She has got to vacate the doc'. said Capt. Schonwandt this morning, but what will be done only Mr. Shuback can now say. The price which the steamer brought Capt. Schonwandt declined to state. "It is so small," he said, "that I am ashamed to mention it.' The Mariechen has been a source of trouble to her owner from the day she was first brought back to Esquimalt from the rocks in False Bay, Alaska. The owner did not want to undertake any repairs on the vessel, in fact he wanted to dispose of her. For this reason the ship has been detained 44 or 45 days in dry dock to the inconvenience of other shipping.
