FORMER PUPILS HONOR SAINT

Sacred Heart Alumnae Members Attend Mass in Monastery Here

Form Choir for Occasion in Honor of Founder of Order, Canonized in Rome.

A high mass of thanksgiving was celebrated this morning at 10 o'clock in the chapel of the Monastery of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd in honor of the canonization of the founder of the Order of the Sacred Heart, Saint Madeline Sophie Barat, who was canonized in Rome on Sunday, May 24. Rev. E. P. Reynolds celebrated the mass and members of the Alumnae of the Sacred Heart sang, having organized a choir for the occasion from among former pupils.

The first number on the program was a Mass of the Angels. Two solos were sung, "Shubert's Ave Maria," by Miss Constance Leves, and the hymn, "Le Ciel A Visite la Terre," by Miss Frances Travers. Benediction followed the mass and the hymns were "O Salutaris" by Emil Kossard and "Antium Ergo" by Rosewig. The singing of the choir was excellent and much appreciated by all.

ENTERTAINED Father Reynolds gave a brief address on the life of Saint Madeline Sophie Barat. The Sisters of the Good Shepherd entertained the members of the alumnae at breakfast and also with a most interesting program prepared by the members of the senior and junior classes of the school.

The first number on the program was an address of welcome. This was followed by musical numbers, physical exercises and drills. The thanks of the alumnae were heartily extended to the Sisters for their kindness. It was a happy occasion for the alumnae members, for it brought them together in the scenes of their pupil days at the Sacred Heart Convent, now the Monastery building. A tour of the rooms brought back many happy recollections.

In the Catholic churches on Sunday special reference was made to the canonization. A shrine was erected in the cathedral, with a relic of the saint and a large portrait of her painted by Mother Mary Byrne, a native of Sussex, sister of His Honor Judge Byrne of the Supreme Court and of Mrs. Dufferin Harper of Saint John. The portrait is a striking one, showing Mother Barat in prayer. It was loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Harper.

Among Alumnae members present today were Mrs. Laura Bogie and Miss Alma Sullivan of St. Stephen.

Tiny LaTour Photographed On Supposed Historic Fort Site

It was a unique visitation at the Old Fort, Middle street, West Saint John on Saturday when six-year-old Yerdun LaTour of Ottawa, son of Lorenzo LaTour, stood on the mound of earth said to be a relic of Fort LaTour and was there photographed for a place in his scrapbook when he grew large enough to have one.

The wee chap, who with his mother had been visiting friends here, of course, did not appreciate the significance of the occasion but it will all be explained to him later. The LaTour family of Ottawa claim to be of the same family line as the intrepid militant settler so much linked with the romantic history of Saint John in the days of its French occupation. J. Fred Belyea, whose home is near the supposed site of the old fort, so valiantly defended by Madame LaTour in her husband's absence, told the wondering little visitor how when he was a wee slaver he was frightened with the story that on a tree in the neighborhood Madame LaTour's grandfather was one of the first settlers of the City of Ottawa, having walked there with others from a great distance.

As Hiram Sees It

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter, "I went up to Moncton last week to see Bob Burke and them Progressive fellers. Bob said he was awful sorry he didn't see me when I was in Brandon last February—'but he was busy then'—up his farm machinery an' gittin' ready to go to Ottawa. He says the farmers out there is fixin' up machines they been usin' for years—rather than run bills for new ones at the price they'd hev to pay fer 'em. He's only farmin' half as much land as he used to do. I guess they been hev'n' their own troubles out there—same as we been hev'n' 'em down east. Bob's a nice feller. 'Him an' me had a long talk and I didn't see one Progressive feller hed horns. A French feller among 'em made me laugh. He said he'd been doin' his share to git real unity in Canada. He was born in Quebec—he lives in Manitoba—he speaks English an' French—he married a Scotch girl, but he's got four kids—an' they hev porridge fer breakfast an' pea soup fer supper. Well, sir—that brought down the house. I'd give that feller a vote if I hed one where he lives—Yes, sir—I would so. By Hea!"

GRANITE HERE FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Halifax Visitor Suggests That The Stone Should be Polished.

Dressed granite for the soldier memorial, King square, is beginning to arrive. Several large slabs, beginning at the base are already on the lot in crates, having come from St. George, where the finishing shops are located. A Halifax visitor was examining the granite today and was interested to learn it was the Spoon Island, N. B., product. He was surprised, however, to find the stone had not been polished and expressed the opinion that the sea air and fog of this coastal location would engrain the monument with discoloration.

He said the new soldier memorial in Halifax had been brightly polished and it was easily kept clean because of the smooth shining surface. To illustrate his contention the visitor pointed to the Sir Leonard Tilley monument nearby and which showed discoloration on the rough stone.

Needless to say the little tots did not stray far from the camp for the remainder of the day.
