertaining, and was keenly enjoyed by the large audience present.

Major Thomas Kirkham moved a hearty vote of thanks, and Joseph Harrington seconded it.

THE BAPTIST MINISTERS

At a meeting of the Baptist ministers this morning, Rev. B. H. Nobles presiding, a paper was read by Rev. A. C. Archibald on the Ne Temere decree. A general discussion followed and almost all present took part, but no action was taken. Rev. J. D. Wetmore, the new pastor in Tabernacle church, and Rev. A. F. Newcombe, field secretary of the Canadian Bible Association, were warmly welcomed. Those present besides the chairman, were: Rev. Messrs. McCutcheon, Robinson, Porter, Hutchinson, Wentworth and Archibald.

Frank L. Day, Here From Edmonton, Speaks of Industrial Possibilities in New Brunswick

Frank L. Day, of Edmonton, Alberta, has been in the city for the last few days on business, with an eye trained to see industrial possibilities. He expressed himself today as greatly surprised that greater advantage has not been taken of the splendid opportunities which nature has provided in this province.

He is connected with Allan Haynes, Limited of Edmonton, a corporation which is making a business of finding profitable openings in the industrial world, organizing companies to develop them and putting them on a profit paying basis.

Speaking of his impressions of New Brunswick, Mr. Day said this morning that he thought there was a fine chance here for such a company. He had seen much of the country and he felt that it could not be so far from the truth, becoming a much greater city. One thing which pointed in that direction was the coming of the Grand Trunk Pacific to this port.

"You may find it impossible to realize how much this means to a city," he said, "as we do in the west, where we see town after town developed from practically nothing, simply through the influence of a new railway coming into the place."

One of the projects in which Mr. Day is interested is the Edmonton Portland Cement Co., Ltd. As an illustration of the possibilities in this line, Mr. Day says that the full output of the works they have planned will not be able to even supply the shortage in cement in that locality. Last year the building operations in Edmonton were curtailed at least twenty per cent, by the difficulty in getting enough cement.

Speaking of the census returns, Mr. Day said that there had been some mistakes in crediting Regina with a population of 80,000, as it had nothing like that number of inhabitants, and that it was ridiculous to give it such a majority over Edmonton.

Among his other interests, Mr. Day is interested in the Edmonton Journal, a bright daily which is doing its part to boom its home city.

Mr. Day is an enthusiastic member of the Knights of Columbus, and his family probably holds a record for membership in this organization. Five of his brothers are also members, one more has his application in, and his father is to join at the next initiation. Among his male relatives, he has altogether about twenty who are members of the organization.

TURKS ANNOUNCE A VICTORY OVER ITALIANS

Berlin, Oct. 23.—Special despatches from Constantinople say that the Turkish ministry of the interior has received news that the Turks and Arabs have defeated 8,000 Italians near Barza. The Italians lost 800 men, all kinds of guns, and a few planes. The Italians left large quantities of arms and ammunition on the field. The Berlin newspapers print the dispatches doubting it.

OCTOBER'S BRIGHT BLUE WEATHER

O suns and skies and clouds of June, And flowers of June together, Ye cannot rival for one hour October's bright blue weather.

When loud the humblies makes haste, And goldenrod is fading fast, And lanes with grapes are fragrant; When gentians roll their fringes tight To save them from the morning, And chestnuts fall from satin burrs, And leaves of woodbine twining; When on the ground red apples lie In piles like jewels shining, And redder still on old stone walls, Are leaves of woodbine twining; When all the lovely, waxy things And in the fields, still green and fair, Late springtime are growing; When ferns run low, and on the brooks In idle, golden freight, Bright leaves sink noiseless in the hush Of woods, for winter waiting; When comrades seek sweet country haunts, By dews and daisies together, And count like miners hour by hour, October's bright blue weather.

O suns and skies and flowers of June, Count all your boasts together, Love loveliness of all the year, October's bright blue weather. —Helen Hunt Jackson.

FOOD AND COMPLEXIONS

Fruits, especially uncooked fruits, contain acids that are extremely irritating to the stomach, while only a few of them, such as bananas, figs, grapes, dates, etc., contain any nourishment. They, too, have the inevitable virtue, however, of facilitating the work of the intestines, and when cooled are not as irritating to the stomach. Water gives invaluable assistance in helping to flush out the entire system and wash away the poisons. We can hardly drink too much. Most people take far too little.—Harper's Bazar.
