

WOMAN MAKES WILD ANIMALS DO AS SHE BIDS

I Set Out to be Friends with Animals That Were Nobody's Friends," Says Girl Who Amazed London.

London, Dec. 1 (By Mail).—The remarkable exploits of a young woman who has a strange power over wild animals was described recently in an interview between the young woman and a reporter for the Daily Mail.

She is Miss Gladys M. Callow, of Maida Vale, who holds an educational appointment in Wiltshire. Recently she became a Fellow of the Zoological Society.

"I have always been fond of animals and fond of the Zoo," said Miss Callow, "and as a youngster I always kept pets—lizards, snakes, rats, owls, a marmoset and a parrot, to say nothing of cats and dogs."

"There are animals in the Zoo which appear to be everybody's pets. I looked upon some of these as the 'spoiled children' of the Zoo, and set out to make friends of some of the animals which seemed to be nobody's pets—such as Suse, a beautiful ocelot from South America, and Alphonse the Spitfire (a genet)."

"These seemed to me to be lonely creatures, and I began with them. They soon responded and before long I could get Suse to turn somersaults for me, and in time I was able to play with Alphonse as though he were an ordinary kitten."

"It was an interesting day when I first went into the enclosure with Bob, the big hippo, which by that time knew my voice and would always come to me when I called. I sat on his broad back; it was a wobbly seat, but it was substantial enough. I've sat on it many

NEW KIND OF LIGHT

Inventor Discovers Way of Producing Whiter Light than Electric from Kerosene Oil.

A new lamp has recently been invented which burns common kerosene oil and produces a soft, white light said to be even better than electric or gas. Tests by the Government and leading Universities prove this new light is superior to ten ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise, is simple and economical, requires no pumping up and has been approved by the Underwriters for insurance.

The inventor, O. K. Johnston, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send one of these new lamps on ten days' free trial, or even give one to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for particulars. Also ask him to explain his agency proposition.

PATIENT WAS KILLED.

Attacked Guard When He Was Wished Merry Christmas.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 28.—Four guards in the state hospital for the insane at Middletown were here for manslaughter there for the death of Pietro Tallanelli, a patient, who became enraged when one of them wished him a "Merry Christmas," and attacked one of the number.

Tallanelli felled the guard with a blow on the nose. The guard called for help and three other guards came to his aid. The hospital authorities charge undue force was used in subduing Tallanelli. Twenty-three ribs were broken. An autopsy showed the actual cause of death was a crushed heart. The victim died two hours after receiving the beating. The guards were released on $500 bonds each.

Tallanelli was committed to the institution from New Haven in May, 1921, after he had attempted to kill his wife by shooting her. An attempt to commit suicide at that time failed. He later tried to kill himself by jumping from a second story window.

DOG GUARDS DEAD MISTRESS.

New York, Dec. 28.—When Patrolman Irving of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station was summoned by neighbors he broke down the door of a little flat on the top floor at 741 Second Avenue. He was confronted by a fox terrier, blind in one eye, that mounted guard over a still form on the bed and snapped and snarled as the policeman tried to approach. Not until Irving had coaxed the dog outside with a piece of meat could he get near enough to see that Mrs. Lena Schmidt was dead.

The woman was 70 years old. She had no known friends or relatives. She is believed to have died of heart disease. The dog was sent to the Bide-A-Wee Home.

KILLS HERSELF ON CHRISTMAS AFTER HUSBAND GIVES PARTY

New York, Dec. 28.—Following a Christmas celebration at her home, Mrs. Rita Diaz, 22, a Porto Rican, committed suicide by taking a dose of lyso. Her husband invited several friends to a party in his home Christmas Eve. Diaz accompanied a married couple to their home.

The police say that when Diaz returned three hours later there was a gunshot. Soon after the couple retired the husband was awakened by his wife going to the bath room. She had passed the tiny white stocking hung for the baby's presents. Sensing something wrong, he jumped from the bed in time to hear his wife tell his brother, John, who boards with the family, that she had taken lyso, and ask him to care for the baby.

Patrolman Philip Griebel, who was called, administered an emetic, but Mrs. Diaz died in the ambulance on the way to Bellevue Hospital.

100th street police station and got some food for Belford, he offered to tell them about his robberies, and admitted he had been a "matinee burglar" since last August. Among the apartments he had entered, detectives said he admitted, was that of Lou Tellegen at 18 East Fifty-seventh street, from which he took jewelry and a saxophone worth $5,000. Another apartment was that of Nita Naldi, a motion picture actress, at 48 East Sixty-first street, where he got $5,000 worth of jewelry.

Shows Detectives Scene of Burglaries. When he offered to point out other apartments he had robbed, Belford went with Lieutenant Curley and the other two detectives in an automobile through the upper east side. He pointed out two apartments where he said he had committed burglaries. One was at 1,028 Park avenue, where it was found that H. Gordon DuBille had lost a fur overcoat worth $500 and a plain coat worth $150.

Belford said he had changed his name several times to correspond with the initials on jewelry he had stolen. He never carried a revolver.

Detectives will ride about the city with Belford again today. He offered to help them all he could. Much time was spent yesterday in police stations going over records of robberies.
